Women's Clubs.

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

It may be of interest in connection with the report of the Social Service committee of the Newton Federation for the club women to know what has recently been accomplished in Chicago along similar lines. "By a law passed at the last session of the Illinois Legislature the way is open," says The Survey, "for any city or village in the state to secure a municipal sanatorium. If one hundred voters sign a petition and file it with the city council, a referendum vote must be held at the next election, on the question whether or not a permanent special tax not to exceed one mill, shall be levied for a tuberculosis sanatorium to be conducted by the city or village." Chicago held such a referendum at its last election and out of 266,640 votes, 167,230 were in favor, and 39,410 opposed, thereby establishing the greatly needed hospital by a vote of nearly four to one. The Survey's comment is that such voting confirms hope for the progress of democracy.

The great need in this city is for a place for advanced patients and recognizing that need the addition has been put upon the clinic building at the hospital, but that at most will accommodate but eleven patients. As the need increases, how shall it be met? The tent at the home without careful inspection by a district nurse is of very little avail. To reap the benefit the patient must remain in the outside air and be tempted to go in and out from house to tent. Colder contracted by so doing undo all that has been gained and greatly lessen the chance of recovery. These are some of the problems that the workers are facing. It will be well for all interested to think on these things and be ready another year to aid in their solution.

The annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation will be held on May 19 and 20 at Springfield by invitation of the Springfield Women's Club. The sessions on May 19 will be held in the High School hall, State street, at 3 and 7.45 P. M., followed by a reception in the Springfield Women's club house. The session on May 20 will be held in the Church of the Unity, State street.

By courtesy of the hostess club there will be an excursion on Thursday afternoon to the Country Club. The Cooley House, Haynes Hotel and Court Square Hotel, American plan, offer rooms and board to delegates for $2.50 to $3.00 per day for one person in a room. The Massachusetts House and the Worth, European plan, rooms $1.50 per day and up for one person in a room. Applications should be made to the hotel management.

Round trip tickets one and three-fifths fare, good going on any train, May 18, 19, and 20, returning on any train May 19, 20, and 21.

The annual donation day of the Newton Hospital Aid Association was held at the hospital on May first. Notwithstanding the inclement afternoon there was a large attendance and a generous donation was received. Officers of the association greeted the guests in the administration building and nurses were in attendance to escort the visitors about the buildings. The chief attraction was the tuberculosis camp, if such it may be called, just completed by the Newton Federation and opened for inspection that day. To the portable building erected in the winter for an out-patient department has been added a large screened piazza which will be used as a ward for women and is fitted up with six beds. It is lighted by electricity. Nurses will be in attendance. A tent has been put up in close proximity in which are five beds for men. The toilet arrangements have been divided so that there are separate ones for men and women. There are also waiting and examination rooms and a dining room where patients will eat, meals being furnished from the hospital kitchen.

After the tour of inspection the guests were taken to the nurses' dining room where prominent Newton ladies were in attendance and dainty refreshments served. Those having charge were Mrs. A. M. Crain of Waban, Mrs. H. P. Bellows of West Newton, Mrs. F. E. Anderson of Newton Centre and others.

The Newton Mothers' Club met with Mrs. A. P. Carter on May 3d. The program for this afternoon completed the series of story telling which has been the subject for the winter. Mrs. Kent told the Nibelungen stories and Mrs. Renfrew and Mrs. Carter supplemented them with selections from Wagner's operas founded on these old stories. Tea was served during the social hour. At the June meeting, which will be held on the first Tuesday of June at the home of the president, Mrs. F. K. Hall, of Beaumont avenue, there will be an out-of-door frolic for the children. The club has raised $125 for charitable work from which $25 has been given the Florence Crittenton Home for fallen girls and the rest has been set aside to be used for the benefit of mothers or children afflicted with tuberculosis.

The Newton Equal Suffrage League held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. G. F. Lowell on April 30th at 9.30. The League voted to make a radical change in its rules of procedure whereby it will be hereafter known as the Equal Franchise Association. New committees were provided for and chairmen appointed. It was voted to withdraw from the Massachusetts Suffrage Association that it may devote all its energies to Newton rather than spreading its money over a larger field. It was also voted to withdraw from the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, since about 30 per cent of its members are men and it is hoped to secure under the new regulations an increase in their membership. These officers were elected: President, Mrs. G. F. Lowell; vice-presidents, Dr. S. L. Eaton, Mrs. L. M. Wingate; recording secretary, Mrs. Arthur B. Gay; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary A. Howe; treasurer, Mrs. Fred B. Young; auditor, Alvin R. Bailey; honorary vice-presidents, Mrs. N. T. Allen, Mrs. J. P. Tolman, Mrs. Katharine Lente Stevenson, Hon. Gorham D. Gilman, Mrs. G. D. Gilman, Dr. W. E. Huntington, Jesse C. Ivy. Luncheon was served by Mrs. Lowell, after which plans for next year were discussed at length.

The Equal Franchise Association announces a lecture at the Newton Club on Monday evening, May 10, at 8 o'clock, by Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman of New York on "Man in his True Place in Life." The public is cordially invited to attend.

The Social Science Club held its last meeting for the season on Wednesday, May 5th. The lists of committees for next year were presented by the chairman of directors and confirmed by the club. The report of the committee on the Consumers' League contained many interesting facts regarding the investigation which the club has been making during the past few months. There seems to be an increased demand for labeled goods and a larger and better variety to be found in the stores than formerly. The subject for the morning was "The History of Wood-Engraving," Mrs. L. S. Drake presenting a paper which had been written by her father. Engraving was the mother of printing and is said to have originated in several different countries, some writers attributing it to China, some to Italy and some to Germany. The subject favored the theory of Germany as the most likely. Playing cards were the first things made from wood cuts both in Germany and in Italy. Some say that the church first made use of this art to circulate pictures of the saints, others that the church made use of it to counteract the evil effect of the playing cards. However these things may be, it is true that impressions from wood cuts were made as early as the 13th century and wood engraving reached its height in the 15th and 17th centuries and then by 1700 came to its lowest ebb in Europe. Through most of its history artists furnished the designs for engravers to carry it out. To America was given the first place in this art, the English and American magazines furnishing fine opportunities for displaying the results of this work. The art is rapidly being displaced by cheaper forms of illustrating by photographic processes, so that there is no longer any incentive for its study. The paper was supplemented by many examples from Mrs. Drake's fine collection of rare prints which added greatly to the enjoyment of the morning. The programs for next year were distributed at the close of the meeting and those not present may secure copies from Mrs. J. F. Bothfeld, corresponding secretary. A change purse containing a small sum of money was found after the meeting. The owner may have by calling up Newton North 642-4.

Annual Meeting of Newton Federation

The annual meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs was held at the Central Congregational church, Newtonville, on Tuesday, May 4. The morning session opened at 10.15 and was given up to the reports of officers, committees and the representatives from the clubs. All were unusually full of interest. The Federation closes its year with a lasting monument to itself in the tuberculosis camp upon the hospital grounds and, with all bills for it paid, there remains a substantial balance in the treasury. The report of the Social Service committee is given below in full. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. John H. Pillsbury, Waban Woman's Club; vice-presidents, Mrs. George H. Wilkins, Newtonville Woman's Guild, Mrs. Frank E. Anderson, Newton Centre Woman's Club, Mrs. W. M. Mick, Shakespearean Club; recording secretary, Mrs. Walter A. Beedle, West Newton Women's Educational Club; corresponding secretary, Miss Katharine L. Ball, Newton Highlands Monday Club; treasurer, Miss Lilla A. Rider, Auburndale Review Club; Auditor, Mrs. Alfred W. Fuller, Newton Parliamentary Law and Debating Club. The members were united in their expression of appreciation of the services of Mrs. Taylor, the retiring president. Luncheon was served under the direction of the Social committee, Mrs. J. D. Lamond, chairman. The afternoon session was called to order by Mrs. J. H. Pillsbury, the new president. After a piano solo by Mrs. E. A. Adler of Waban, Mrs. Taylor gave a parting address to the Federation reviewing some of the things which the Federation has accomplished during its existence.

Mrs. Eliza J. Bates of Allston, chairman of the Household Economics committee of the Massachusetts Federation, spoke of some of the work which her committee is trying to plan for the benefit of the clubs. It is a subject in which as yet very little has been accomplished, one in which instruction is needed. The most successful method at present seems to be in classes in the clubs rather than for the whole club. Since it is work that is with us all the time it is bound to become a vital part of the club life. Her committee is of the opinion that household arts should be taught in the grammar grades of the public schools and is urging the clubs to work along that line in towns where these branches are not already taught. The vocation of home-making should not be exempt from the demand of training. All this is a valuable work and one worth beginning.

Mrs. F. H. Tucker, chairman of the Forestry committee of the State Federation, spoke for a short time on what Newton clubs can do in the line of forestry. Among the things mentioned by her were: To study tree conditions and see that diseased trees are properly treated, pruned where necessary, wounds bound up or removed altogether if so badly broken or diseased as to be a menace to the public; raise money to plant one or two trees, and when all this is done have proper tree guards provided that they may be protected from further inroads. She also urged the study of conservation and waterways, the study of shore birds by members who pass their vacations at the shore, and the establishment of home and school gardens. The wish was expressed that Cabot's woods might be preserved for public use. Consultation with Mr. Bucknam, the forest commissioner, in regard to tree conditions was suggested as the best way in which to secure information and assistance in preserving the beautiful trees of our city which are at present in very bad condition.

The last speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. John T. Prince of West Newton, who is director of the Trade School for Girls being carried on by the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston. Mrs. Prince told of conditions existing among women in industry and gave many reasons why they should receive some industrial education. She then went on to describe an experiment which is being tried at the Union in training girls in salesmanship. Five of the large department stores now co-operate with the school and send from their stores six girls of promise to take the course of twelve weeks. These girls spend three hours each morning during the three months in study and the rest of their time in the stores and still receive their full pay. There are at present one hundred and sixty girls in these stores who have had this training. They may be recognized by a small blue and gold pin bearing the letters, "T. C.", meaning "truth" and "courage." The course embraces instruction in textiles, color and design, the making out of the sales slip, arithmetic and English work, a study of personal hygiene, talks on salesmanship by buyers from the different departments, a study of people, types of customers, appropriate dressing and many other things of value to the girl in her work. At first the stores were very skeptical as to the value of this work, but after three years of the experiment they all highly approve of it and have even contributed to its financial support. Further piano selections by Mrs. Adler and two vocal solos by Mrs. Le Clair were most cordially received by the members.

Report of Social Service Committee

A year ago your Social Service committee gave an enthusiastic report outlining a plan of action which seemed to promise immediate fulfillment. It is a little difficult to foresee just what will happen when every step depends upon several others. In this case unexpected obstacles arose so that our day camp did not materialize last summer as it had hoped. This did not mean, however, that the committee gave up work—or wavered for one instant in their purpose.

The money left from our share of the Bazaar fund, together with our proportion of the amount raised by the Tag Day in October, about $3,000 in all, was voted to our use by the Executive Board. Permission having been obtained from the Executive committee of the hospital we proceeded to purchase a portable house of four rooms and have it erected on the hospital grounds. This building was to be used as a medical out-patient department, especially designed for tuberculosis cases. It was opened the first week of February for Wednesday and Sunday clinics—a doctor and nurse being in attendance at 12 each of these days to receive and examine any patients who came. Notices of the opening of the clinic were sent to all the doctors, clergymen and various charitable organizations of the city. This notice also contained a list of visitors who are willing to serve at call in each village.

It was not to be expected that the building would be thronged with patients at once—and we were not surprised that it was several weeks before the out-patient department demonstrated its usefulness. Meanwhile the visitors were quietly doing what work came to their hands.

Through the generosity of the different clubs of Newton we can place in use almost at a moment's notice nine tents or window tents if they are preferred. A boy of twelve, who was considered almost a hopeless case, has been sleeping in a window tent since January, and is considered now on the way to recovery.

Tents are furnished where they can be used, nourishing food provided for those who need such help, and the cases followed up by friendly visiting. As many cases come to us too advanced for cure, we aim not only to make the patient as comfortable as possible, but also to protect the family from infection, a difficult matter where there are children. Several persons have been referred to us by the Social Service workers at the Massachusetts General Hospital, and during the 16 months since we began we have investigated about 20 cases.

The greatest need has seemed to be not so much a day camp as a hospital ward where advanced cases can be cared for, and it was with the greatest satisfaction that we received permission from the Hospital committee to add a large piazza to our little building and fit it up with awnings for a sleeping room, with a capacity of six beds. We have also been allowed to put up a tent alongside with five beds and a shuttered piazza for sitting out. These enlargements were promptly made and our little sanatorium at present consists of reception and examining rooms, toilet rooms, for both men and women, and beds for eleven patients, six in the piazza for women, five in the tent for men. Six patients are already admitted.

Nurses are provided by the District Nursing Association—physicians of the hospital staff give medical attendance and food is secured from the hospital kitchen. When it is possible patients pay something, but when they are not able we have thought best to assume the expense for the present. It is very certain that the work will soon outgrow our present equipment, and the problem before us now is to make our financial resources keep up with our opportunities for service. We have discussed various plans that have been followed in other cities and the work of another year will include the formulation of a plan for supporting the work already started.

The chairman would like, in behalf of the Social Service committee, to acknowledge our indebtedness to the members of the Hospital Board, who have made it possible for us to accomplish what we have, to Miss Riddle, who has been exceedingly helpful—and especially to the retiring president of the Federation, whose patient determination in the face of obstacles and whose untiring zeal, have been the true secret of such success as we have attained.

LUCIA E. AURYANSEN,
Chairman Social Service Committee.

George H. Ellis of Boston, one of the best known master printers of the country and the fighting ex-president of the United Typothetae, whose motto, like Lincoln's, is "with malice toward none and with charity for all," is not yet a Linotype user; but we have hopes that he may yet see the great light, for he was heard to remark recently that out on his stock farm near Boston he was getting 2,000 quarts of milk a day, each cow, of course, being operated by one man. That's also "the Linotype way."

In a horse deal with thy neighbor, when looking for the spavin on his animal, do not neglect to mention the splint on thine own, and thus thou shalt have a record for fair dealing. Even a legless man can run through a bank account.

The Assessors started a new line of thought in a circular sent out this week, in the suggestion that they represent the tax payers as well as the city treasury. On these grounds they invite the co-operation of the tax payers and mildly suggest that this cooperation is required by law.

It is hard to view with complacency
the efforts being made in the year
that Newton reaches the highest tax rate in its history, to still further burden the treasury with the cost of playgrounds, their equipment and supervision. It would seem the part of wisdom to postpone these matters—
which, tho good in themselves—are not actual necessities in such a residential city as Newton. The good people of Upper Falls, for instance, should imitate the plan of the Newton Centre people and purchase their proposed playground thru trustees and come to the city for and at some more favorable financial time. We have existed without much discomfort for many years without gymnastic apparatus in our playgrounds, and our children have played for many generations without professional supervision. While the amount to be charged to the tax payers is small for the present year, it is still an unnecessary burden for a city facing the serious financial situation that Newton does today. Our city government should hew close to the line of economy for at least two years to come, regardless of the beautiful theories of otherwise excellent citizens.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S RELIGIOUS UNION.

With delegates from many societies present an interesting conference of the South Middlesex federation, Y. P.
R. U., took place Sunday afternoon and evening in Channing church. The afternoon session was opened with a roll call, to which the presidents of the different organizations gave valuable replies telling of the most hopeful work their union is doing.
Addresses on the work of the union
were given by Rev. Benjamin R. Bulkeley of Essex county federation and by Samuel L. Bates, president of Boston federation. Arthur Black of Winchester made the principal address,
his subject being "Boston 1915; the Finest City in the World." Miss Floyd, chairman of the fair committee, described the preparation underway for a biennial fair to be held next October. The evening session consisted of devotional services led by Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, pastor of Channing church, and a sermon by Rev. Frederick R. Griffin of Brain-tree.

The annual meeting of the Florian Club was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. H. E. Locke. A fine musical and literary entertainment
was given, consisting of piano selections by Miss Woodbury and Miss Rogers, vocal solos by Miss Sanderson, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Lees and Mrs. Child and a dialogue, entitled
"The Wrong Package," by Mrs.
Thompson, Mrs. Halliday, Mrs. Hens-
hill and Mrs. Willard. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs.
H. E. Child; vice-president, Mrs. W.
L. Fisher; recording secretary, Mrs.
W. D. Churchill; corresponding secretary, Mrs. William Gallison; treasurer, Mrs. O. E. Nutter; auditor, Mrs.
W. C. Willard.

Some Truths to Be Borne in Mind

The circulation and influence of the Evening Transcript are steadfast.

It numbers its readers among those who never so long as the Transcript is available,
patronize regularly at least, any other newspaper
—those who peruse its columns for readable matter and not in search of scandal; business men and women who profess and practice high ideals in life; those who select a newspaper readable without reservation by any member of the family without fear of baneful results.

SOCIAL EDUCATION

Author of the Human Limit

(Copyright 1909 by Edwin Chase Merrill)

In the distribution of merchandise which is constantly going on between the producer and consumer, there is another important factor besides the personality of salesmen. Other forces are brought to bear upon business methods to secure patronage by the magnates of trade; but none of them stand so close to the living representatives of commercial enterprises as the art of advertising. It is one thing to provide and handle skillfully and economically the requisite amount of capital for a given business undertaking; it is quite another to accumulate an attractive and timely stock of goods; but good financial management and seasonable goods are sluggish property without placing these facts before the people who want them. The sales department, then is incomplete without efficient methods of publicity. The advertising man is the salesman's ally. They should cooperate harmoniously and intelligently
in creating and ministering to the demands of the consumer, as well as with the buyer who looks after the supply. Discord between these three factors in a business house, an insufficient grasp upon their equal importance and unhealthy competition between the men who should pull together, all clog the wheels of business success and often result disastrously.

We have endeavored to point out
the ideal in the salesman; let us see if we cannot find his counterpart in
the man who starts the tide of patronage in motion. In our search for the ideal advertiser, we must first look at those who fail to reach the results desired.

The two most prominent advertising failures are Mr. Has-been and Mr. Would-be. One lives principally in the past and the other in the future. Mr. Has-been sees nothing but methods that have been unsuccessful;
or if they have been employed with good results, they seem stale and out of date. He can pick flaws in every system used by rival houses,
but has no courage, or ability to formulate anything new. He narrows his work down to a stereotyped set of phrases that he has trimmed bare of rhetoric, embellishment and sentiment, and repeats them over and over like an aged parrot who has been taught to enunciate a string of cold, hard facts. He has schooled himself into the belief that the goods ought to advertise themselves; that the standing of the house is sufficient to attract customers; that trade, having been once established, ought to continue by its own momentum. He attaches himself like a barnacle to the merchant ship and rides along comfortably, withdrawn into his shell of solicism, and selects from his carefully tabulated forms the same advertisements used the previous year and merely changes a phrase or so to make them more concise and un-noticeably different.

Socially, Mr. Has-been is austere, self-centered and opinionated. He entertains his friends with long series of the good old days of the past and the utter demoralization of modern business. He really cannot prophesy as to what is going to happen next. Nobody seems to care, either, whether he does or not. He goes out among people very rarely;
local events have little or no interest
for him; he lives in a mental world
that is out of date, and when he dies,
he is soon forgotten.

It is barely possible that, if Mr.
Has-been would take more interest
in his neighbors and study their desires and habits of thought and action, a trifle more closely, he might absorb a fresh idea, now and then,
that could be utilized in his advertising; for the world is but a collection of neighborhoods.

Mr. Would-be, on the other hand,
has a multiplicity of ideas, is enthusiastic over every new advertising scheme, and spends the most of his time in the air. He is as much too fast as Mr. Has-been is too slow. He needs automobiles, flying machines

and wings to cover half the ground that seems follow in the advertising line. He maps out, and often very skillfully, twenty plans to the final adoption of one. Were he not limited as to space and expenditure of the firm's money, he would try to carry them all out. Being forced to choose,
his hardest task is coming to a decision. He is very industrious, but his great lack of judgment and discrimination (and possibly will-power)
ever stands between him and success
like an unbridged canyon. No matter what plan he follows, he always over-advertises. He says too much;
often to air a pet idea without regard to either the views of a possible customer, or the attitude of his firm. He can talk at all its forms, but fails to apply it in his own business. He is absolutely devoid of system; and to carefully and patiently follow out a definite course of advertising, or anything else, for a specific purpose,
is to him an impossibility.

Mr. Would-be's social life is generally viewed as a great success. He goes everywhere, knows everybody,
is popular with the ladies and nine times out of ten, has some social accomplishment and parts his hair in the middle. People remember him
after he dies.

Mr. Keen is the ideal advertiser man. It may be presumed that he is all that Mr. Has-been and Mr. Would-be are not. On the contrary, he is the composite of the two, with the advantage of a mind that lives, and has lived, in the present. He is "up-to-date" because he has taken the pains to drive down a stake, here and there, that serve as guide-posts. He has made a long and careful study of the art of advertising, with the clearly defined purpose of making it his business. He knows that in order to judge of the quality of merchandise
when he sees it, he must understand methods of manufacture. He realizes that the successful ad-writer must be a student of both language and literature. He feels the necessity of becoming familiar with business, economic and social conditions. He has come to know that the whole fabric
of trade is resting on human desire;
on individuality and personality; on custom and habit; on general financial conditions as well as private needs.

The ideal advertiser is broad in his views, because his training must be general as well as particular; for he should be familiar with industrial conditions as well as the family and personal needs of the laboring man. He has also acquainted himself with the non-producer and the way he spends his money.

In fact, the physical, moral and mental qualifications of Mr. Keen have received equal consideration in his self-education; for he has led an active life in his constant and untiring search for advertising truths and knowledge.

He leaves a life-work behind him
that survives his memory.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Interest this week centers around the dedication of the statue to Admiral John W. Winslow, to take place tomorrow morning at 10.30. Congressman Weeks will make the speech and Councillor S. W. James will present
the statue to the Commonwealth.

The corporation tax bill which will affect this city so seriously has received a set back, by reference to the Ways and Means Committee, as it is claimed that the state will lose something like a half million of dollars by its passage. Let us hope it is true and that its future progress is barred.

The eight hour law seems to be on its way to the Governor's chamber. Its operation will still further increase the cost of work for cities and counties.

The House has passed the bill to change the date of assessment from May 1st to April 1st. It is said that the change will tend to discourage tax dodging.

The proposed amendment to the constitution to allow classification of property for taxation purposes has been favorably acted upon by the House. This amendment was lost last year by a close vote.

SMART SET DANCE

The Smart Set Club of Newton, composed of Misses Bessie Morrislie, Florence Burns, Edythe Whalen, Ethel Joyce, Katherine Morrislie, Helen Farrell, Agnes Ryan, Hanna Condon,
and Mae Spillaine, held their first dance at Town Hall, Watertown, Monday evening, May 3.

The hall was handsomely decorated with Japanese sun shades and pink and white roses. Over the stage was suspended the letters S. S. C. in electrical lights. One of the principal features of the evening was the Moonlight and Confetti dances.

The matrons were Mrs. Arthur O-
Neil, Mrs. Edward Walsh and Mrs.
Louis Glazier. The ushers were Messrs. James Spencer, Henry Mel-nery, James Spillaine, Walter Joyce, Daniel Toomey and George Spike.

Some very pretty gowns were seen among the present. Miss Hanna
Condon, white silk with gilt trimmings, Bessie Morrislie, white silk and duchess lace, Florence Burns, pink messaline, and Katherine Morrislie, white messaline. Mae Spillaine, white silk with duchess lace, Edythe Whalen, white eyelet embroidery, Agnes Ryan, pink silk, Ethel Joyce, blue silk, cream colored lace, and Helen Farrell pink silk de sole.

The affair was such a success that the young people are looking forward to another in a short while.

BASE BALL

In a heavy hitting game Allen
School of West Newton won from Wellesley High, 13 to 4, on Hunnewell playground, Wellesley Tuesday afternoon. The visitors hit Sullivan's delivery for five runs in the first inning,
but Wellesley then steadied down and the opponents were not able to again score till the sixth. Hayes pitched well for Allen, striking out seven and allowing only four hits.

If you will tell us about how much you want to spend for piazza and lawn furniture this spring, we shall be glad to make up several combinations showing just what we can do for you.

You need not order now.
Take the lists home and think them over. You need not order at all for that matter, though we know you can not do better for price,
quality and style.

"UNCLE RUBE"

With a cast that included a smooth villian in the person of deacon Smalley, the village school teacher and Taggs, a walt from New York, who played a most important part in foiling a plot to ruin Uncle Rube, real melodrama thrilled the audiences which saw an original play by division 53, A. O. H., in Players' hall at West Newton Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

"Uncle Rube" was the title and the scenes were laid in a small Vermont township, the four acts developing in the old homestead, the constable's office and the kitchen of the farmhouse. The performance went off with smoothness and snap, winning frequent applause and holding close interest of the large audience.

One of the biggest hits was scored by Miss Katherine F. Lyons in the role of Taggs. M. J. O'Connell gave a finished presentation of Rubeen Rodney, the justice of the peace and school trustee, whose favorite diversion was horse swapping. John R. Forstall played deacon Smalley in true stage villian fashion, while Richard J. Clancy was entertaining as his son and understudy. Thomas P. Roach was a young artist, Alfred G. Kerr a New York "dude" and Patrick L. O'Neill as the hired man, was always exclaiming "I want to know!"

John L. Foley was a rustic, S. J. Fitzgerald a country constable and Miss B. T. McGrath the village school teacher. Miss Elizabeth Mulvaney played the role of the widow in capital manner, while Miss Kathryn E. Foley, Miss Mary A. Riley and Miss Alice Cullen were village girls.

The drama was admirably staged by Ex-Alderman James R. Condrin, who has written several plays for the organization in the past few seasons, his assistants being Frank Gordon, John Johnson and Bernard D. Farrell. There were selections by a local orchestra and piano accompaniment by John J. Henley.

ORGAN PIANO RECITAL

The organ and piano recital given by the pupils of Mr. Everett E. Truette in the main auditorium of the church last evening was an artistic treat for those who were present. The careful and conscientious training, for which Mr. Truette is noted, was in evidence in all the selections. The program was from well known composers and those participating were: Mrs. Alfa L. Smith, organist of First Baptist church, Warren, R. I.; Mr. J. Henry Paige, organist of First Baptist church, Lynn; Miss Ida Louise Treadwell, organist Wesley M. E. church, West Roxbury; Miss Jessie M. Young, organist Wesley M. E. church, Washington, D. C.; Miss Irene A. Osborne, organist St. John's church, South Boston; Mr. Edgar S. Potter, organist Trenton Street Baptist church, East Boston; Mr. Albert L. Walker, organist Church of the Ascension, Waltham;

Did the Best He Could.

In the absence of the regularly appointed spokesman, Mr. Makinbrakes had reluctantly consented to make a presentation speech.

"Miss Higham," he said, "unfortunately it is my—er—fortunate lot to fulfill the embarrassing—the pleasant duty of—of inflicting a few remarks upon this occasion—which is highly appreciated, I assure you, and by none more so than myself, for the reason that—in short, as I may say, it falls to my lot to convey, so to speak, the assurances of—of that is, with the assurances of those to whom—to whom I have occasion to refer to—more or less—in this connection, together with the best wishes, if I may so express myself, of those who have clubbed together—who have associated themselves—not that you need anything of the kind, of course, but as a token of—as a token of—of—with which few remarks, Miss Higham, it is my—my pleasant surprise to hand you this gold watch and chain. I—I thank you."—Chicago Tribune.

Returned by the Glacier.

One of the first instances on record of a body returned by a Swiss glacier is that of the Hamel accident, which took place in 1820. Several guides were swept down by an avalanche and buried in a crevasse. Hamel prophesied that the glacier would yield them up again in the course of a thousand years, but Dr. Forbes believed that the end of the glacier would be reached by the bodies in forty years. This statement was considered bold, but its accuracy was borne out by the event. In forty years the flow of ice brought the bodies to light.

In 1800 Henry Arkwright was lost in a glacier. In just thirty-one years his brother received a telegram from the mayor of Chamouni that the body was found. Every article of clothing was intact. His name and regiment could be read clearly on his handkerchief, and his gold pencil case opened and shut as easily as when he last used it three decades before.—"True Tales of Mountain Adventure."

Shakespeare and the Actors.

Why do we call Garrick a great actor? Because the box office of his time acclaimed him one. Davies tells us how his first performance of Richard III. was received with loud and reiterated applause. How his "look and actions when he pronounced the words,"

"Off with his head; so much for Buckingham," were so significant and important from his visible enjoyment of the incident that several loud shouts of approbation proclaimed the triumph of the actor and satisfaction of the audience. A modern purist would have walked out of the playhouse when his ear was insulted by Clibber's tag, but from a theater point of view it is a good tag, and I have always thought it a pity that Shakespeare forgot to set it down himself and left to Clibber the burden of finishing the line.—Judge Parry in Cornhill Magazine.

Why the Earth Cannot Explode.

The theory is frequently advanced that planets and even suns sometimes explode and that the earth may some day blow up like a bombshell. No celestial body the size of the earth could possibly explode. If the entire molten interior of our globe could be replaced with nitroglycerin and detonated the explosion would not lift the earth's crust. In other words, if we assume that the crust of the earth is from fifty to a hundred miles in thickness it would require something much more powerful than even nitroglycerin to burst the shell. It is necessary only to do a little figuring to see that the pressure of the earth's crust at a depth of from fifty to a hundred miles far exceeds the pressure exerted by the most powerful high explosive.—Hudson Maxm.

Too Literal.

"Well, yes," said old Uncle Lazzarberry, who was intimately acquainted with most of the happenances of the village, "Almira Stang has broken off her engagement with Charles Henry Tootwiler. They'd be going together for about eight years, during which time she had been inculcating into him, as you might call it, the beauties of economy. But when she discovered just lately that he had learnt his lesson so well that he had saved up 217 pairs of socks for her to darn immediately after the wedding she 'peared to conclude that he had taken her advice a little too literally and broke off the match."—Puck.

Money-making Frenchmen.

If you meet a family party in a finely appointed carriage on the island of Montreal, nine times out of ten it is a French family. That the French can make money when they give their minds to the "game" the fact that the leading family of financiers in Montreal is French indicates.—Toronto Canadian Courier.

Nothing Dangerous About That.

Hewitt—Delays are dangerous. Jewett—Oh, I don't know. My wife received a letter this morning saying that her mother would have to postpone her visit.—New York Press.

Business.

New Son-in-law—Here's only 10,000 marks. You promised my wife a dowry of 20,000. Father-in-law—I always knock off 2 per cent for cash.—Fleigende Blatter.

Foils Him.

Scott—I suppose you are saving up something for a rainy day. Mott—I try to, but my wife mistakes every bargain sale for a shower.—Boston Transcript.

N. H. S.

Last Monday Newton played Roxbury Latin on the Claffin Field. Newtonville, and defeated them easily, 18-1. Woods pitched his first game for Newton and made good, not allowing Roxbury a single base-hit. Newton played well and accorded him fine support. Donahue and Barry played well for Newton, while Rini played well for Roxbury.

Wednesday Newton played the English High School and defeated them by a score of 3-2. This being the second defeat of that school this season. The game was the best seen here this spring and was well played throughout. Capt. Kelly and Roberts played a star game for English, while the catching of "Jim" Ryan and the playing of Barry and O'Neil were large factors in Newton's winning.

Wednesday morning in the assembly hall, Mr. Adams announced the following appointments for graduation day:—Mr. Wellman, orator; Miss Norton, Historian; Miss Tyler, Mr. Kelly, Mr. Bevan, salutatorians. Others who will speak on graduation of class of 1909 will be Miss Wells, Mr. Noyes, while Miss Chase will sing.

Miss Ruth C. Wise is the new clerk for Mr. Adams.

SUCCESSFUL OPENING OF THE BIJOU THEATRIUM

The Bijou Theatre opened to the public in Nonantum Block, Nonantum square, last Monday evening to a large audience. The place is neatly fitted up with slanting floor and folding opera chairs, electric lights and everything entirely new. The state and local officials pronounced the Theatre one of the safest and best fitted up moving picture houses in the state outside of Boston.

The program went off quite smoothly, considering the fact of it being an opening night. The pictures shown were of the dramatic order, as supplied by the Patent Film Co. The pictures are changed every Monday and Thursday.

A special school children's day will be held next Saturday, May 8, from 1 to 5 P. M., when any scholar will be admitted to see the special program for that occasion for half price, namely 5 cents. The Bijou bids fair to become quite popular as a place of amusement.

OUT OF THE GINGER JAR

It requires a skillful surgeon to set a bone, but anybody can set an egg. It would not take a thrashing machine very long to thrash out some men's ideas.

There is little expectation that the July and August sun will melt the ice trust.

The corn-field ought to take a high rank, because there are so many kernels in it.

The auctioneer knocks down almost everything he touches, and yet nobody seems to mind it.

Pride is undesirable, and yet we are all agreed that rice is not likable unless it is all puffed up.

The annual meeting and banquet of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association was held Monday evening, May 3rd, in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. A bountiful banquet was served by the women of the auxiliary and was largely attended. One of the most interesting features of the meeting was the three-minute reports from the members about the work in which they were most interested. C. Y. Moore reported for the track team, Vincent Jacobs for the basketball team, Dave Webster for the extension work at Needham, Edward Johnson for the Leaders' Corp, Wm. F. Chase for baseball, Mr. G. E. Webster for the Life Problem Class, Mr. Macpherson for the boys' gym work, Willard Day for the Debating Club, Theodore Lockwood for the Senior Bible Class, Frank Milley for the Boys' Bible Class. A shield was presented to A. Roy Weldon, he being the winner of a special cial ten-mile race at the State Meet. "N's" for the basketball, track, and baseball teams, and a shield, emblematic of the State Championship in track athletics were presented by Mr. F. D. Fuller, chairman of the Physical Section Committee. Cups were also presented to Mr. C. G. Newcomb and Dr. Howard Moore, winners in the billiard tournament. General Secretary H. W. Bascom said a few words of appreciation of the work done by the directors and officers and members during the past year. The guests of the evening were Rev. Jas. Campbell, pastor of the Newtonville M. E. church, and E. W. Hearne, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Both speakers were very much appreciated. Hon. G. D. Gilman finished the speech-making of the evening by a few pertinent remarks, closing by presenting $100.00 for the new building. Another very interesting feature of the evening was the pledge voluntarily taken by 15 of the members to renew their membership and in addition contribute $1.00 apiece toward the building fund.

The association now has 419 members, and the reports were very satisfactory as to the progress made this year. Mr. Allan C. Emery the president of the association, presided over the exercises. Mr. Fred B. Smith, of the International Committee, will speak Sunday morning at the Eliot church, and Mr. E. W. Hearne speaks in the Methodist church. The baseball team plays the Cambridgeport team at 3.30 Saturday afternoon.

REAL ESTATE

Through the real estate office of Alfred L. Barbour, the 2 1/2-story frame dwelling house, 71 Auburndale avenue, has been sold to Ernest Lindquist, who buys for a home.

Also reports the sale of three lots of land on Auburn street, the old Mague field to be built upon.

The Ranson Estate have sold to Fred H. Searles the three lots of land on Commonwealth avenue, corner of Grafton street, Newton Centre, aggregating about 20,000 feet, assessed for $4500. It is the intention of the new owner to improve the land by the erection of three fine houses. Alvord Bros. were the brokers in the transaction.

The Miner Estate 349 Lexington street, comprising 16,540 sq. feet of land, house and very fine stable, all assessed for $6800, has been sold to Thomas C. Blackstock, who will occupy as a residence after making many repairs. The sellers were the Newton Savings Bank and E. Arthur Robinson acted as broker.

To the Patrons of the Newton Street AND Newton & Boston Street Railway Companies

The Management of the above companies, appreciating fully the value and importance of reliable, efficient and courteous service on the part of a street railway company, and the cordial co-operation of its patrons, respectfully requests criticisms and suggestions. We do not fear, but welcome honest criticism.

It is our earnest desire to so operate the cars that patrons can absolutely rely upon regularity of service, connections, courteous treatment by employees, etc., and there is nothing which conduces more to such proper service than the honest criticism of patrons.

You are earnestly urged to advise the Management verbally, by mail or by phone of anything which comes to your attention which you believe could be improved or corrected, and you may rest assured that the Management will heartily welcome such criticisms or suggestions, and in addition to giving same proper and prompt personal attention will, wherever consistent, carry out same in part or in whole, or correct irregularities.

—The Players will present "The Private Secretary" in Players Hall, West Newton, on the evenings of May 12, 13, 14, for the benefit of the charity fund of Dalhousie Lodge of Masons.

—Mr. A. H. Willis and family, for several years residents of Windsor road, have this week moved into their new home on the corner of Beacon street, the old Blanchford estate, which they recently purchased.

—Tonight the minstrel show by the Boys' Club of St. Paul's, Newton Highlands, will be repeated in Waban hall for the benefit of the Young People's League of the Union church. A large attendance is anticipated.

—The first baseball game on the schedule of the Waban "Hasbeens" will be played at the home field Saturday afternoon at 3.30, the St. Paul's Men's Club of Newton Highlands being their opponents.

—Mrs. Willis R. Fisher of Pilgrim road was the hostess at a largely attended and fashionable tea and at home, Wednesday afternoon, given to introduce Mrs. George Guppy, a new resident of Waban avenue.

—The plan for a new playground and park in Waban is being considerably discussed and the situation demands more positive action. In the past the large amount of vacant lots and open fields have served excellently, but with the rapid growth of the village and increase in the number of children, some adequate provision for the future must soon be considered. Two years ago, largely through private endeavor, backed by the Improvement Society, the present ball field was secured and roughly laid out, but it is only on surface, is crummy, and moreover, on land valuable for building purposes. Other available sites near the center of the village are rapidly going, and unless

of all kinds, and moths exterminated. Guaranteed for one year. Established 1894.

HOMEWARD BOUND

"The Hamburg."

April 18, 1909, 4 P. M.

Dear Ones All:

We sailed at 10.30, scheduled to start at 9—but King Edward VII's yacht pulled out from our pier at 9.30 and of course we could not precede Royalty. We had a fine view of him and the Queen. He stood at "Salute"—his hand at his cap, while he passed us and our band band played "God Save" himself! Cannon saluted him from his English ships and man-o-war, and just as the magnificent yacht disappeared from sight, the church bells of Genoa were ringing in honor of a greater King than any on earth. Thus we sailed down the lovely bay, and past the shipping with all colors raised in salute to the Royal visitors, on "The Hamburg," which passes into history as the ship our ex-President came over on, last trip from New York. I spent my one day in Genoa reviewing old scenes; saw three or four churches, had Mass in the Cathedral of St. Ambrogio, where the verger removed the curtain from Guido Reni's "Assumption of the Virgin" and its opposite Rubens' "St. Ignatius"—my last great paintings in Italy for this time. I also sat forty minutes through an Italian sermon, of which I understood a small part, in the beautiful new Church of the Immaculate Conception, and Benediction afterwards, with very good music. But the crowning interest and glory of Genoa, is her magnificent Campo Santo—the finest cemetery in Europe. Imagine if you can an immense space, in the hollow square of surrounding double corridors of great white marble columns and arches—open on the inner side to the enclosed sacred ground, a part of which was brought from the Holy Land—now crowded full of white marble crosses and headstones. A statue of heroic size centres the many paths; palms and tropical plants and flowers make all beautiful. But the chief interest is in the mammoth white marble monuments—hundreds of which fill the niches around the marble filled corridors.

It has been more than quadrupled in size since my former visit, and a very beautiful central chapel of round form, with many altars and giant statues of the Evangelists, Moses, Eve and Adam in niches, forms the great centre of three stories of vaults under the cover of roofs, while the hillside, up many terraces, are full of chapels and fine monuments. Such wondrous conceptions, all carried out in grand marbles, as mortuary tokens and emblems, certainly demand a little more description.

At one place, a famous doctor seems to be leaning from his couch to touch the poor and the sick with his healing fingers, all the figures in size. One young girl, clasping her crucifix, is rising from her bed to meet the beautiful angel of death—and such angelic visitants as adorn many tombs surely have power to rob death of all its terrors. At the door of one closed tomb, a white marble monk of life-size stands reading his breviary—his cowl, beads, hair, even the print of the book being a proof of the sculptor's skill. Little marble babies in marble cradles, stretch up smiling faces and eager hands to the lovely angels above them. The entire family in fashionable attire of the time of bereavement, kneel about the base of the monument.

Beloved fathers are memorialized by weeping children who must have posed for their portrait figures—and around one death bed, with lace trimmed pillows, an entire family of four daughters and three sons, with their husbands and wives and children, all middle aged, lament the passing of their old, old mother.

A doctor is found dead in his great arm chair by his attendants, who express their surprise and horror very forcibly—and the open tomb of an ascending Redeemer expresses the faith in the Life Eternal, almost unique in its sentiment among so many hopeless walls for "Angelic Child" or "Sainted and lamented Father." One widow in deep mourning is just lifting the sheet from the dead face, and many solitary men are bowed before closed doors of tombs—one hiding his face behind a Derby hat, seems a classic, so often is it repeated.

Faith—and Hope—and Love, often all three combined, adorn many graves—and Crucifixes abound—in many of the niches framed "Towers" of embossed or hand painted, testify to love of scholars or pious or pious. Everywhere the little white iron vases, with open lamps, many lighted—and floral emblems, in real or artificial flowers or majolica or other China ones—or made of the best work in natural colors, called "Pearl" over here, all crowded round the tablets. These are only a very few of the hundreds, nay thousands of expensive and elegant sculptures—and back of these galleries are miles of plain tombs, flat tablets sealing their after life of single graves. Like our large receiving tombs in Mt. Auburn, I walked steadily for two hours and only saw a part of the outer row of grand marbles and one or two terraces. As we sailed away to-day I wished I had secured some statistics as to size of the galleries and numbers of interments.

To me there is nothing lugubrious in cemeteries, and next to the churches and Art Galleries I always rank them in interest.

I love to think of that poor peasant woman's funeral which I followed far out into the God's Acre at Granada, the night of the wondrous Alpen-glow on the snow clad mountains.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT

An attractive program has been announced by the Highland Glee Club for their concert at the Newton Highlands Congregational church next Wednesday evening, Mrs. Francis Dutton Wood will be the soprano soloist.

Cluecher by the Indianapolis Merchants' Association: "Increased duty on stockings means sore feet"

THEATRES

Kelth's Theatre—At Kelth's Theatre next week one of the best features will be Bert Williams of the Williams and Walker Company, who has been engaged for a special season to do an act that will introduce some of his latest successes. The important dramatic feature will be Valerie Hergere and Company, presenting an entirely new company in "His Japanese Wife." In her present offering she has a bright, sparkling comedy with a touch of pathos in which she is particularly adept. Still another big feature will be Clara Belle Jerome and Company in a splendid musical production, entitled "Joyland," which has been a big New York success. For real down right comedy there is nothing now surpassing those comedians, Howard and Howard, the messenger boy and the actor, and since their last appearance here they have prepared material that is entirely new and better than anything they have previously done. Others on the bill are the Sutcliffe Troupe; Neta Vesta, the singing comedienne; Ben Beyer and Brother and others.

Boston Theatre—Chauncey Olcott has always occupied a prominent place in the affections of the playgoers of New England and Manager Augustus Pitou's policy of presenting his star in a new play every season has only served to more deeply interest the popular Irish singing comedian in the minds and hearts of people who look to the playhouse for the greater part of their entertainment. "Ragged Robin" is Mr. Olcott's greatest artistic and financial success, and it richly deserves this prosperity. The play is the joint work of Rita Johnson Young and Rita Olcott and many fascinating bits of old Irish folklore have been drawn upon by the authors to enhance the interest in the everyday human theme on which the play is constructed. Olcott's sweet singing is, as usual, a huge factor of the whole captivating comedy drama. Manager Pitou has provided a most sumptuous setting, the beauty of the stage pictures rarely having been surpassed or even equaled. A fine company is in the support of the star. Regular matinees are on Wednesday and Saturday.

Tremont Theatre—Here is what the New York Herald of November 15th had to say about May Robson, who comes to Tremont Theatre May 10, 1909: "Standing like an oasis in a desert of dreary and weary plays, 'The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary,' with May Robson in the title role will be held by many as the best comedy seen here this year. This statement, while it may seem extravagant, is entertained by the audience which greeted the opening performance. To miss this play is to miss one of those rare and delightful treats which come but seldom in a theatrical season. Space forbids an extended review of the play. Suffice to say that the story deals with an old maid, not the exalted sort, but a sweet, motherly woman whose country life has made sharp. A visit to the city and a taste of high life with her nephew, whom she had disowned for his escapades, shows her what life really is and rejuvenates her; makes her young in spirit as she really is in years, and brings about a happy ending to all their lives. Cold type gives but a faint idea of the delightful dialogue, epigrammatic monologues, laughable scenes and situations which the three acts afford."

Orpheum Theatre—Last week's bill has been outdone with the headline feature of Fred Karno's big comedy and pantomime troupe in the success of two continents, "A Night in an English Music Hall." This act is not unknown to Bostonians who will readily admit that it is the funniest that has ever been imported from England. Jack Lortimer who is always a favorite with Bostonians, repeated his former success last week to such an extent that he has been held over for the coming week. The Three Yacarrs will present an acrobatic turn of the different sort from most offerings. A feature which has already attracted much attention from music lovers will be the song-writer's concert, which will be open to all song writers who have never secured a song success. A $100 cash prize will be awarded the most popular song entered, and the decision will rest entirely with the audience. This is going to be an excellent opportunity for undiscovered genius. Carl McCullough, Charles and Nellie King, singers and dancers recently with Shubert's companies and other all-star acts will complete a truly satisfying bill.

LINEN WEDDING.

One of the pleasantest occasions in Newtonville this past season, was the gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace H. Baker, No. 37 Gay street, on Thursday, April 29th. The occasion was the completion of twenty years of happy married life, and to say that it was an enjoyable evening would be putting it mildly. The neighbors assembled at about 8 o'clock, at which time Mr. and Mrs. Baker were presented with a very handsome punch bowl with stand, a gift of those present. The presentation was made by Rev. Albert Hammett, a close friend of them both, to which Mr. and Mrs. Baker responded with a few feeling remarks. A few tables of what had been arranged, and as the partners progressed from one table to another, they would say, "I love you," and in the dining room to partake of a dainty buffet lunch which was spread upon the table. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Cady, Mr. and Mrs. Wedger, Mr. and Mrs. King, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ross, Rev. and Mrs. Hammett, Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard, Madame Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. Mawson, Mr. and Mrs. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, Madame Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis of New York and Mr. Brown of North Carolina. After finishing with the whisky, the guests were served with ice cream, cake and coffee, and started homeward bound, each and every one agreeing that it had been one of the most enjoyable evenings they had spent for a long time.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

By virtue and in pursuance of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Alfred A. Sherman of Somerville, in the County of Middlesex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to William B. Cochrane of Boston, dated September 12th, 1906, and recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds, in Book 3254, Page 239, for breach of the conditions contained in said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, on the premises, on MONDAY, the seventeenth (17th) day of MAY, A. D. 1909, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, and therein described substantially as follows, viz: A certain parcel of land lying on the Southern side of Boylston Street, in the City of Boston, in the County of Middlesex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being the lot numbered Ten (10) on a plan of said City of Boston, E. S. Smith, Surveyor, dated September 1, 1906, bounded as follows, viz: Northerly on Boylston Street, twenty-five (25) feet; Easterly on lot No. 11 on said plan, one hundred and twenty-eight (128) feet; Southerly on land of Achnon, twenty-five (25) feet; Westerly on lot No. 12 on said plan, one hundred and twenty-eight (128) feet.

A certain part of the land conveyed to said Alfred A. Sherman by deed of C. E. Achnon and wife duly recorded, and subject to the right of passageway and of lot No. 11 on said plan, one hundred and twenty-eight (128) feet, and all other rights of way in said deed mentioned.

The above described premises will be sold subject to any and all unpaid taxes, tax-titles or assessments, also subject to restrictions and rights, if any, which may be shown to exist in said premises, and which may be required to be paid in cash at the time and place of sale, other terms announced at sale.

Assignee and present holder of said mortgage, WILLIAM W. BABCOCK, 101 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.

WEST NEWTON PLAYGROUND

A few weeks ago I read an excellent article in the Graphic, signed by "A Citizen," in which he stated that he considered the lot called the common the most desirable of the three under consideration for a playground for West Newton. At that time I heartily coincided with his views, but recently another site has become available which possesses still greater advantages. I refer to the Upham Smith estate, Watertown street, which is only five minutes from the station and City Hall. The common contains about 3 1/2 acres, upon which there could be but one baseball diamond, and while a game was in progress no space is left for other sports. That part of the Smith estate available for a playground contains six acres, and is of such shape as to permit the use of three diamonds simultaneously, or in using two diamonds only, there would be ample room for any and all games necessary for all ages, with no danger whatever. The environments are good, that being of vital importance. If those who are interested would examine this site, there is very little doubt in my mind as to their choice.

THEATRES

Castle Square Theatre—Three weeks of "The Runaway Girl" are over, and a fourth begins at the Castle Square on Monday. This musical comedy has caught the public as immediately as "The Circus Girl" did last winter, and it gives still further evidence of the skill of the John Craig Stock Company. Nothing could be better than Mary Young's bright and sparkling Winifred Grey, nothing more comic than Donald Meek's Flipper, nothing more melodious than Louise Le Baron's Carmenita, and every other player in the cast contributes his share to the triumphant success of the production. At the close of the run of "The Runaway Girl," that delightful musical comedy, "The Geisha" will be produced by the John Craig Stock Company at the Castle Square.

Colonial Theatre—It seems to be a unanimous verdict that "A Stubborn Cinderella" which began an engagement at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, Monday, May 3, is the best musical play that has been seen in this part of the country for some time. There is something to appeal to every taste in "A Stubborn Cinderella." It is described as a "musical play" but that conveys no idea of the manifold beauties of the piece. The first act, opening on a college campus in all life and springtime. The second act which occurs after a landslide in Nevada is one of the funniest acts ever written. The last act with the Orange Fete at Coronado, California, is irresistibly beautiful. John Barrymore and Sallie Fisher have scored the biggest kind of a big hit. Mr. Barrymore has proven to be a comedian exactly to Boston's liking. His style is so new and original that it is a relief from the hackneyed comedy of the usual musical show. He keeps the audience in a constant chuckle broken only by peals of laughter. The engagement is a limited one. Matinee Wednesday and Saturday.

TAXATION

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—Notwithstanding the fact that the exceptionally high taxation of the Spanish War period has not been repeated, except in a few unimportant items that yielded little revenue, yet our government is spending one million dollars a day more than it receives. A small part of this deficit is due to lessened receipts by reason of the present long business depression, the larger part to reckless extravagance in expenditure. Our national taxation is now about seventy-five dollars per family of five and proportionately greater for larger ones which is about all the very poor can stand. Of course, this is but a trifle for the wealthy men who control and profit by our large expenditures.

That expenditures will continue to increase is a certainty. It is equally certain that the ability of the common people to pay taxes must decrease, as property is continually passing into the hands of the already wealthy class.

England has a similar, but less, deficit. There the Liberal Party is in power and it has proposed a bill for the taxation of land values which is in Parliament now and likely to pass. No such radical measure as that is to be hoped for in America. We are too conservative.

Pin your faith to a "WINCHESTER" steam or hot water heating apparatus and you will never care how cold is out of doors. The "WINCHESTER" does what it was built for, namely, to make heat.

WOODLAND PARK HOTEL SOLD

Papers have been recorded in the sale of Woodland Park Hotel in the Abnashdale district of Newton. The house contains 100 rooms, single and in suite. Exterior work and interior decorations, new furnishings have been added to make this property first class. It is situated in Washington street, near the corner of Commonwealth avenue. The lot contains 22,500 square feet of land, assessed on $21,500, the buildings, which consist of hotel, large stable, garage and power plant for electric light, valued on $41,000, making a total of $62,500. The purchaser is Harry T. Miller, who will personally manage the property. W. Stanley Tripp of Boston sold on private terms. The sale was negotiated through the office of W. J. McDonald.

After a brief illness, Mrs. Sarah Files Chase died Sunday at the home of her son, Frank W. Chase, at 31 Judkins street, Newtonville. She lacked but one month of being seventy-eight years old, and was born in Thorndike, Me. Her husband was Benjamin Franklin Chase of Unity, Me. When he died, ten years ago, the widow moved to Newton. Three sons survive her. They are Frank W. Chase, principal of the Bigelow Grammar School, Newton; Frederick J. Chase, a lawyer of Kansas City, Mo.; and E. Donald Chase of Unity, Me. A service of prayer was held from the residence of her son on Judkins street, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. A. T. Ringold of Brockton officiating, and the remains were taken to Unity, Me., for burial.

COST OF TUBERCULOSIS TO NEWTON FOR 1908

The Editor of the Graphic:

Sir:—I have just read the annual report of the Board of Health of Richmond, Va., in which my friend, Dr. Ernest C. Levy, Chief Health Officer, gives some very interesting figures showing the cost of tuberculosis in the city of Richmond for the year 1908. The figures are most instructive and I have been tempted to make a similar calculation of the cost to Newton from the same cause for 1908.

Of course the figures cannot be considered as absolutely accurate but they give an approximate idea of the money cost due to a preventable cause and furnish a strong argument in favor of the necessity of taking vigorous measures to prevent the spread of so a costly disease.

1. Value of lives lost from tuberculosis during 1908.

Age	No. of Deaths	Value of Life	Total
1-5	7	$1,500.	$10,500.
5-10	0	2,300.
10-15	1	2,500.	2,500.
15-20	1	3,000.	3,000.
20-30	10	7,000.	70,000.
30-40	5	6,500.	32,500.
40-50	7	5,000.	35,000.
50-60	5	4,500.	22,500.

Total value of 38 lives... $179,000.

2. Estimating that each of those who died was sick and unable to work for at least a year previous to death and taking those between 15 and 60 years as wage-earners, we have the following loss in wages:

Age	No. of Deaths	Wages Annually	Total
15-20	1	$200.	$200.
20-30	10	450.	4,500.
30-40	5	500.	2,500.
40-50	7	450.	3,150.

Total value of wages lost... $11,600.

3. Assuming a year's illness in each case and an average cost of $180.00 per year, (50c a day) for the expenses of the illness, we have as the cost for the 38 persons who died... $3,040.

4. There were 71 persons ill with tuberculosis during 1908 who did not die. Assuming the same relative age distribution and wage-earning capacity as among those who died, and assuming further a loss of only one-third of their time, we have a total loss of wages among those who did not die of...

5. The cost of illness among those who did not die, estimated at 25c a day or $50.00 a year... $6,390.

What tuberculosis cost Newton in 1908... $207,163.

Real Estate and Insurance

INSURANCE

Do you realize that the average loss by fire in U. S. is about $500,000 a day. Right here in Massachusetts over 8000 dwellings were either destroyed or damaged during 1907, costing insurance companies $1,180,062. Failure to insure is gross negligence. The cost is small, protection absolute. Be sure your automobile is covered. Accidents are alarmingly frequent.

WHIST PARTY

A whist party and entertainment was given last evening in Mague hall, West Newton, by St. Bernard's Court, No. 44, M. C. O. F. There were over one hundred tables. The affair was in charge of Mr. Wm. H. Mague and B. D. Farrell, who were ably assisted by Misses Anna M. Kenna and Mary M. McArthur. The affair was a financial and social success. Prizes were awarded to the following:—1st ladies' prize, cream set, to Mr. Ryan of Wellesley; 2nd prize dish, to Mrs. Wm. Cabill; 1st gent's prize, silk umbrella, to Mr. A. Desmond of Newton Centre, 2nd prize, leather cigar case, to Mr. White. After the prizes were awarded refreshments were served by the committee. The entertainment consisted of songs by the O'Callaghan boys, dancing by Miss Nellie and Redmond O'Callaghan, and dancing by Miss Nellie O'Callaghan and Miss Callahan, vocal selections by Miss A. M. Kenna and piano selections by Miss Margaret Foley. Dancing was then enjoyed until a late hour.

THE CIVIC CLUB

The Civic Club, composed of past and present members of the city government and school committee held its spring meeting at the Newton club-house last Wednesday evening. Mr. Hiram A. Miller of Newton Highlands, Chief Engineer of the Charles River Improvement Commission, gave an instructive and most interesting talk on the Charles River Basin. His lecture was illustrated with stereopticon pictures showing the various stages of work in the construction of the dam and locks. Few of his hearers had evidently fully comprehended the size of the work now under construction and his words were received with interest. His descriptions of the means by which the great gates, weighing 300,000 pounds, were to be oiled, and cleaned and the ingenious devices for obtaining the greatest and most convenient use of the plant, aroused much comment.

Mayor Hutchinson followed with a brief talk on municipal matters and a buffet lunch and social hour was enjoyed before adjournment.

FLOWERS FOR MEMORIAL DAY

The time is near at hand when all the cemeteries in all the states and territories of our great land will be the scene of pilgrimages such as no other country in the world can duplicate. To the surviving soldiers and sailors of the Union cause in the War of Rebellion the 30th of May is the most sacred day in the year, for on that date, unless it falls on a Sunday, they make their annual journeys to the places where repose the dead to seek out the graves of their comrades and shipmates who have passed away, and on the turf that lies above them to strew flowers in sweet remembrance. Once, and during four long years of terrible war, their constant thought was that of saving the land from disruption; now their one thought is that of preserving the tender ties which bind them, in invisible bonds, to those who have answered the last roll call.

It is not merely a matter of sentiment. It is no political act, nor an expression of opinion which impels them to observe Memorial Day with regular and seemingly show of pomp and circumstance. Nor is it alone devotion to the dead—it is devotion to the living who were not of the war, "lest they forget," as well as to those who offered their lives that the nation might live. For forty odd years we have been doing this great thing in memory of those who fought and suffered with us; and as each year passes away the number of these shrines increase enormously, even as the ranks of those who pause a few brief moments beside the silent mound and marker are diminishing at such a rate that within another forty years the last survivor will have gone from earth to that realm above where God is our Supreme Commander.

No nobler work could have ever fallen to the hands of man than that of helping to strengthen and extend patriotic observances throughout the land, and our share in this has been manifested mainly in public and private schools, with the flag as the object lesson in patriotism. But we also tell the pupils and the people that we did not go forth to war as seekers after mere glory, animated by desire to plunder or the love of conquest. We tell them that we fought to preserve the blessings of liberty, that we were defenders of humanity, the destroyers of prejudice, the breakers of chains, the keepers of our united country on the map of the world. Thank God, patriotism is one of the positive lessons which are being taught in American schools; for everything learned should be flavored with a love of native or adopted land, and one of the best definitions of patriotism is that it means love of country. And with patriotism we associate that other great duty, loyalty, connecting the two by teaching young and old to love and respect the flag.

But with the surviving Veterans of the war, as has already been remarked, Memorial Day is the most important ceremony of the year, and this year we are to celebrate it on Monday, the 31st of May. That there is a growing interest in this sad yet patriotic annual event by the citizens at large, irrespective of race, creed, or condition, is certain, but this very fact is interfering considerably with its proper observance by members of the Grand Army of the Republic. What we mean by this is that we no longer have as many choice flowers at our command as are needed for this memorable occasion, that is to say, such floral offerings as are worthy of the place and cause. We should, we think, have better flowers than are usually furnished us by our friends, and especially by the children who are ever the thought of Memorial Day, though rather in quantity than quality, however. It is true that every year some beautiful flowers are contributed for our needs, but there is never half enough of these. One lady in Newton Centre annually makes up 25 fine bouquets to be laid upon the resting places of some of those who served their country well; if there were ten or a dozen more ladies like her in our city, thoughtful and generous volunteers with their help, we should have plenty of beautiful flowers to place over the tombs of those who deserve the best.

Therefore, with respect and gratitude to all the ladies and children in the villages of Newton for their past kind and sympathizing help in celebrating this sacred and patriotic decoration of graves where heroes rest, we hope that this year, and hereafter, they will let their flowers so shine that we shall no more be in doubt as to the quality of our offerings to those who aided us, on land and sea, to preserve the Union which Washington and his followers founded for them and us.

THE TARIFF QUESTION

The following extracts from speeches on the tariff bill now under consideration in the United States Senate may throw some light on a little understood subject.

By Senator Cummings of Iowa:
The things that I do not like in this bill are plain and obvious. The thing that I do not like is so clear that the man who runs may read, and I have sometimes thought that they were so atrocious that the man who reads will run as well.

The Finance Committee, composed of honorable, intelligent, broad-minded, experienced men, is still not the Ark of the Covenant of Republican doctrine. It is not the only repository of Republican faith, inasmuch as the revision of the tariff as demanded in the Republican platform last year came from a demand upon the part of these same people whose courage I helped to sustain and whose energies I helped to direct. I have a right to stand here and assert that these schedules do not represent the only Republican doctrine known among men.

I do not disparage the Finance Committee in any respect when I say that in so far as I am advised there is not a single member of that committee who ever advocated a revision of the Dingley schedules. They are not to be criticised for that. They did not believe that it was necessary that the duties of the law of 1897 should be lowered, and I accord to them the same honesty of judgment that I claim for myself. But is it to be wondered at that a committee, no one of whom, so far as I know, was in favor of the revision of this law, driven to it under the command of a Republican platform, should enter upon their work with a belief that the schedules should not be reduced, but should rather be raised? I honestly think that most of the members of this committee felt that the Dingley schedules should be lifted up instead of taken down.

Is it any wonder that their report, in trying to keep the promise to the ear, has broken it to the hope, for there is no substantial reduction of the duties of 1897 in the report of this committee? I am not unmindful of the fact that upon many things duties have been lowered, but in so far as my examination has gone, I assert that, with the exception of the duties on lumber and the duties on hides, there has been no reduction in any important article known to the commerce of America that will affect its price to the consumer one whit. If this demand for a revision of the tariff schedules did not arise from a desire on the part of the people to buy the things they were buying at a less price, out of what desire did it arise?

Who insisted upon tariff revision? It was not the manufacturer; it was not the lumberman; it was not the coal man; it was not the iron and steel man; it was not the glass man; it was not the cotton or the woolen man; it was not the oil man. During the whole agitation I never heard— you never heard—a demand from these people that the tariff must be revised. The demand came from those who believed that the duties upon many articles and commodities were too high; from those who believed that they were paying too much for the things they had to buy, and that excessive import duties, coupled with other conditions, were enabling a favored few to reap inordinate profits; and therefore they wanted, as one of the steps leading to the remedy which they sought, a substantial reduction of these duties. It is not necessary at this moment to inquire how many people so believed or in what part of the country they lived. It is not necessary to ask whether they were right or wrong in order to understand what the platform means. It is sufficient to say that it was under this demand from these people, whether they were many or whether they were few, that the party in its organized capacity promised a revision of the tariff; and the Senator who imagines that he can satisfy these people by saying that a revision with higher duties or with substantially the same duties is a compliance with the platform little understands the relation between people and platform.

I have heard it said over and over again that there are but few people comparatively who were interested in a reduction of duties. I know that the voices of those who are clamoring for an increase of custom-house taxation are more distinctly heard in the corridors and committee rooms; but there will come a time presently when the clamor of the millions who want some relief will sound like the roar of a thousand Niagara from one ocean to the other. I have heard it said many times that those people who were insisting on tariff revision were not familiar with the subject and had no opportunity to know whether duties were too high or too low. This distrust or skepticism of the judgment of the common man is a fundamental mistake often made and always atoned for in sackcloth and ashes.

The people reason upon broad lines, but they have better evidence than the testimony which is submitted to congressional committees or which has buried us under a avalanche of briefs and special pleading. They know in a comprehensive and absolutely accurate way of the development in the United States. They know how wealth is distributed and the source from which it comes. They know what industries breed millionsaires and what industries do not, and their conclusions are only less infallible than the conclusions of the Almighty himself. There is not a man among you who does not know what they have been thinking in the last few years; there is not a man among you who does not know the judgment which they have entered; and I for one believe that their judgment is altogether just and righteous and that in the end it must prevail. I think I can summarize the process of their reasoning so that you will all recognize its unerring logic. They have witnessed the gradual weakening of the forces of competition in the larger fields of industry through concentrations, combinations, agreements, and all the other modern mechanism which an ingenious age has discovered. They have seen competition shut out of some of these fields by the intervention of excessive import duties. They have felt the injustice of the discriminations which the vast power of our transportation systems can inflict. They knew that these things were wrong, and after bearing the burden until it became intolerable they began to move with irresistible strength along the pathway of reform. They have made some progress toward the regulation of transportation and the repression of corporate evils. The last administration will be remembered so long as the history of our country is preserved for its victories in the struggle for rate regulation and for corporate fair dealing. The work has just begun, and I sincerely hope that the present administration will be no less distinguished than the last one for its energy in dealing with these perplexing problems. One part, however, of the programme was assigned by common consent, to this administration, and its conspicuous leader assumed without hesitation the task of tariff revision. The people know what they want with respect to revision just as well as they knew what they wanted with respect to railroads and to industrial combinations; and their intelligent, educated, patriotic instinct is just as certain with respect to the tariff as it is with respect to transportation or monopolies. If we fall now to substantially reduce the duties upon the important schedules, we but postpone the justice due to the people, a justice which, thanks to the genius of our institutions, they have the power to enforce, and which in the fullness of time they will enforce.

THE VILLAGE BEAUTIFUL

The Auburndale Village Improvement Society announces the following program of work to be accomplished during 1909-10:—

The proper embellishing of Nye Park and other parks of Auburndale. Arranging for the winter season a series of first-class entertainments at popular prices.

Arranging for a series of public meetings with first-class speakers upon subjects of public interest and instruction.

The holding of an annual banquet. The securing of a much-needed playground for the boys at the southern end of the River Park.

Co-operating with the City Forester in the care of parks and of trees on public and private grounds. The cleaning up of disorderly vacant lots.

Cultivating a spirit of civic neatness among the residents of Auburndale by which alone we can make it "The Village Beautiful."

Its officers and committees are: President, Geo. M. Fiske; vice-presidents, William Fuller, J. W. McMillan, Francis M. Tyler; treasurer, H. G. Ellsworth; secretary, C. B. Conn; executive committee, C. W. Blood, E. B. Squire, C. G. Haskell, F. T. Mer, P. A. McVicar; entertainment committee, Rufus Estabrook, C. W. Blood, Mrs. Mary E. Heron, F. Porter Gore, C. B. Conn; membership committee, J. W. McMillan, Geo. H. Bourne, F. Porter Gore, C. S. Cowdry, W. S. Wagner, H. W. Greenleaf, C. S. Ober; publicity committee, J. W. Beasley, F. M. Tyler, O. M. Herrick.

"There is the wreck of time!" exclaimed Jones, as his wife fell from the second-story window.

LORING—SLADEN

The marriage of Miss Emma Louise Sladen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Sladen of Newtonville and Mr. Joshua Loring of Newton Centre, took place last Friday night at Grace church, Newton, which was well filled with the many friends of the young couple. The bride, who wore white directoire satin, trimmed with point lace and carried a shower bouquet of jonquills and lilies of the valley, was given in marriage by her father. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Marie Sladen, as maid of honor, wearing pink messaline and carrying pink roses, and the bridesmaids, Miss Annie B. Patou of Newtonville, Miss Edith Wise of West Newton, Miss Eloise Quimby of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Margaret Loring of Newton Centre, who wore white batiste over pink and carried pink roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Laurens MacLure, rector of the church. Mr. Philip R. Andrews of Kennebunk, Me. was the best man and the guests were seated by these ushers: Messrs. F. Rogers Thomas, and John Johnson of West Newton and Everett English and Walter R. Andrews of Newton Centre. A reception followed the ceremony at the Sladen residence on Lowell avenue, Newtonville, Mr. and Mrs. Loring being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Sladen, Dr. and Mrs. Loring and the bridal party.

Mr. and Mrs. Loring will make their home at the Loring residence, 19 Crescent avenue, Newton Centre.

Y. M. C. A.

On the 19th of May, in the Parish House of Grace church, the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. holds its annual meeting at 7.30, and Rev. E. M. Noyes of Newton Centre will deliver the address. There will be reports and the annual election of officers.

The opening game of the Twilight League was played Tuesday evening between the Married Men and the Old Timers. The score was so much in favor of the Old Timers that the score-keeper lost track of the runs.

Fred B. Smith's visit will long be remembered by the men of Newton. His address on Sunday morning at Eliot church was one of the finest which has been heard on Y. M. C. A. work for a long while. Mr. Smith also spoke to groups of men at the Eliot Sunday school, and at the Y. M. C. A. in the afternoon. Mr. Hearne, State Secretary, spoke very acceptably at the Methodist church and at the Men's League at Immanuel church.

A very interesting game of baseball was played at the South Diamond at Cabot park last Saturday afternoon between the Y. M. C. A. and Cambridgeport. The final score was 8-6, in favor of Cambridgeport. Next Saturday the local team plays the Wesley Boys' Club of the Newtonville Methodist church.

On Thursday, May 20, at the association rooms, the debate with Boston will be held at 8 P. M. The subject to be debated is "Resolved, that the Metropolitan District shall be incorporated as one city." The Newton debaters are Willard Day, Theodore Lockwood, and F. W. Ganse. The public is invited.

There is quite a difference between the door-jamb and the jam that mother used to make.

The bride was gowned in gray silk and carried bride's roses. After a short trip through the South and West, Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott will reside at 218 Church street, where they will be at home to their friends Tuesdays, after September 15th.

NORUMBEGA PARK

The new feature of the 13th season at Norumbega Park which will please its thousands of patrons as much as any one of the many novel attractions which have been provided by Manager Carl Alberte is the fact that it will open one week earlier than ever before. In other words, while Norumbega Park has always opened as regularly as clock work on Decoration Day in past seasons this year it will open on Sunday, May 23. It would take columns to enumerate the many things which have been done since the park closed last fall to enhance its attractiveness and add to its scope.

The defeat of the direct nomination
bills this week at the State House was generally foreseen, as it was well known that none of the leading politicians of the state desired this reform to apply to the election of senators and members of the state committee. In itself, this fact ought to make thoughtful men sit up and take notice. In effect, the politician says to the individual voter—"You are incapable of selecting your senators yourself. You should leave such matters to me and my associates who are more familiar with such affairs." I have been much surprised the past few weeks to see how many otherwise intelligent men are content to accept this view of the situation. They would resent any interference with their right to direct action on matters of business, but when it comes to politics—which is only a matter of business when it comes to the last analysis—the average man dismisses
his own responsibility and meekly follows the lead of the politician. The debate at the state house on Tuesday
was weak on both sides, the advocates neglected the strongest arguments in favor and the opponents
made the best of the fragile and shop worn sophistries of the machine. It is significant, however, of the trend of thought to note that Representative Garcelon, who in my opinion does not represent this city in his attitude on this matter—admitted in debate he would not argue "that we won't come to this system" in the future. Mr.
Garcelon reads the signs of the times
aright and knows that the common voter will eventually come into his own, and that the days of the practical management of convention delegates and the selection of candidates
by the chosen few, are soon to be numbered.

The city of Newton loses a faithful, conscientious and efficient official in the death of Mrs. Mary E. Sherwood, for the past eighteen years the valuable secretary of the school committee. Her cheery personality, her intimate knowledge of the business of her office and her devotion to the interests of the city will be sadly missed.

Attention is invited to the extracts
from Senator Cummings recent speech on the tariff question. I venture the suggestion that the Senator's views will find universal approval in this vicinity.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

At whilst Saturday evening thirteen pairs were in play with the following results:—
Snyder and Hall 59
White and Bates 58
Estabrook and Uley 55
Cummings and Eustis 54
Gay and Jos. Smith 51

Bonney and E. F. Sawyer 45
Douglas and Naylor 47
Sampson and C. C. Smith 46
Marshall and F. E. Sawyer 46
Hyfield and Pearson 42

The last bridge game of the season,
Monday night, was the best attended
of the series, with 12 tables in play.
McKeon and Blandy were easily first with Snyder and Hall a good second.
The whist season ended last Saturday evening, and the grand prizes were awarded to G. H. Snyder for the highest average, 35.1 and to Mr. T. E.
Eustis for the highest aggregate, 888.5.
The best scores were as follows:—

	Total	Average	Times
T. E. Eustis	888.5	32.9	27
G. H. Snyder	878.5	35.1	25
A. C. Cummings	871.5	33.6	26

GOOD PICTURES AND SONGS AT
THE BIJOU

Good moving pictures and well rendered songs proved attractive for the patrons of Newton's Theatre, the Bijou, this week. Little Pauline Barry
of the Bijou Dream, Boston, and Miss Mae Reed, rendered the songs with the accompaniment of colored slides to delighted audiences. Now pictures are promised for next week with some highly interesting features of special interest. The usual Saturday afternoon matinee will be given for the school children and ladies at admission price of 5 cents, beginning at 1.30.
Beginning Monday, May 15, every week day from 3 to 5, matinees will be given for ladies and children at the same price of admission, namely,
5 cents. The Bijou is well conducted and is becoming very popular as a place of pastime and amusement.

SHIP AHOY

A most pleasing and unique entertainment was given at the Methodist church last Wednesday evening, when the large audience were guests at Skipper Howard's Yachting party and thru the medium of excellent and beautiful dissolving views travelled from Newport to Bar Harbor. As the boat passed different points of interest, Miss Marion Roberts, the new soprano at the Eliot church, sang appropriate music, the familiar "Home, Sweet Home" at the home of Palms
at Newport, the "Old Oaken Bucket" at Seltwater, Mass., "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" at the Boston Navy Yard, and a fishing song at Gloucester.
Miss Roberts, who is quite young, has a phenomenal voice and received much applause. Her "Stars of the Summer Night" during some moonlight scenes, and the finale
"Good Bye, Sweet Day" were beautiful. In addition, Miss Dorothy Carpenter, gave some splendid and appropriate monologues and recitations.
Mr. Howard has certainly arranged a splendid entertainment.

CONCERT AT THE HUNNEWELL
CLUB

A most enjoyable concert was given at the Hunnewell Club Wednesday evening by three of the Newton High School girls—Miss Ruth Ivy, violinist;
Miss Edith Soden, cellist, and Miss Edna Chase, pianist, the "Chadney Triad."

They opened their program with the first movement of the D minor Trio of Mendelssohn, and followed this with a Romance by Marschner and a Bolero by Moszkowski, and closed with the last two movements of a Trio by Gade. It was a pleasant surprise to their large and friendly audience to hear how far they have carried their artistic work, and the "Chadney Triad" has established itself
as an organization worthy of encouragement.

The program was pleasantly varied
by a violin solo, Sarasates Romance Andaluz and a Popper Mazurka for cello, both very beautifully played and well accompanied.

The young ladies had the assistance
of Mr. Wickliffe J. Spaulding, baritone, whose songs were a delightful addition to the program. He was encored twice and responded with humorous selections.

The stage, decorated with apple blossoms, formed a pleasing setting for the youthful performers.

The following young ladies served as ushers: The Misses Mildred Clark, Marion Lord, Dorothy Edmunds, Marion Butters, Rita Gardner, Ruth and Esther Greene, Alice Ware, Gertrude Ford, Eleanor Fessenden and Marguerite Hunt.

It was a brilliant affair. The audience was composed of people prominent in social and musical circles.

MRS. SHERWOOD DEAD

Mrs. Mary E. Sherwood, for eight-teen years the efficient secretary of the Newton School Committee, died Wednesday morning at her home on Farlow street, Newtonville, after a brief illness of cerebral hemorrhage.
Mrs. Sherwood was the daughter of the late W. P. Tewksbury of Boston and was fifty years of age. She was educated in Boston and married W.
H. Sherwood, who died some twenty years ago, leaving her with one daughter, Miss Josephine Sherwood, who is well known as an actress. Mrs. Sherwood is also survived by her mother,
and four sisters. She was chosen secretary of the school committee in 1890, succeeding the late Isaac Hagar,
and has filled the position continuously
since that time.

Funeral services will be held from the family residence Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

Newtonville.

—Mrs. George F. Lowell of Walnut street was elected vice president of the Boston Business Woman's League at the annual meeting held last Tuesday.

—At the Methodist church last Sunday morning the pulpit was occupied by Rev. Dr. Morgan, field agent for Zion's Herald. The general theme of Dr. Morgan's sermon was "Education."

—A wagon owned by the J. P. Squires Co. while being driven through Walnut street Wednesday evening struck a pole opposite Walnut terrace and smashed a gas lamp on top of the pole.

—Miss Caroline M. Jordan, daughter of the late Charles Jordan, passed away at her home on Walnut street yesterday after a long and painful illness. Funeral services will be held from her late residence Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

—The last meeting for the season of the Central church will be held Thursday evening in the parlors of Central church. The topic will be "Woman's Suffrage." Mr. Charles W. Davidson will lead the affirmative side and Mr. Albert M. Lyon the negative.

—Rev. Robert W. Van Kirk gave a dramatic recital from Browning's "The Ring and the Book," at the residence of Mrs. H. N. Miliken, Walnut street, on Thursday of last week. It was a masterly effort and was much appreciated by those present, among whom were many prominent club women.

—The beautiful estate of Mr. Charles S. Dennison on Kirkstall road has been purchased by J. Sumner Dwyer and Marke T. Dowling, two Boston real estate men for a buyer, whose name is withheld at present. Mr. Dennison expects to move early next month to his new home on Beacon street, Boston.

—The fifth annual festival by the choir of Christ church of Andover and the Newtonville New Church was held in the New Church last Friday evening. The concert was an artistic one, the selections being from the compositions of Debussy, Dykes, Poincaré, Mendelssohn, Cobb and Beethoven-Waage. Mr. John Batchelder was conductor, Mrs. A. P. Carter was at the piano, Messrs. Joseph Wilkinson and A. P. Walker at the organ and the soloists were H. H. Noyes, bass, and master Wilson Knipe, soprano.

—A most enjoyable end-of-the-season dance was given by the Young Woman's Club of St. John's church last Friday evening at Temple hall. The matrons were Mrs. Frank Richardson, Mrs. Edward P. Hatch and Mrs. Edward K. Hall and the affair was well managed by the president of the club, Mrs. James P. Richardson and the chairman of the committee, Mrs. Franklin Bridge. A pleasing feature was the dance given by pupils of Miss Janet Clark and the confetti dance was another enjoyable number.

—A pretty May party was held in Temple hall last Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Sewing Circle of the Universalist church. There was a large gathering of children and their parents, and many pretty costumes. The program consisted of Tramp Drum Solos by Miss Lillian White; solo dances and fancy dances by Miss Burnham and three girls from Miss Wyman's class in Boston and "The Walling Horse," by Mr. Elden Jemison. The entertainment closed with a grand march and dancing. The success of the affair was largely due to the efforts of Mrs. Atwood, Mrs. King and other ladies.

West Newton.

—A pupils' musicale is to be given at the Misses Allen's school this evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Felton of Prince street have returned from a short stay at Waterbury, Conn.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Myrick of Exeter street left last week for their summer home in Tisbury, P. E. I.

—Mrs. James A. Neal of Highland street gave a well attended musicale in her conservatory on Tuesday afternoon.

—Mrs. George P. Bullard and Miss Clara Bullard of Temple street have returned from a week's stay at Atlantic City.

—A snug sum was netted from the hat sale in the Caroline Block last week and is to be donated to the Day Nursery.

—Mrs. Thomas E. Stutson of Fountain street, who has been confined to her home on account of illness is convalescent.

—Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Palmer of Chestnut street sail next Wednesday from New York for a three months' trip abroad.

—Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Batstone of Winthrop in the death last Sunday of their infant son, Earle.

—Mrs. Ellen S. Pratt and Miss Ellen Pratt of Highland street arrived home on Thursday from a fourteen months' travel abroad.

—Dr. N. Louise Rand was the guest of the Watertown W. C. T. U. at a public meeting held in the Methodist church last evening and made a temperance address.

—Rev. J. Edgar Park was chosen a member of the Conference Committee at the meeting of the Suffolk West Conference held at the Old South church, Boston, the last of the week.

—The W. C. T. U. will meet Monday evening at 7.45 with Mrs. C. P. Powell. Mrs. Emma Howland, wife of the late Senator Howland of Acushnet, and doing very successful work for the state W. C. T. U., will address the ladies. Subject, "A White Life for Two."

—The last regular meeting of the Junior Parish, for the season, will be held Saturday evening in the parish house of the Unitarian church.

The subject considered was "The American Unitarian Association" and the speakers were Rev. Harold G. Arnold of Bridgewater and Rev. Elmer S. Forbes of Boston, secretary of the Department for Social and Public Service.

—Crescent Commandery, United Order of the Golden Cross, held their regular meeting Wednesday evening at A. O. U. W. hall. Over 40 visitors were present. Natick, Framingham, Brighton and Winter Hill Commanderies. Many enjoyed the bowling while all seemed to enjoy the attempt to store away the beautiful supply of steamed clams, etc., provided by the members of Crescent.

THE NEW SEALER

Mr. Andrew Prior was appointed and confirmed last Monday night as Sealer of Weights and Measures, vice Harding deceased.

Mr. Prior was born in Whitinsville, Mass., Aug. 14, 1878, the son of John Prior. He attended school there and came to Newton when 14 years old, entering Peirce school at West Newton. After being graduated from this school he started in the broom manufacturing business. After 2½ years he disposed of this business to become purchasing agent of the floating hospital, which position he held two years. In 1901 he established a grocery business in Newton Upper Falls. In 1903 he disposed of this business to enter the city engineer's office as a transit man, and had been employed in the engineering department practically all the time since. During the past nine years he also served as page of the board of aldermen.

Mr. Prior entered the sealer's office Feb. 9, 1909, when the illness of Joshua A. Harding forced him to give up his work. On March 22 he was made deputy sealer.

Mr. Prior was married to Miss Elizabeth Walsh of West Newton, April 19, 1906, and they have two sons. He is a past regent of Triton Council, R. A., of this city and a past lieutenant of J. Wiley Edmunds Camp, S. of V.

Women's Clubs.

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

The regular quarterly meeting of the executive board of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at the New Church parlors, Newtonville, on Monday, May 17, at 10.15
A. M.

The annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation will be held on May 19 and 20 at Springfield by invitation of the Springfield Women's Club. The sessions on May 19 will be held in the High School hall, State street, at 3 and 7.45 P. M., followed by a reception in the Springfield Women's club house. The session on May 20 will be held in the Church of the Unity, State street.

By courtesy of the hostess club
there will be an excursion on Thursday afternoon to the Country Club.
The Cooley House, Haynes Hotel
and Court Square Hotel, American plan, offer rooms and board to delegates for $2.50 to $3.00 per day for one person in a room. The Massasoit House and the Worthy, European plan, rooms $1.50 per day and up for one person in a room. Applications should be made to the hotel managements.

Round trip tickets one and three-fifths fare, good going on any train,
May 18, 19, and 20, returning on any train May 19, 20, and 21.

WEST NEWTON PLAY GROUND.

The article in last week's Graphic written by "A Parent" strikes the keynote. The Smith site is unquestionably the most desirable in West Newton for the purpose. One very important feature connected with it was not mentioned in the article referred to. Years ago there was a good sized pond known as Pike's Pond
on one corner of the estate, which in the winter was very popular, affording skating for the people of West Newton. When the sewer was introduced it dried up. The basin still exists and with slight expense could be flooded
for skating, thus providing a pleasure
which is now lacking in this large ward. That this most desirable property will not remain on the market a great while cannot be doubted. The older citizens are aware of the fact that this estate has not been on the market for over 50 years until within two weeks. It is exceptionally desirable for sub-division and the new owner says that several parties have approached him in regard to purchasing it for building purposes. There will never be another opportunity to secure such an ideal play ground in West Newton, and it would be a great mistake to procrastinate and lose it.
Why not call a public meeting of the citizens at once and take decided action before it is too late?

NEWTOWNE CHAPTER, S. A. R.

The annual meeting and dinner of Newtowne Chapter, S. A. R., was held Tuesday evening at the Newton Club.
There was a good attendance of members and guests and dinner was served after a social hour. President Frank Dunlap Frisbie presided at the business meeting at which reports were read and officers elected and was toastmaster at the post prandial exercises. The speakers were Judge Edward Clarence Battis of Salem, president of the Massachusetts Society, who spoke of the recent meeting of the National Society in Baltimore, Brigadier-General Carlton B. Sears, U. S. A., retired, who spoke for the army; Commodore Frank E. Sawyer, U. S. N., retired, who spoke for the navy. Hon.
Gorham D. Gilman, a former president, described the events leading up to the formation of the Chapter and Mr. Edward J. Cox, the historian, related some events of revolutionary history. Rev. Lewis Wilder Hicks of Wellesley, the state chaplain, gave a most interesting and instructive paper
on "Washington as Seen from the Vision of Poets," in which he read numerous selections from many poems relating to Washington. The officers elected for the coming year are:
President, Frederic M. Mitchell; vice president, Harry B. Walker; secretary-treasurer, Commodore Frank E.
Sawyer; registrar, Dr. Samuel G.
Webber; historian, Edward J. Cox;
directors, Hon. Gorham D. Gilman, John E. Alden, Edward P. Hunt.

BAND CONCERT

A band concert at the Motor and Driving Club on Wednesday evening
was attended by many Newton guests,
there being a goodly number of motorists living in this city among the members this season. The club begins its fifth year with a membership of 800 persons, the largest in its history, and the clubhouse in the Mt.
Auburn district bids fair to become a popular rendezvous for Newton au-tomobilists this season.

THEATRES

Colonial Theatre—It is a long time since Boston has capitulated so quickly and completely to a musical play as it has to Mort H. Singer's production of "A Stubborn Cinderella" now playing to crowded houses at the Colonial Theatre, Boston. From the opening night when the piece sprang into instantaneous popularity with an audience that tested the capacity of the theatre, it has enjoyed unceasing prosperity. The secret of "A Stubborn Cinderella's" success is its life and liveliness. No one could ever accuse it of dragging for so much as the fraction of a second. There is a constant whirl of youthful gaiety and seemingly spontaneous fun which simply wins the audience from the start and carries it along with constantly increasing good nature until the final curtain. Then again there is plenty of variety in the action of the piece.
The atmosphere of the three acts differentiate almost as much as if they were three distinct plays. The piece is presented by a thoroughly first-class company of 80 people, which includes a chorus of pretty girls full of Western life and liveliness.

Boston Theatre—So phenomenal
has been the success of Chauncey Olcott's present engagement at the Boston Theatre with his newest Irish comedy-drama, "Ragged Robin," that it has been decided to keep the popular star and this most enjoyable, clean, sweet play at the Boston Theatre until Saturday night, May 22.
"Ragged Robin" is a great advance
on the style of plays with which Mr.
Olcott has been associated in recent years. "Ragged Robin" deals largely with the fascinating, sentimental side of the Irish people, with their optimism, the tear and the smile, the song
and the dance, the delicious lovemak-ing, the manliness of the men and the daintiness of the women, the fairies,
the banshees and other mythological folk whose dolings are entwined in the hearts of gossamer and colleen. Manager Augustus Pilon has given this story a beautiful setting and has supplied a fine company. Olcott was never in better voice and his songs
find a most enthusiastic responsive chorus in the hearts of thousands every week. Monday, May 24, the theatre will be closed; Tuesday evening, May 25, will be given the famous star gambol of The Lambs, and Wednesday night, May 26, comes the magnificent spectacular show, "The Queen of the Moulin Rouge" for an early summer engagement.

LODGES

At a recent meeting of Nonantum
Conclave, United Order of Heptasophs
held in Newton, three new members were admitted. The society is growing in numbers and is preparing an attractive program for next season.

DEATH OF ALBERT F. TUCKER

Mr. Albert F. Tucker died at his home at 58 Bourne street, Auburndale, Tuesday. He had been ill for some time with a complication of diseases,
but death was directly due to heart trouble. He was born at Worcester, sixty-six years ago, and is survived by a widow and one son.

"BREEZY POINT"

The comedy drama, "Breezy Point," given by members of the "West Newton Women's Educational Club," April
first at Players' Small hall and repeated April 21st for the benefit of the Church of the Messiah of Auburndale and Newton, and May 10th for "Mother Stickney Tent, D. V. No. 26," at Waltham, will be given by the same cast for the benefit of the "Somerville Hospital Ladies' Aid Association,"
May 18th, 8 P. M.

Spraying for Moths and Elm Beetles

READ WHAT YOUR NEWTON FOREST COMMISSIONER SAYS:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
The Gill Insecticide Company has done work in Newton the past year and passed our inspection, being very satisfactory.
We recommend them to anyone wishing tree work performed.

CHARLES I. HUCKNAM,
Forest Commissioner.

DEAR SIR:
The matter of spraying your trees and shrubs at this season of the year should vitally concern you. The Gill Insecticide Company earnestly solicits a chance to figure on your work. We guarantee by our process to rid all foliage eating insects and bark lice that our solution comes in contact with, and it is highly recommended by the State Board of Forestry.
We employ only the most experienced men and we can quote you a figure which we think will be far below any ever offered to you for this work.
You are simply having your trees insured by having them sprayed.
Estimates cheerfully furnished.

LODGES

Newton Lodge, 21, A. O. U. W., held a well attended ladies' night in its quarters in Nonantum building Tuesday evening. After an informal reception there was an entertainment consisting of musical numbers by Robert Blue, John Earle, Miss Moore, Miss Crockford and Miss Hylands. C. H. Dickson, representing the grand lodge, made a brief address in which he congratulated Newton lodge upon its rapid strides and successful work. Dancing followed. The officers in charge of the affair included Robert W. Blue, William Donald, Henry H. Hawkins, William V. Craig, A. W. B. Huff, W. H. Pearson, E. W. Paine, M. O. Scribner, Henry Truham and William L. Graves.

Newton Centre.

—Master M. Eugene Levy of Beacon street who has recently been operated upon is again able to be out.
—Mr. George F. Richardson of Marshall street is on a fishing trip to Nova Scotia.
—Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Walworth of Center street left today for Atlantic City, where they will spend a few days.
—Miss Edith Clark, who has been ill at the Newton hospital with appendicitis has returned to her home on Willow street.
—Mrs. Robert English of Center street was taken to the Newton hospital last Sunday suffering with a severe attack of malaria.
—Early Tuesday morning Mr. John Dumphrey, night clerk at the post-office, stopped a runaway horse attached to a milk wagon as it dashed down Pleasant street.
—Rev. A. F. Nazarian of Chelsea will preach next Sunday evening at the Methodist church on invitation of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.
—Rev. Edward T. Sullivan was a member of the committee of arrangements and the executive committee for the church congress held this week in Boston.
—Last Tuesday afternoon in Bray hall the pupils of Miss Harrington's dancing class gave a May party, taking different parts in a play called "Creatures of the Night." About three hundred were present at this social function.
—While trimming a tree on the estate of Frank Lee, Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, Tuesday afternoon, William J. Logan of Somerville fell and received a fracture of the left leg above the knee. He was taken to Newton hospital.
—The veterans of the Civil War have been invited to the Methodist Episcopal church on Memorial Sunday, where there will be special music by the choir, and the sermon will be preached by the Rev. Charles M. Melden, pastor of the church.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Calnan of Center street are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.
—Rev. Clay MacCauley of Washington, D. C., will preach at the Unitarian church next Sunday. Mr. MacCauley was one of the special guests at the dinner of the Eastern Asiatic Society, which was given on Tuesday evening in honor of the Japanese Legation and President Elliot.
—Last Tuesday afternoon at the Baptist church the Women's Foreign and Home Missions and Benevolent Societies of that church held their annual business meeting. After a luncheon had been served there were two strong, interesting addresses, one by Mrs. J. L. Dearing of Japan, and the other by Mrs. Nuveen, president of the American Baptist Home Missionary Society. About two hundred were present.

—At the Methodist church last Wednesday afternoon the annual election of officers of the Ladies' Aid Society took place; after a dainty luncheon had been served. These officers were chosen: President, Mrs. William M. Flanders; first vice-president, Mrs. Robert F. Raymond; secretary, Mrs. Albert M. Towle; assistant secretary, Mrs. Quick; treasurer, Mrs. W. E. Cooke; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Horace Chandler and auditor, Mrs. Henry D. Degen.
—Last Tuesday evening the annual election of officers of the Epworth League of the Methodist church took place in the parlors. President, Mr. Allan Raymond; first vice-president, Mr. Gordon G. Lyford; second vice-president, Mr. Wendell H. Brayton; third vice-president, Miss Gladys Flanders; fourth vice-president, Miss Genevieve Huntington; secretary, Miss Della Boyd, and treasurer, Mr. Charles P. Lyford, Jr. After games had been enjoyed, refreshments were served.
—The May festival will be held in the chapel of the Baptist church on Thursday, May 20th. There will be a May Pole and games for the children under 14 in the afternoon from 3 to 5 and refreshments will be served. At 7:30 there will be a social and entertainment for the children over 14 and for adults. Selections will be given by the Newton Centre Guitars, Banjo and Mandolin Club of 11 pieces under the direction of Leon E. Lewis; bass solos by Mr. A. T. Beatey and readings by Mrs. M. A. Levy. Light refreshments will be served.

—The committee in charge of the 4th of July in Waban held its first meeting on Monday night and plans were formulated for an all day celebration which it is expected will eclipse last year's most successful day. A similar schedule of events will be prepared but on a larger scale and to carry it out the hearty co-operation of every Wabanite is necessary. The committee consists of Mr. A. C. Turner, chairman, and Messrs. G. M. Angier, J. H. Brock, J. H. Chubb, C. H. Cook, A. M. Crain, D. M. Hill, C. L. Hovey, J. E. Parker, E. H. Robinson, Fred Williams and S. H. Wiley.
—The minstrel show and cantata given under the auspices of the Young People's League by the St. Paul's Boys' Club of Newton Highlands and older members of the choir, in Waban hall last Friday night, proved a great hit and the work of the young performers called forth astonishment and praise on all sides. A minstrel show given wholly by young boys is always interesting as a novelty, but this one earned high commendations for its excellence. All the choruses, jokes and

Newton Highlands

—Mrs. W. G. Huntley of Lake avenue has been visiting in Vermont.
—Mr. E. W. Dorr's Tappan boy took first place in Class G racing at the Tuesday matinee of the Metropolitan Driving Club on the Charles River speedway.
—The Players will present "The Private Secretary" in Players Hall, West Newton, tonight and tomorrow night, for the benefit of the charity fund of Dalhousie lodge of Masons.

—The C. L. S. C. will meet next Monday afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. A. W. Burroughs, 712 Chestnut street, Waban.

—Mrs. Sarah J. Hayward of Centre street has been elected a member of the board of managers of the General Society, Daughters of the Revolution.
—Rev. G. M. Bailey preaches at the M. E. church next Sunday. The topic at the morning service will be "God's Prisoner," and at the evening service at 7:30 o'clock will be "An Ideal Builder and a Builder's Ideal."

—An audience that filled the Congregational church enjoyed one of the most successful and pleasing entertainments given by the Highland Glee Club Wednesday evening. Every part received hearty applause. The parts taken by Mrs. Wood were exceptionally fine. She was the recipient of a beautiful bouquet of roses presented by her friends.

—Rev. A. H. Naylor, a native Armenian, will deliver an address on Sunday May 16th, at 7 P. M. in the Newton Centre M. E. church. His subject will be "Moslem Life in Mohammedan Turkey," relating, especially to the life of Moslem women and the Harem of the Sultan in Constantinople. Mr. Naylor will give the call of the Muezzin from the minaret to prayer. He will also exhibit some Oriental curios and discuss the present outlook in Turkey.

Waban.

—Mr. G. M. Angier arrived home from a month's trip to England on business, Thursday night.

—Mrs. C. H. Cook of Beacon street has again been confined to her home for several days by illness.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Webster of Windsor road spent the week's end at their summer cottage at Cataumet.

—Mr. Carl C. Conway of Windsor road left this week for Los Angeles, Cal., on a three weeks' business trip.

—The Players will present "The Private Secretary" in Players Hall, West Newton, tonight and tomorrow night, for the benefit of the charity fund of Dalhousie lodge of Masons.

—Mr. Joseph Brock, now of New York, son of Mr. Joseph H. Brock of Beacon street, is seriously ill with intermittent fever. His father and mother were sent for Monday, and brought him home Tuesday night.

—Mrs. F. H. Putnam of Upland road was the hostess at a large and fashionable bridge and luncheon at her residence, last Monday afternoon. Nearly fifty guests being present. The souvenirs and prizes, one for the high score at each table, were the article pieces for the table, and the whole affair one of the most delightful of the season. Miss Leslie Knott, Miss Marion Miller, and Miss Margaret Brock assisted.

—The Waban "Hasbeens" opened their baseball schedule with an easy victory over the Men's Club of St. Paul's, Newton Highlands last Saturday, the score being 23 to 8. The home team played a creditable game throughout, fielding cleanly and batting well. Williams pitched a steady game, but was hit freely. The Highlands team played well for four innings, but an ascension in the 5th netted Waban 9 runs and settled the game. Stimson excelled for the visitors and Sawyer and Bryant for the "Hasbeens."

—The committee in charge of the 4th of July in Waban held its first meeting on Monday night and plans were formulated for an all day celebration which it is expected will eclipse last year's most successful day. A similar schedule of events will be prepared but on a larger scale and to carry it out the hearty co-operation of every Wabanite is necessary. The committee consists of Mr. A. C. Turner, chairman, and Messrs. G. M. Angier, J. H. Brock, J. H. Chubb, C. H. Cook, A. M. Crain, D. M. Hill, C. L. Hovey, J. E. Parker, E. H. Robinson, Fred Williams and S. H. Wiley.

—The minstrel show and cantata given under the auspices of the Young People's League by the St. Paul's Boys' Club of Newton Highlands and older members of the choir, in Waban hall last Friday night, proved a great hit and the work of the young performers called forth astonishment and praise on all sides. A minstrel show given wholly by young boys is always interesting as a novelty, but this one earned high commendations for its excellence. All the choruses, jokes and local hits were given with vim and snap, and the 18 solos were all well sung, the most effective being "Stung" by Billy Wellman, "I Love a Lassie" by Gardner Hoffman, and "Sylvester" by Wallace Leonard. The take off on a meeting of the Tennis Club was greatly appreciated and the local hits much applauded. The second half was a simple but melodious cantata "A Garden of Singing Flowers," arranged for violin, cello and piano by Elliot H. Robinson, who conducted. It was excellently sung by eight of the older members of the choir, the solos being pleasingly rendered and the ensemble work calling forth favorable comment. The hall was packed and the financial return excellent.

Upper Falls.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Marcy of Chestnut street are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

—Saturday, while riding his motorcycle, Mr. Harry Smith of Hale street received injuries about the head and body.

—Thursday, while at play in the yard, the eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heald of Champa avenue had a narrow escape from death. The child fell into an unused well and was taken out in an unconscious condition by its mother.

—Mrs. Julia A. Brock, widow of Joseph Brock, a resident of this town for the last 35 years, died at her home on Bacon place last Tuesday. Rev. Mr. Slayton of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Newton Highlands, officiated at the funeral services held at her home Thursday afternoon. The body was interred in the Medford cemetery.

THEATRES

Tremont Theatre—May Robson and her excellent company began a brief engagement at the Tremont Theatre last Monday night in the breeziest and wholesomest comedy seen here in years. Full of sunshine and laughs, the senses of the auditor is tickled from the rise to the fall of the curtain. "It is not easy for a woman to be funny and retain the sympathy and respect of her audience. It takes an artist to hold hearers almost breathless, with tears welling into the eyes and pathos tugging at the heart-strings, then in an instant set them laughing at some common-place remark quickly turned to relieve the tension. May Robson did this in 'The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary,' and there were few who left the theater without feeling better for an evening spent with the sweet, generous, impulsive old lady of the play. There was nothing stupid or tiresome in Miss Robson's impersonation. From the moment she appeared scolding awkward servants down in the country to her happy little speech that brought down the final curtain, she was interesting. Her indulgent love for the wayward nephew, who was always getting into college scrapes and always coming to Aunt Mary to get him out, was beautifully shown. The usual matinee Wednesday and Saturday will be given during Miss Robson's stay.

Orpheum Theatre—James J. Corbett, the man who once held the heavy-weight championship of the world will make his vaudeville debut in Boston at the Orpheum Theatre next week. Mr. Corbett will have for a vehicle the one act playlet, "A Thief in the Night," which furnishes ample opportunity for a display of his talents. Fred Karno's London comedy company will present a new act, "A Night in the Slums of London." It is impossible to adequately describe this wonderful act, it is so full of comedy, acrobatics, singing and in fact every sort of entertainment, that there is not a dull second while it occupies the stage. Juliet, the wonderful mimic who created a remarkable sensation at the Orpheum two weeks ago will return by popular request. The balance of the bill will include such star acts as Hill & Sylvian, in their refined uncyclable act, Kenney & Hollis, the original college boys, Marlin brothers experts on the Xylophone and others.

Keith's Theatre—When the Planophens was first produced at Keith's Theatre, this splendid act in which six pianos are on the stage at the same time, and all played by experts, it was regarded as one of the biggest novelties in vaudeville, but the Planophens of that time are dimmed by the lustre of the company that is "hooked for Keith's the week of May 17th, as the entire act has been revised, especially made costumes provided, and new selections and dances arranged for a large company. It will be even more spectacular, more novel and more beautiful than ever. This week will also be notable for that clever actress, Valerie Bergere will put on for the first time in Boston, a new play called "The Morning After." The Jack Wilson Trio of comedians promises to be one of the hits of this bill, for there are certainly no funnier on the stage. A spectacular act will be that of the Pisistals, who on a beautiful horse perform some amusing acrobatic stunts. The Hawaii Trio of singers will be another feature. Then there will be Work and Ower, the acrobats; George H. Wood; Frosini, and Selbini and Grovini.

REAL ESTATE

Through the office of Alvord Bros., Walter N. Brackett has sold to C. A. Savin the estate, 8 Hillsboro terrace, corner of Devon road, Newton Centre, consisting of a modern single house, and about 8000 square feet of land, the whole assessed for $6400, of which $5000 is on the house and $1400 on the land.

Alvord Bros. have sold, to Stephen A. Smith, 9113 square feet of land on Woodcliff road, Newton Highlands, for W. L. Rowell. Mr. Smith intends to build a residence for his own occupancy of concrete construction.

Alvord Bros. & Co. have sold to J. H. O'Brien, for Lawrence W. Luedell, the estate, 70 Carleton road, Waban, consisting of a new concrete construction house, garage and 15,800 feet of land, the whole assessed for $6450, of which $450 is on the land and $6000 on the house. This is one of the finest examples of concrete construction in the vicinity of Boston.

Mr. Henry Turner Bailey will give an illustrated lecture at Lasell Seminary next Thursday evening, May 20th, at 7.45 o'clock. Subject: Flowers in the Home. The public is cordially invited.

The life of a summer camp is an ideal one for the American boy. It is there that he may to the fullest extent indulge his natural desires for wholesome sport and free out-of-door life. The State of Maine with its large number of beautiful ponds and lakes, extended pine-forests and picturesque country offers an ideal camping ground.

In the western section of this pine-tree state, within full view of the White Mountains of New Hampshire is situated Camp Winona, which opens its seventh season on June 30. This camp is situated on Moose Pond, Denmark, Me., about fifty miles from Portland. The almost ideal situation of this camp offers opportunity for instruction and participation in a great variety of sports, among them being baseball, tennis, rowing, paddling, swimming, riding (horseback), field sports, fishing in lake and stream, photography, and mountain climbing. These sports are under the direction of carefully selected college men, experts in their various lines, who carry

D. A. R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton, was entertained at the home of Mrs. Edward K. Hall, 36 Beaumont avenue, Newtonville, Monday, May 10; Mrs. Arthur C. Dunmore, Mrs. Henry V. Jones, and Mrs. Joseph L. Jefferson being the other hostesses.

The Regent, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend, presided, and after the annual reports had been given, the election of officers took place, and the following persons were elected for the year: Regent, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend; vice-regent, Mrs. G. H. Wilkins; Mrs. C. E. Hatfield; recording secretary, Mrs. H. C. Whittlesey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. A. Wyman; treasurer, Mrs. Thos. M. Whidden; registrar, Mrs. F. W. Pray; historian, Mrs. C. D. Meserve; board of directors, Mrs. Charles Leonard, Mrs. William Lucas, Mrs. L. H. Woodbridge, Miss Lucy E. Allen, Mrs. G. P. Converse, Mrs. Austin Sherman, Mrs. John Damon, Mrs. A. S. Pratt.

The following delegates were chosen, Mrs. G. H. Wilkins, Mrs. C. D. Meserve, Mrs. H. A. Robbins, Mrs. Henry V. Jones, to attend with the Regent, the State Conference to be held in Lorimer hall, Boston, Saturday, May 15, at ten o'clock.

Mrs. Friend gave a most interesting account of the Continental Congress, held in Washington, which she attended, and of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The company adjourned to the dining room, where Mrs. Austin Sherman and Mrs. C. D. Meserve served the refreshments, assisted by the charming daughters of members.

The Frances E. Willard Settlement is planning for a unique festival and sale in November. The various rooms in the club house, 38 Chambers street, will be turned into hothouses of loveliness and the attendants will be in costume to correspond with the conception of the room. The gymnasium becomes a Mother Goose market and Mother Goose with all her family will be present to dispense wares. Pearson Hall will be a children's midway and the attractions for the little ones will be countless. Sunborn Hall will be used for a ten and social room. Four of the smaller rooms will represent the seasons. There will be the ever-present affairs candy booth, palmist, flower pagoda, etc. Two larger rooms will be used for a college room and D. A. R. or colonial room. The carpenter shop will be become a country store. Special programs will be presented each day and altogether the affair promises to be most interesting and attractive.

The Settlement is becoming well known through its philanthropic work for young women and its organized efforts for the boys and girls of the West End. It is hoped through the sale to raise at least $5000 of which all over $1000 will be applied to the payment on the property purchased by the Settlement of Trinity church and Vincent Memorial hospital in 1907. The purchase included a home for young working women earning very low salaries, or training for self support; a twenty room club house used for clubs and classes for about 1000 boys and girls; and the St. Andrew's church building which is now called Phillips Brooks Hall. During the summer it is earnestly hoped that the friends of all good work will not forget this worthy cause and will devote some time to making useful articles for the sale. Mrs. Henry B. Day, 321 Chestnut street, will very gladly receive any contributions thus made by interested friends.

BOSTON WEEK, MONDAY, MAY 31

Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Show is to visit Boston on Monday, 31 May, coming this season with new laurels won at Madison Square Garden in New York because of the unprecedented excellence of their performances. It is in all respects the very best circus that was ever organized, and the performances that will be given in Boston will be given exactly as they were presented in Manhattan, not the slightest change having been made since the season opened there. There are no less than seven sensations on the program, any one of which is great enough to give a circus distinction. There are the wonderful Schumann horses which waltz on their hind legs, drink from large glasses and roll each other around in huge beer barrels; elephants that use the telephone, conversing with each other over the wire from the trunk of the main tent to the other; the thrilling double somersaulting automobile act, performed by a young French girl; Rohidello, the Mexican fire wizard; the wonderful Lorch family of acrobats and 100 other great acts that are new to America. This will be the only opportunity for the people of this city to see Ringling Brothers' circus, and probably never again with such an array of European and American talent under one management, as the expense of giving such a program is almost beyond belief.

LASSELL SEMINARY.

Some of the special features of this excellent camp are—number of boys limited to thirty, large motor boat for long trips, war canoe carrying nine paddlers, ten saddle horses, a coaching trip to Mt. Washington and back, three days' canoe trip with Mr. Cobb, the owner and manager, as guide.

SPRAYING WITH ARSENATES NOT DANGEROUS

Articles which have been published in some of the newspapers of the state calling attention to the fact that Professor Headen of Colorado believes that he has proved that the use of arsenates in spraying for insects is dangerous, and that it has in numerous instances caused the death of trees, deal with a matter of such great importance that it seems desirable in order that the public may neither be misled nor unnecessarily alarmed, to state that Professor Headen's conclusions are not generally accepted either by entomologists, botanists or horticulturists connected with the different experimental stations of the country as being reliable.

Dr. E. D. Ball, entomologist of the Utah Experiment Station, who has paid particular attention to this subject, says in the conclusion of an address delivered before the Utah Horticultural Society:—"That the conditions described by Dr. Headen and attributed to the effects of arsenic spraying occur over widely distributed areas and have killed thousands of trees on which no arsenic has ever been used, and that therefore arsenical poisoning cannot be the primary cause of this condition; that the only trees positively known to have died of arsenical poisoning were the two to which soluble arsenate was applied, a compound which no one has ever used for spraying purposes."

The soil characteristics throughout the region with which both Dr. Headen and Dr. Ball are most familiar are radically different from those existing in many localities the western soils are strongly impregnated with alkali and Dr. Ball believes that it is the injurious effect of this alkali, combined with injudicious use of water in irrigation that is chiefly responsible for the trouble with orchard trees which Dr. Headen ascribes to spraying with arsenic poisons. Dr. Ball, however, points out that there is a possibility of danger from excessive spraying on strongly alkaline soils since the action of the alkali in such soils might to some slight degree tend to bring the arsenic into solution.

It is not the practice of this state to use soluble arsenic compounds in spraying, and it is not the belief of the chemists of the station that the insoluble arsenates which are used will become soluble in our soils, which never contain alkali in any considerable quantity. While, therefore, indiscriminate and excessive spraying is in all cases inadvisable, all the experts of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station are agreed in believing that the use of arsenates in accordance with directions published by the experiment station, and as practiced by the Gypsy Moth Commission, is not attended with danger to the trees or to the persons consuming the fruit of the trees.

In proof of the soundness of this view attention is called to the fact that in Massachusetts, where arsenic compounds have been used extensively and longer used in spraying than anywhere else, not a single instance is known either among orchard or shade trees where injury other than slight burning of the foliage due to excessive applications or improperly prepared materials has ever followed.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Albert B. Putnam, of Newton, in the County of Middlesex, to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and Sarah B. Putney, his wife, to William B. Brewer and Joseph M. Brewster, both of said Newton, as they were trustees under the will of Isaac B. Brewer, late of said Newton, deceased, dated August 1st, 1899, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1991, Page 571, (George T. Blinn, of Bedford in said County having succeeded the said William B. Brewer as Trustee as aforesaid) for breach of the condition of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction upon the premises hereinafter described on Wednesday, the second day of June, A. D. 1909, at three o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises in said mortgage deed described, to-wit:

A certain parcel of land situate in that part of said Newton called Newton Highlands and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the Easterly side of Bowdoin Street distant two hundred (200) feet Northerly from Forest Street, thence running Northerly by said Bowdoin Street forty-nine (49) feet to land

NORUMBEGA PARK OPENS MAY 23

Summer has come at last. Norumbega Park is about to open its 13th season. Although the opening of this ideal woodland resort on the banks of the beautiful Charles is usually deferred—in fact has always been—until Decoration Day, May 30, this year the management has listened to the call of its patrons for an earlier opening, and with these thousands of habitués of the park at least summer begins with the opening of Norumbega. The vaudeville bill for the opening week in the grand covered open air theatre, beginning with the afternoon and evening performances on Monday, May 24, is probably the strongest ever offered. Wilson will be seen in his comedy bicycle act which is generally conceded the best in the world. Russell and Held, known as the Magnetic Duo, appear in their gorgeously dressed singing and dancing specialty. The Musical Buskirs, playing on diverse instruments, will contribute their well known specialty. Lloyd and Whitehouse will be heard in their songs and imitations given under the title of "In Varieties." Another big feature will be The Nelsons, the English grotesques, in their hilariously funny acrobatic act.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The tie for first place in the club bowling tournament was rolled off last week Thursday, Capt. Learned's team winning from Capt. Paul, 3 out of 4. First prizes were therefore awarded to Messrs. Learned, Garcelon, Howe, Somerby and Byfield, and second prizes to Messrs. Paul, Bothfeld, Drew, Marshall and Brown. The prizes were loving cups.

These scores were made last Saturday night at duplicate whist:

Gay and Naylor 70
Gleason and Wilcox 67
Brown and Watt 57
Sampson and Jos. Smith 56
Miller and Sawyer 56
Alden and Uley 54
Marshall and Bonney 54
Byfield and Gregory 52
White and Bates 52
Edmonds and Cummings 51

Bridge whist will be played to-morrow night.

In the pair whist match, Hall and Snyder lead with Burbank and Wilcox a close second.

N. H. S.

Saturday Newton went to South Braintree and played Thayer academy, winning, 8-6, in 10 innings. The game was well played and the feature was Newton's batting rally in the eighth inning and again in the 10th. Donahue and Frapp played well for Newton.

Thursday Newton played Melrose at Newtonville, winning, 3-2. The game was fast throughout and filled with sensational fielding. Frapp again played well for Newton, getting a fine catch, while O'Neil won the game with a home run in the eighth inning, bringing in a man.

95 YEARS OLD

Mr. Edward W. Cobb observed his 95th birthday last Wednesday, receiving his friends that afternoon at his home, 58 Jefferson street. Mr. Cobb, who has the distinction of being one of the oldest residents here, received many congratulations during the day, and he told many of his friends that he would now look forward to celebrating his 100th birthday.

Mr. Cobb is a native of Nantucket and for 40 years made his home on the famous island, being engaged from 1844 to 1855 in publishing the Nantucket Inquirer. Soon after disposing of the newspaper he removed to Boston, remaining in that city for 17 years. He then moved to Newton and has resided here ever since.

STOLE CITY PROPERTY

As a result of the disappearance of more than a ton of metal from the city store yard at Cook and Winchester streets, Newton Highlands, Fred W. Gates, 60 of 15 Bacon place, Newton Upper Falls, foreman of a construction gang and for 36 years an employee of this city, was arrested this week on the charge of larceny of the material. The police allege he turned over the metal to George Beck, 54, a junk dealer at 9 Jackson street. Beck was also arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property. The case comes up in court to-morrow.

NEWTON BEATS WALTHAM

In a game which kept the spectators keyed up to concert pitch all the time, Newton High on Tuesday afternoon defeated the hitherto unconquerable team of the Waltham High by a score of 7 to 5. The game was played on the Clavin Field diamond and fully 3,000 persons were present. McCourt and Ryan were the battery for Newton and Barry and Leary for Waltham. Waltham was first at bat and Stankard reached first thru an error by Donahue and got to third by sacrifice hits of Healey and Wilson but was left when Leary went out at first. For Newton, Donahue fled out to centre, and Ryan was out at first. O'Neill electrified the crowd with a beauty to deep centre, on which he reached second and but for the canvas would have been able to get to third. He stole third but was left when Murray died at first. Waltham went out in one, two, three order in the second. Barry for Newton, got to first on a fumble by second base, was sent to third by sacrifice hits by Frapp and McCourt and brought home the first run amid great excitement on Sanderson's clean hit. The latter foolishly tried to steal second and was an easy out. Waltham went out again in order in the third, Everett striking out and Barry and Stankard being out on flys. For Newton, Chamberlain made a fine two bagger to centre, reached third on a bad throw to catch him at second and brought home the second run on Donahue's single to left. Donahue was out trying for second and Ryan and O'Neill retiring the side. In the fourth, Waltham found McCourt for the first time. Healey made a hit to left. Wilson sent a pop fly just over third baseman's head. Leary's grounder to first was poorly thrown to second and Healey scored Waltham's first run. Two other runs promptly followed on Smith's base hit. Smith stole second but was out trying the same game at third, while Cobb and Taber were easy outs. Newton tied the score in their half. After Murray's bunt had reached first before he did, Barry's sharp grounder to third was fumbled and he was safe. Frapp, hit by a pitched ball, advanced Barry to second. Wilson hit got by second base, and Barry scored on a wild throw to catch him off third. Frapp was caught at first, and Sanderson struck out. Neither side scored in the fifth and sixth innings, Donahue making a hit in the sixth and Stankard making a spectacular catch of O'Neill's foul off the canvas at the side of left field. Waltham's lucky seventh came in on time, resulting in two runs. Cobb's high fly into short right gave him three bases, on account of the crowd. Taber hit to Barry, who kept Cobb on third by clever work, and caught Taber at first. Everett was hit by a pitched ball, and a passed ball allowed Cobb and Everett to score. Barry fled to centre and Stankard's grounder to Donahue was fumbled, altho he was later caught at second. McCourt for Newton made a safe hit but was left, as Sanderson, Chamberlain and Donahue went out in order. The eighth opened up bad for Newton, as Healey got his base on balls, Wilson fled out to third, Leary followed with a safe hit, but Smith went out on a fly to right, and Cobb fled out to first and the local rooters breathed easier. Newton had a sweet revenge in their half of the eighth, resulting in four runs. Ryan began with a hit to left. O'Neill's grounder was fumbled by short. Murray sacrificed and Barry fled out to left. Frapp then came to the rescue with a fine two bagger to right, two runs coming in and McCourt followed with another hit. A passed ball let Frapp home and McCourt scored on a safe hit by Sanderson, who later was caught off first. McCourt was succeeded by Gaw as pitcher in the ninth, a great mistake in judgment, as it was only good luck that saved the game for Newton. Taber's grounder went right thru Barry at short, Duffy, hit by a pitched ball advanced him a base and Barry sacrificed, Taber going to third. Stankard fled out to Donahue. Healey bunted and Gaw thinking the bases were full threw to the catcher at the home plate. Duffy thinking the ball had gone to first, attempted to reach home, passed by Taber, who remained at third, and made the third out and left the victory with Newton. Frapp, in addition to his batting, made a fine one handed catch in centre field which was heartily cheered. Donahue's poor work was responsible for several of Waltham's runs.

WONDERLAND

NEWTON

The Waltham contingent were a bolsterous and unmannerly crowd, jeering the umpire whenever he called a ball on the Newton pitcher and doing their best to break up the cheer leader of the Newton boys. One of their number struck a ten year old boy in the face after the game was finished and was nearly mobbed for it by the indignant bystanders. He was protected by the police and appeared in court yesterday morning.

Coch Laughtlin of the Newton High was considerably exercised over the action of Waltham in designating pitcher McCourt to run for Ryan in the latter part of the eighth inning, as it is one of the unwritten laws of the game that pitchers shall not be called upon to run for other players.

MARCY-NICHOLS

The marriage of Miss Eleanor H. Nichols, the daughter of the late J. Howard Nichols and Dr. Henry O. Marcy, Jr., of Boston, took place Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the Nichols residence on Sargent street, Newton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Wolcott Calkins, assisted by Rev. H. Grant Person of Elliot church. The house was attractively decorated with asparagus vine, white and pink roses and carnations. The bride, who was unattended, wore a white satin gown with court train and trimmed with Italian lace. Mr. George Wendell of New York was the best man. A small reception followed until six o'clock. Dr. and Mrs. Marcy being assisted in receiving by Dr. and Mrs. Henry O. Marcy, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baermann.

After a wedding trip to Europe Dr. and Mrs. Marcy will be at home after November first at 140 Sargent street, Newton.

Lieutenant Kafana and Mabel Colcord as Lady Constance Wynne. Among the best known songs in "The Gelsa" are "Teach me to Kiss," "Jack's the Boy," "The Toy Monkey," "The Jewel of Asia," and "Chin Chin Chinaman."

"A DRESS REHEARSAL"

The Delta Tau Upsilon presented "A Dress Rehearsal" last Saturday evening before an audience which filled Norumbega hall, at Auburndale.

The sketch depicts in an amusing way the troubles of the principal of a girls' boarding school in rehearsing her pupils in a commencement play. There was a sprinkling of musical numbers which added to the interest. The sketch was particularly well enjoyed by the Lasell seminary students in the audience.

Miss Ethel N. Brewster was capital as the principal, and Miss Olive E. Bourne was amusing as the elocution mistress and former actress. Others in the cast were Miss Helen H. Curtin, Miss Edith A. Jacobs, Miss Mabel L. White, Miss Edna Trowbridge, Miss Edna J. Kennedy, Miss Rosa B. Allen, Miss Gertrude M. Bourne, Miss Jessie Sears, Miss Marie E. Gelat and Miss Beatrice Allen. The musical numbers included these: "We're Sitting and Knitting," Miss Edith Jacobs and chorus; "Your Parents are Invited," Miss Ethel Brewster and chorus; "Tis Just Now 40 Years," Miss Olive Bourne; "Oh, How Jolly!" chorus; "Oh, You Cruel Girl!" Miss Edith Jacobs, Gertrude Bourne and Rosa Allen; "As Times Rolls On," Miss Marie Giest; "You Shall be the Belle of the Ball," Miss Marie Giest and Miss Edith Jacobs; "Ah! 'Tis Love!" Miss Helen Curtin; "We Know It's Very Wicked," chorus.

The utensils needed in domestic canning, where glass jars only are used, are as follows: A large kettle or water-bath in which to heat or "process" the glass jars (the common wash-bowl makes a good kettle); a smaller kettle for heating water to scald certain kinds of vegetables and to cleanse others; a porcelain-lined kettle in which to cook such fruits and vegetables as are not canned in the natural or raw state; large and well-tinned spoons and strainers or colanders; silver-plated forks; wooden mashers or pestles; wooden or earthen bowls; a well-tinned wire basket of a size to fit easily into the scalding kettle; a good thermometer of the floating or "dairy" type; a saccharometer or syrup gage; a supply of cheesecloth and thin, white flannel for straining; tongs for handling hot jars.—Suburban Life for June.

CITY HALL NOTES

A delegation of representatives of the aldermen, councilmen and street department of Worcester Tuesday visited Newton for the purpose of inspecting the work of building dustless streets, which is being conducted here on a much larger scale than ever before this season. The guests were taken over the thoroughfares on which different materials have been used by Mayor Hutchinson and Street Commissioner Charles W. Ross in automobiles.

Arrangements have been completed for the immediate rebuilding of the footbridge over the Charles river at Lower Falls. The wooden structure which has spanned the stream for many years and which is now declared unsafe will be replaced by one of steel construction. Work of rebuilding part of the abutments will be started next week. The bridge itself will be built in sections and shipped here. The work of setting it up will be done under direction of City Engineer Rogers of this city, and Wellesley will reimburse Newton for its share of the expense.

The successful candidates for the police department who qualified for the civil service list by passing recent examinations were physically examined Tuesday in the Newton Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

McKenney & Waterbury Co., No. 181 Franklin St., corner Congress, are offering some rare bargains in Electric, Gas and Oil Lighting Fixtures, for Summer Cottages, from an assortment of over Five Hundred styles. An unusual opportunity for those in want of more light for their homes.

News-stands in the Newtons, and at the South Union Station, Boston.

All communications must be accompanied with the name of the writer, and unpublished communications cannot be returned by mail unless stamps are en-

The action of the House of Representatives in advancing the bill to deprive residential cities of its corporation taxes, in spite of the adverse report of the Ways and Means committee, indicates what Newton may expect in the future, even if the present
bill fails to pass the senate and government. Taken all in all, it is simply a matter of pure selfishness, in which residential cities, which have received the benefit of corporation holdings by their citizens, will lose, while the manufacturing places will benefit, and as the latter are usually more popular, they have more representatives and more votes than places like Newton. What our representatives should work for, in my opinion, is the absorption of these taxes by the state, eliminating the selfish feature of the present and proposed methods, and incidentally benefiting all sections of the state in the reduction thereby of the state tax.

The school authorities have issued
a book showing the work to be accomplished in the two High Schools
of Newton beginning the coming fall
and parents and pupils are to be congratulated upon the variety and scope of our educational plant. With classical, scientific, general, technology—
college, technical, extra technical, fine arts and commercial courses to choose from, the youth of Newton ought to receive an education second to none
in the state.

The discontinuance of the electric car service in Homer street and the consequent removal of the tracks, will be a decided benefit to the city as a whole, altho it will undoubtedly inconvenience a few people for a short period, until they become used to the new arrangement. The improvement will consist of a fine street, free from tracks, and the change from a bumpy,
jumpy railway service to a smooth
and satisfactory ride.

I must apologize for the lateness of last week's GRAPHIC. The breaking of the gripper box on the press late Friday morning caused seven hours'
unavoidable delay.

MEMORIAL DAY

Charles Ward Post 62, Grand Army
of the Republic, will observe Monday,
May 31st, as Memorial Day. Major Fred P. Barnes of West Newton has been appointed Chief Marshal and he has selected Lieut. Col. Walter L.
Sanborn as Adjutant General and Lieut. Col. Robert Ball Edes as Chief of Staff. The parade will start at one o'clock from the junction of Church and Eldredge streets, Newton, and move thru Church, Centre, Ward streets, Commonwealth avenue, Morton, Ashton park, Homer and Walnut streets to the Newton cemetery,
where the usual exercises will take place at the Soldiers' Monument. The parade will then re-form and proceed to the post hall at Newtonville, where the annual banquet will be held.

The Memorial Sunday address to the post will be given at the Newton Centre Methodist church by Rev. Dr.
Chas. H. Melden. The post will be entertained at supper by the Aubur-dale Brotherhood on Wednesday evening next, at which an address is expected from General Anderson, who raised the flag at Fort Sumter.

Contributions of flowers are earnestly desired by the post.

NEW BOAT CLUB

The possibilities of the Charles River Basin have been foreseen by residents of Hunnewell Hill, and the Charlesbank Boat Club has been recently incorporated for the purpose of encouraging athletic sports and establishing and maintaining a boat
house and a place for social and literary entertainments. The officers are Mr. Mitchell Wing, president;
Mr. Arthur L. Berry, vice president;
Mr. Edwin F. Smallwood, secretary;
Mr. Herbert M. Bacon, treasurer;
Messrs. Gilbert R. Griffin, Vernon B.
Sweet, Charles P. Marshall, executive committee; Messrs. Loring L. Marshall, John R. Simpson, Louis D.
Gibbs, William H. Darling, Loren D.
Towle, membership committee;
Messrs. E. E. L. Taylor, Chas. O.
Tucker and Walter B. Hennegan, auditing committee. Hon. A. R. Weed is counsel for the club.

Application has been made for permission to erect a boat house at the end of Charlesbank road, and while the dredging of the river the present
summer will probably delay the granting of the application, the club has already secured permission to use the present boat and anchorage grounds.

AUBURNDALE'S BEAUTIES

Plans for beautifying Auburndale
until it is one of the most attractive sections of this city were discussed
in a public meeting under auspices of Auburndale Village Improvement society held in Norumbega hall Wednesday evening.

A number of speakers urged that city improvement be made along systematic lines in order to avoid hapazard beautifying that will eventually prove nothing better than patchwork.
George M. Fiske, the president of the society, said that between $20,000 and $25,000 had already been spent in city betterment in Auburndale through effort of the organization. "We have our faces to the front, however, and intend to accomplish much more work," said he. "The society aims to build a playground at one end of River park, hold an annual banquet for Auburndale residents similar to the "village night" gathering in Newton Centre and to cultivate a civic pride
that will lead us to clean up the vacant grounds which are not now well cared for."

A resolution was adopted asking the city government to give the official title of Nye park to the parkway now being made through effort of the society. A copy of the resolution will be sent Mayor Hutchinson. R. L. Bridgman urged that every resident keep his own grounds in presentable condition, saying that the appearance of private grounds serves as a constant advertisement of a community, either desirable or undesirable depending upon the effort of the occupants.

Rev. Dr. F. N. Peloubet and Dr. Guy
M. Winslow, principal of Lasell seminary, pointed out that the necessity of doing betterment work on systematic plans, and urged that landscape
gardeners be secured to outline working plans for a decade. R. E. Ashen-den spoke of the advantage of inaugurating work among the children, and H. O. Ryder made a plea for preserving the attractive woodland bordering Charles river.

A particularly interesting review of the moth situation was given by Forest Commissioner Charles I. Buckman, who also gave a number of practical hints for avoiding another invasion of the pests. He said in part:

"The gypsy moth caterpillars are now hatching. The department is now having burlap bands placed on all trees on city land. The caterpillars climb into the trees at night, coming down in the morning when the sun becomes bright. The burlap bands do not prevent them from getting into the trees, but simply serve as traps.

"Crawling down from the foliage the caterpillars will seek shelter under the flaps of the burlap. By knocking them into a pan of kerosene the caterpillars can be readily destroyed before they become moths.

"The brown tall moths are now under control and there will be little if any annoyance from them in Newton
this summer.

"All elms owned by the city are to be sprayed with arsenate of lead in order to exterminate the elm leaf beetles which did great damage in this city last summer. It will be necessary for owners of private property to notify the forestry department if they want elms on their premises
sprayed, for the law giving forestry employees a right to enter private lands in search of moths does not apply to beetles.

"The arsenate of lead which will be used is not injurious to birds and horses can eat it without ill effect but if cows partake of it too liberally they will become sick."

Warren G. Richards gave several humorous sketches and Miss Julia Pickard was heard in a number of pleasing violin selections. The society placed $100 at the disposal of its executive committee with which to get the work of practical improvement
under way.

WEST NEWTON W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Emma H. Howland, state organizer and lecturer for the Massachusetts W. C. T. U. gave an address on "A White Life for Two" at the meeting of the W. C. T. U. this week which was held at the home of Mrs.
Chas. Powell. The talk was most helpful and uplifting, calling the attention particularly to the duty mothers owe their children in early instruction on these all important subjects. A very touching recitation by a friend followed, and with the social hour during which ice cream and cake
were furnished by the hostess completed a profitable evening.

MILLINERY SALE

Every season Mlle. Caroline has a general mark down of all her imported hats and bonnets and the designs from her own work rooms. Special attention is given to fit and adaptation to these beautiful models by the use of her "exclusive boudreau" and "patented hat clasp," ensuring perfect poise and comfort. As she leaves early for abroad she is desirous of closing them at once, at her rooms, 480 Boylston street, in the block of the Brunswick Hotel, Boston.

NEWTON GOLF CLUB

The Newton Golf Club has started the season with increased membership and the prospect of a successful year. The officers are: President, George Linder, vice-president, A. B. Cobb; secretary, C. A. Haskell; treasurer, F. N. Robbins. The schedule of tournaments for this season is longer than usual. The first one took place in April, and the prizes were won by C. W. Manning and R. Guild. The list includes team matches among the players, handicap and swat-fest tournaments, in which it is hoped much interest will be aroused. A tournament is scheduled for every Saturday during the coming months. The tournament committee is composed of P. N. Kenway, C. C. Smith and C. W. Manning.

THE BIJOU

The moving pictures at the Bijou this week proved highly interesting. "Whale Fishing" was the feature picture for the first three days, showing the harpooning of a whale at sea, and was very interesting. C. Q. D. or saved by wireless is the feature for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Monday, 24th, "The Wright Brothers' Aeroplane" will be the principal picture with a lot of laughable comedy pictures which seem to take so well by the patrons of the Bijou. Miss Marjorie Dudley of Keith's Bijou Theatre, Boston, who has pleased the audiences with her well trained voice, will appear next week in a repertoire of new songs, illustrated with beautiful slides. The usual Saturday matinee for the school children at 2 o'clock will be given again Saturday of this week.

WM. H. DAVIS CLUB

The 13th annual banquet of the William H. Davis Club was held in the parlors of Elliot church last Monday evening. There was a representative gathering of members and the spirit of good fellowship was strongly in evidence. The menu was an appetizing one and was served about 7 o'clock. The brief business session which followed was presided over by the president, Mr. Fred L. Trowbridge and consisted of the reading of the annual reports and the election of officers. This resulted as follows: President, Theodore R. Lockwood; vice president, Henry O. Trowbridge; corresponding secretary, Edward Smith; recording secretary, Carl Hawes; treasurer, Willard L. Day; executive committee, Charles A. Haskell, Walter C. Whitney and Albert L. Babblitt. The new president, Mr. Theodore R. Lockwood, was the toast master for the post prandial exercises and the toasts were bright, full of wit and humor and were received with hearty applause. The program was as follows: Hon. G. Ham D. Gilman, "Our Honorary Member"; Rev. H. Grant Person, "Our Humorous Life"; Mr. Allan C. Emery, "Our Religious Life"; Mr. Wm. T. Copplins, "Our Past Club Life"; Mr. Frank A. Day, "Our Friend and Leader"; Mr. Wm. F. Garcelon, "Our Young Men in Athletics"; Mr. Theodore L. Lockwood, "Our Young Men in Business"; Mr. Walter Whitney, "Our Young Men in Sunday School"; Mr. Edwin O. Childs, Jr., "Our Young Men in Politics"; Mr. Henry W. Bascom, "Our Relation to the Y. M. C. A."; Mr. Willard L. Day, "Our Base Ball Team"; Mr. Winslow Dunne, "Our Co-operative Club"; Mr. Franklin W. Ganse, "Our Encyclopedia."

Mr. Thomas Weston was unable to be present owing to illness and the secretary was instructed to send him a letter of regret. During the evening some fine records were given on Mr. Loren Towle's Victor machine. The club adjourned about 10 o'clock until autumn, when an active campaign will be made to increase the membership and to carry out a number of new features.

BURGULARS IN NEWTON

One of the biggest robberies in this city in several months occurred Tuesday night, when burglars looted the dwelling of George A. Graves, 21 Hovey street, of a large amount of silverware valued close to $1,000. The house was entered during the temporary absence of the occupants. The burglars confined their operations to several rooms on the first floor, taking practically every available piece of silverware and apparently making off with nothing else. Entrance was gained by forcing a window. It is believed that the intruders were several in number and that they quickly made a systematic search of the rooms on the ground floor. There was no evidence that they went into the second story, where there was said to be considerable jewelry. The break had the appearance of being work of a gang of housebreakers who a year or two ago entered a number of dwellings in this city and in surrounding places. The break was discovered when members of the family returned home, and although the police were quickly notified the burglars got away with apparently little difficulty. Residents of the immediate vicinity saw no suspicious persons about the dwelling during the evening.

FREE ORGAN RECITAL

The program of the extra free organ recital which John Hermann Loud will give in First Baptist church, Newton Centre, next Monday evening, is as follows:—

    - b. "The Night has a thousand eyes"..... Foote
    - c. Aria: "Juan of Arc"..... Bemberg
  4. First Organ Sonata, Opus 42 Gullmant
- (The finest of all the great French organist's sonatas, of which there are eight.)
- a. Introduction—Allegro.
  - b. Pastorale.
  - c. Finale.
5. Soprano Solos:
    - a. "I'm wearing away, Jean"..... Foote
    - b. "Love me if I live"..... Foote
    - c. Aria: "I will extol Thee"..... Costa
  6. Improvisation on a given theme.

MRS. SHERWOOD BURIED.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary E. Sherwood, were held from her late home on Harvard street, Newtonville, on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 and were attended by many friends and associates, including members of the school committee and officers and teachers in the school department.

Rev. R. T. Loring, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, conducted a brief and simple service of scripture readings and prayers, and a mixed quartet sang, "Lead, Kindly Light," and "O, Paradise." There were many beautiful flowers. The burial was at the Newton cemetery. During the services flags were half masted on all the school buildings of the city.

REMOVAL ANNOUNCEMENT

In consequence of our increased business, we are to remove our tailoring business to No. 216 Centre street, Newton, formerly occupied by the Newton Journal Pub. Co. We have refitted the store and hope to have the finest tailoring shop in the Newtons. We are now located and ready to do business.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The substitution last week by the Senate of a resolve for investigation and report by the board of education, for the bill to establish the Massachusetts college has virtually brought about the defeat and abandonment of that most worthy measure. Here was a wealthy gentleman who offered to put $100,000 into an educational scheme which promised untold benefits to the youth of this state—a plan which received the hearty endorsement of educators all over the country, including such men as Stratton D. Brooks, superintendent of schools of Boston, Mr. George H. Martin, the secretary of the state board of education, and many others, and which is smothered in the presence of its friends by the narrow mindedness of two senators, and the selfishness of one college president. Practical Politics comments on the matter as follows:—

The philanthropic persons behind the movement for the establishment of the Massachusetts college are almost heart-broken over the setback given their proposition by a reference to the state board of education. Some of them are saying harsh things about Senator Evans, who led the fight against the bill providing for the founding the college and who succeeded in getting a majority of the Senate to shelve the matter. Further undertakings on the work are now halted for at least a year. The poor boys of the state are the ones who will suffer by the delay. The action of the Senate in putting the matter up to the board of education was a great surprise in view of the fact that the house had passed the measure without a dissenting vote. The opponents of the original bill protested that the matter of granting degrees was not properly regulated and that further investigation was absolutely necessary. No one expects an unfavorable report on the matter from the state board of education. The objection of the advocates of the proposition is that the delay is unnecessary.

From personal acquaintance with the leading petitioner I know that the substitution has virtually caused him to abandon the whole matter. He has given many months of hard, untiring work to this project, besides putting $100,000 into it as his own contribution. With favorable action by this legislature, it would still require many months of labor to bring the plan into workable shape, and, while the present time is favorable, he does not feel like doing his work all over again another year, with all the uncertainty of success. If the plan is ever brought forward again, it will have to be supported by the state instead of by private philanthropy, and that will mean a postponement far into the future. I trust the thousands of Massachusetts youth who will never receive the higher education they would like, will have a proper appreciation of the position of the senators and the college president who have so effectually closed this door to them.

The direct nomination matter will not down, however jubilant Representative Garcelon may be over his recent victory in the House. Practical Politics is quoted again on this matter as follows:

Representative Garcelon made no bones about cracking the party whip, for "Billy" believes in political machines and parades his belief in them. They have some of the finest political machines in Newton to be found in the commonwealth. There is no denying that direct nominations make for political machines. This was evident in the fight in the house. Every political machine in the state was busy against the bill, from the republican state machine and the powerful Essex county machine down to the small one-horse power machines.

Direct nominations are bound to come, for as Representative Riley said on the matter:—

"If the voter is qualified to pledge a delegate he is qualified to record himself directly. If he is not qualified to vote directly, he is not qualified to pledge a delegate."

Governor Draper's veto of the obnoxious eight hour measure is to be heartily commended. The Governor's reasons were sound and sensible. Every employer of labor, working for the state, city or county would have been the subject of countless acts of blackmail had this bill become law. I am at present printing the city reports of Newton, under a contract requiring work to be completed before a certain day. If one of my employees becomes ill for a few hours, or day, it is impossible to fill his place immediately, and the time thereby lost can be made up at present by the voluntary work of others. The new law would have imposed a heavy fine for any such action. The eight hour law is right in theory, but there should be no limit on the right of the laborer to work as many hours as he pleases. A day's pay based on eight hours, with liberty for the employer to hire and for the laborer to sell more time, if mutually agreeable is the only reasonable and sensible arrangement possible.

The House sustained the governor's veto Wednesday morning by a good margin and that danger is over for another year.

The Ways and Means Committee reported against the passage of the bill to take away all corporation taxes from the places in which the stockholders reside, but the House refused to follow that wise leadership and adopted the bill by a vote of 86 to 112. This bill when it becomes law, and the best we can hope at present is a postponement, will take away nearly $150,000 income from Newton. Its effect on the tax rate, where $1.00 raises but $69,000 can be easily computed.

The Senate, which killed the bill to legalize the selling of fruit, ice cream and candy on Sundays, subject to local option, reconsidered the matter, when pressure was brought to bear, and the bill has been finally enacted. It is the first step towards making our Sunday laws agree to existing conditions.

N. H. S.

The following clippings sent us from Berlin, will be of interest to the many friends of Dr. Walter Swift, N. H. S. '90:—

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Honan leave this evening to take up residence for the summer at Bad Nauheim. It is probable that they will not return in the autumn, but will extend their absence from Berlin to at least a year. Dr. Walter Swift and his wife, Dr. Edith Hale Swift, will occupy Dr. and Mrs. Honan's apartment for the next twelve months, taking possession this week. Mrs. Honan's farewell reception on Monday afternoon, which was at the same time a reception of welcome to Dr. Edith Swift, was a delightful social function, attended by about ninety guests, notwithstanding the short notice given by the invitations. Mrs. Geo. H. Watson and Mrs. Bell assisted the hostess. Yellow flowers—Jonquills, marguerites, and buttercup—gave a charming Spring-like air to the room. The guests included Mrs. J. P. Wisner, wife of the American military attaché; Mme. d'Artsimowitch, wife of the Russian Consul-General; Mrs. Edward Guild Wyckoff, of Ithaca; and Dr. Walter Swift. Mrs. David Jayne Hill, who had expected to be present, was prevented owing to a long series of engagements on the same day. Everyone was greatly interested in meeting Dr. Edith Hale Swift, the guest of honor, who, with her husband, will practice in Berlin through out the coming year. Dr. Edith Swift is a graduate of Radcliffe college and of Johns Hopkins university, and has spent the past two years assisting in Berlin hospitals, specializing in gynecology and in children's diseases. She will now practice in these branches. Dr. Walter Swift undertaking the general cases. Dr. Walter Swift is a graduate of Harvard. As already announced, he has just been elected president of the Anglo-American Medical Association in Berlin.

The Anglo-American Medical Association of Berlin, at its recent meeting, elected Dr. Walter Swift, N. H. S. '90, of Boston, president in place of Dr. James Henry Honan, resigned. Dr. Swift has already been two years resident in Berlin, and contemplates remaining another year. His wife, Dr. Edith Hale Swift, is also a physician.

READ WHAT YOUR NEWTON FOREST COMMISSIONER SAYS:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
The Gill Insecticide Company has done work in Newton the past year and passed our inspection, being very satisfactory. We recommend them to anyone wishing tree work performed.
CHARLES I. BUCKNAM,
Forest Commissioner.

DEAR SIR:
The matter of spraying four trees and shrubs at this season of the year should vitally concern you. The Gill Insecticide Company earnestly solicits a chance to figure on your work. We guarantee by our process to rid all foliage eating insects and bark lice that our solution comes in contact with, and it is highly recommended by the State Board of Forestry. We employ only the most experienced men and we can quote you a figure which we think will be far below any ever offered to you for this work. You are simply having your trees insured by having them sprayed. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

—Mr. William Hesse, who has been ill at the Newton hospital with pneumonia is again able to be out.

—Mrs. C. D. Rising of Cypress street left this week for the West, where she will spend the summer.

—Miss Minnie Pollard, who has been spending the winter in California has returned to her home on Center street.

—Mr. John Sullivan, who has been spending the winter in Los Angeles, Cal., has returned to his home on Walnut street.

—Mrs. Margaret Wade who has been spending the winter at Maine has moved into her new home on Dedham street.

—Last Saturday afternoon as Mr. Hugh Cunningham of John street was standing in a store on Boylston street, Boston, he attempted to take his life by shooting himself. He was quickly taken to the hospital but it was found that his injuries were slight. He is now recovering rapidly.

—One of the most interesting addresses which have been delivered this winter was given last Sunday night at the Methodist church, when Rev. A. F. Nazarian of Chelsea spoke on "Turkey" on behalf of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society. Mr. Nazarian gave several vivid examples of the persecution of the Armenian people by the Turks simply because they held different religious views than they did. Articles of interest were also exhibited after the lecture which had been taken from the land of the Mohamaden. About two hundred and fifty were present and the regular missionary offering was taken at this time.

—Mr. C. M. Marston and family of Philadelphia have moved to Center street.

—Miss F. E. Leighton has returned to her home on Center street, after a winter's stay in California.

—The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Skilton of Langley road will be interested to know that their baby boy who was operated on last Tuesday at the children's hospital is rapidly recovering.

—Mr. Ralph H. Mecorney of Center street is receiving congratulations from his friends on having recently passed the New Hampshire State Board of Licensed Embalmers. Mr. Mecorney already holds a certificate from Massachusetts.

—Yesterday afternoon at the Methodist church the annual meeting of the Mothers' Rest Association was held. Officers were elected and the reports for the preceding year were read, which showed a marked advancement. About seventy-five members were present.

—Next Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. James Giles of Parker street the regular meeting of the members of the Cottage Prayer Meeting will be held. As the home of Mrs. Giles is located quite a distance from the square, it has been suggested that all who are going to attend should meet at Cypress street and go in a body.

—A Maypole dance and games were features of a May festival for children of the First Baptist church, held yesterday afternoon in the chapel. In the evening the program included selections by the Newton Centre Band, Mandolin and Guitar Club of 11 pieces directed by Leon E. Lewis, bass solos by A. T. Beatey and readings by Mrs. Maurice A. Levy.

—Last Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Marion Haskell of Beacon street the Farther Lights Society of the Baptist church held their last meeting. The subject was "Korea—the Hermit Nation—Nation Customs and Religious Advance of Christianity." Miss Marion gave an interesting talk on this subject.

—Next Sunday morning at the Methodist church the pastor, Dr. Chas. M. Melden, will take as his theme "Names Written in Heaven." In the evening before the members of the Epworth League, who will be the guests of the evening, he will speak taking as his subject "The Leaguers' Age and its Opportunities."

Newton Highlands

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hayward are in Maine this week.

—Rev. B. F. Trueblood is attending the Lake Mohonk conference this week.

—Mr. Howard Morse of Allerton road is enjoying the fishing in Maine this week.

—Dr. Keith and family have been spending the week at their cottage at Brant Rock.

—C. E. Walker has moved from the Dr. Burr house, Walnut street, to Terrace avenue.

—W. H. Chapple and family left this week for Squantum, where they will spend the summer.

—Mr. John A. Lovell of Erie avenue left Saturday for Remis, Me., on a two weeks' fishing trip.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Corey, Floral street, spent part of the week at their cottage at Bayside Station, Hull, Mass.

—The C. L. S. C. will meet next Monday afternoon at one o'clock with Mrs. H. B. Rogers, 208 Auburn street, Auburndale.

—Mrs. Hyde and Mrs. J. S. Sedgwick of Floral street have been spending a few days at Mrs. Hyde's cottage at Waveland.

—Mr. G. Q. Hill and family of Hillside road left this week for Holliston, Mass., where they have purchased a farm, and will spend the summer months.

—The subject at the morning service at the M. E. church will be "Unconquered Ground," and in the evening at 7.30 the subject will be "Called." Rev. George Mervin Bailey, the pastor, will preach both morning and evening.

—Mrs. Mary Cummings Thompson, widow of the late Erastus Thompson, died here Wednesday, of apoplexy, in the 87th year of her age. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 12.30 from the residence of her son Mr. Frank O. Thompson, 25 Columbia road, Brookline and the burial was in Pine Grove cemetery, Milford.

HATCH-HINCKLEY

Mr. Cheney Lincoln Hatch, the assistant city auditor, was quietly married to Mrs. Marguerite Thurston Hinckley of Newtonville, yesterday afternoon at the Unitarian church, West Newton. The ceremony took place under an arch of apple blossoms and was witnessed by the immediate relatives. The bride wore a blue cloth travelling dress and was unattended. Rev. Julian C. Jaynes performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Hatch left immediately after the marriage for a wedding trip thru Canada and have taken a cottage at Allerton for the summer.

CENTRAL CLUB MEETS

The last meeting of the season of the Central Club was held last evening in Central Congregational church, Newtonville, when the election of officers and a debate followed the dinner. Mr. Wallace C. Boyden was chosen president, Mr. Frank P. Carr and Dr. D. E. Baker vice presidents, Mr. J. Frank Dunleavy secretary-treasurer and Rev. J. T. Stocking, Messrs. D. K. Bartlett, F. K. Ingraham and Raymond Tucker executive committee. The debate was on the question, "Shall Women Vote?" The affirmative was taken by Rev. C. W. Davidson, Mr. H. P. Patey and Mr. W. E. Strong, while the negative was presented by Messrs. A. M. Lyon, W. F. Gregory and H. V. Jones.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

On and after Monday, May 24th, 1909, the street railway service between Centre Street and Walnut Street, on Homer Street, will be discontinued, as a result of the following order passed by the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton, on April 26th, 1909:—

"ORDERED, that said location of said tracks of said Newton & Boston Street Railway Company in said Homer Street, be and the same is hereby revoked from Walnut Street in said Homer Street to Centre Street."

The Newtonville Square-Newton Centre Line now operating via Centre, Homer and Walnut Streets, will, commencing Monday, May 24, operate between same terminals via Centre Street, Commonwealth Avenue and Walnut Street; the running time and schedule remaining exactly the same as at present.

THEATRES

Kelth's Theatre—A big all round vaudeville bill made up almost entirely of star features has been prepared for the week of May 21st at Kelth's Theatre, one of the most interesting features of it being Irene Franklin and Bert Green. Miss Franklin has come to the front as the leading exponent of eccentric songs and there is now no cleverer artist in her particular line on the stage today. Edwin Stevens, who was the star in Henry W. Savage's company playing "The Devil," will also be a big feature of this bill, appearing in a series of Dickens' character sketches which have been winning wide popularity on the circuit. Still another big feature will be Frank Morrell, the remarkable tenor, still another is Charles and Fanny Van in their humorous sketch called "The Stage Carpenter and the Souffrette." In fact the entire bill will be made up of features of this kind, a new one in vaudeville in Boston being the Ahearn Troupe who are introducing something novel in the way of bicycle feats that surpasses anything previously done in this line. Others will be Paul LaCroix, the juggler with the hats; Edgar Allen & Company; Ida O'Day; Hastings and Wilson and others.

CAR LOAD SHIPMENTS

Shipments of Carloads of Roasted Coffee are not usual in the Trade, and it may not be generally known that right here in Boston, this little town of the Country (called so by a few jealous ones) the Dwinell-Wright Co. regularly roast, pack and ship from the factory door Car Load after Car Load of their fine Roasted Coffee to the large distributing points in the Country.

The Dwinell-Wright Company have a National Reputation and the Celebrated WHITE HOUSE Brand is known wherever fine Coffees are sold. To illustrate the great increase in the sale of the White House Brand of Coffee, their Manager recently stated that when this Brand was first put upon the market an order of 10,000 labels was placed with the Lithographer. Now they order 1,000,000 at a time. A discriminating Coffee drinker knows a good Coffee when they taste it, and they find satisfaction every time in the White House Brand which the Dwinell-Wright Co. sell in one, two, or three pound tins only, thereby guaranteeing it exactly as packed by them, if label be unbroken.

NEW PASTOR

The Rev. A. H. Robinson will next Sunday begin his pastorate of the Unitarian Society. We can perhaps give no better introduction than to reprint an article which appeared about him in the Newburgh, N. Y., News about a month ago.

"The Rev. Alonzo H. Robinson has tendered his resignation as pastor of the Unitarian Church of Our Father, on the southeast corner of South and Johnston streets. He read his resignation to the congregation at the conclusion of the morning service yesterday. It may be said that the best of feeling exists between Mr. Robinson and the people of the Newburgh church to whom he had ministered since Sept. 10, 1905, when he preached his first sermon in the Church of Our Father as its pastor.

"The resignation was tendered so that Mr. Robinson could accept the pastorate of the Unitarian Church at Newton Centre, Mass., one of the best suburbs of the city of Boston, which he has done. The Newton Centre church will afford the brilliant young clergyman a full opportunity for the exercise of the undoubted talents of which he is the possessor. The call to the pastorate came to Mr. Robinson entirely unsolicited. He preached two months ago when he was on a visit to Boston, and the people there were so well pleased that they extended a call to him, which was coupled with very flattering conditions.

"It has been known to Mr. Robinson's most intimate friends that he was quite likely to accept the call. But his loss to the church here and to the city at large will be none the less on that account.

"Alonzo H. Robinson is an all round young man. Since he has been a resident of this city he has not only preached excellent sermons and built up his church considerably, but he has also found time to engage in much other good work in various lines of effort. His time and money have always been at the disposal of those who needed them in any project intended for the benefit of manhood or womanhood, boyhood or girlhood.

"Mr. Robinson was born in Cherryfield, Me., October 28, 1880, and is therefore not yet 29 years of age. He fitted for college at the Bangor (Maine) High School, and was graduated from the University of Maine in 1901 and from the Harvard Divinity School in 1905. This was Mr. Robinson's first pastorate. His father, the Rev. P. J. Robinson (who has preached several times in the Church of Our Father) is minister of the Unitarian Church in Windsor, Vt. Mr. Robinson the younger was ordained in October, 1905, a month after he became pastor of the church in this city.

"It may be said of Alonzo H. Robinson that he has spoken in several evangelical churches in this city and that he is universally liked for his good qualities of mind and heart, as well as his earnestness and sincerity. While regretting his coming departure, Newburgh people generally will hope for a successful pastorate in the church to which he is going."

DOG SHOW

Announcement is made by the Alredale Terrier Club of New England of the second annual puppy show for members, to be held on Wednesday, June 9, in connection with the show of the Ladies' Kennel Association at Chestnut Hill. H. W. Lacy will act as judge. The classification will be as follows: Three to six months dogs, three to six months bitches, six to nine months dogs, six to nine months bitches, nine to twelve months dogs, nine to twelve months bitches. The three to six months puppies will be judged at Mr. West's place, next to the regular grounds. Entries will close May 28.

These pups to be won outright by the breeders of the winning puppies have been offered, and these must be at least three entries to a class:

Robert Jordan offers the Larchmere Cup for best three to six months dog puppy; Fisher Ames, Jr., offers the Pillgrim Cup for best three to six months bitch puppy; J. W. Strong offers the Orchard Kennel Cup for best six to nine months dog puppy; Philip French offers the Bucks Cup for the best six to nine months bitch puppy; Messrs. Read and Burgess offer the Royston Cup for best nine to twelve months dog puppy; Arthur Perrin offers the Claybrook Cup for best nine to twelve months bitch puppy; R. Curry offers $2.50 for best puppy sire by Lance Corporal Smythe.

NEWTON SUMMER SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

The Newton Summer School of Theology will be held June 14-25 at the Newton Theological Institution, Newton Centre, Mass. Professor Herbert L. Stetson of Kalamazoo College will give a course of seven lectures upon the subject "Studies in Psychology and Religion." The following is a synopsis of the course: I. Psychology in the Pulpit (two lectures). (a.) General Psychology. (b.) Social Psychology. II. Psychology of Christian Faith. III. Psychological Examination of New Testament Demoniacs. IV. The Miracles of Jesus Psychologically Considered (three lectures). V. Christian Conversion in the Light of Modern Psychology. The school last summer was a decided success, and a larger attendance and more conspicuous success is looked for this year.

IS IT IN YOUR HOME?

The one evening paper of unquestioned authority is the Boston Evening Transcript. While printing the very latest news covering every phase of the world's doings, it never enters to the sensational, and its many special departments including matters of interest to all members of the household make it the ideal family newspaper.

For nearly four score years the Transcript has stood for all that was best in Journalism, steadily increasing its constituency during that time, and to-day ranks as one of the leaders in the newspaper world.

Any of our readers who are unacquainted with the merits of the paper would do well to send for sample copies (free for the asking) and they will readily see why the Transcript has such a high reputation.

LODGES

There was an enjoyable whist party and entertainment held by St. Bernard's Lodge, 41, M. C. O. F., in Mague hall at West Newton, last Thursday evening. Over 100 tables in play. Prizes were awarded as follows: Mrs. Ryan of Wellesley, first ladies' cream set; Mrs. William Cahill, second ladies' dish; A. Desmond of Newton Centre, first gentlemen's umbrella; Mr. White, second gentlemen's cigar case. Refreshments followed the card playing. An entertainment was then given consisting of songs by the O'Callahan brothers, dancing by Miss Nellie O'Callahan and Redmond O'Callahan, vocal selections by Miss A. M. Kenna and piano selections by Miss Margaret Foley. Dancing followed. The affair was in charge of William H. Mague, Bernard D. Farrell, Miss Anna M. Kenna and Miss Mary M. McCarthy.

Do you realize that the average loss by fire in U. S. is about $500,000 a day. Right here in Massachusetts over 3000 dwellings were either destroyed or damaged during 1907, costing Insurance Companies $1,180,952. Failure to insure is gross negligence. ### BOY INJURED

Lothar Van Buskirk, a Grace church choirboy, was struck by an automobile while riding a bicycle on Washington street near Jewett, Wednesday night. The boy was thrown with such force that he received several cuts and bruises. Pedestrians took him to a doctor's office, and after his wounds were dressed he was taken to the home of his father, Mr. John I. Van Buskirk, 11 Maple circle. A policeman stopped the automobile, and the driver gave his name as Oscar Sivula, an employee of a Boston Motor concern.

SCHOOL GIRL DEAD

Bessie L. Daley, the daughter of Robert W. and Honora G. Daley of Thornton street and a member of the class of '12, Newton High School, died last Monday noon at Carney hospital, Boston, from a nervous breakdown due to overstudy. She was born in Watertown and was 16 years of age. Funeral services were held from the Church of Our Lady, Wednesday morning with requiem mass celebrated by Rev. Fr. Kelly. The burial was at Calvary cemetery, Waltham.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

A hearing on the proposed laying out of several streets at Eliot under the betterment act brought out strong opposition from two of the aldermen, Mr. H. F. Schwaar and Mr. Samuel Shaw entering strong protests.

Mr. Samuel Shaw said: "I am one of those unfortunate individuals who own some land in this district that is spoken of. If I would be assured that this improvement spoken of would sell the land I would not protest. I do not believe it will. I have placed that land in the hands of two of the largest real estate owners in Boston and three in Newton and have had two inquiries in the last ten years. Those wanted to buy the land for about 5c or 6c a foot. Unfortunately when I bought these lots I spent about $1,000 improving them. I set out trees, and put in about 100 loads of loam for the benefit of the trees, feeling that that would not only improve the locality but would, perhaps, attract purchasers to this land. I anticipated building there for myself, but unforeseen circumstances prevented that. I have been paying the taxes on that property which this honorable board has seen fit from year to year to tax. Now, all of those who have built and who have rented houses there knew the conditions when they purchased or rented, but they thought at some time the City would improve that land; but as real estate has been in this City of late, what inducement is there for the City to expend their money there. It is my misfortune that I have that land, but yet I trust that this Board will take all of the streets into consideration. I do not believe that the proposed improvement will add in value to my land or I will get any sales by that improvement. Could I be assured that I would, I would gladly pay my part, if I could get rid of the land. These are the unfortunate conditions in which I am placed and I trust this Honorable Board will look into the thing thoroughly."

In the absence of the president, who is on his honeymoon and the vice president, who is in Europe, Alderman Cabot was elected president pro tem.

Various unimportant hearings were held and many petitions presented. Orders were adopted appropriating $2250 for half payment of playground at Upper Falls, for sewer in Commonwealth avenue, for street sprinkling on Newell road and Henshaw street, naming new park at Newton Centre, "Beacon Triangle," revoking junk license of George Beck, for water mains in Dartmouth street, Foster street and Oxford road, and relative to fireworks license for July 5th.

N. H. S.

Monday, Newton played Rock Ridge for the second time this season on Clifton Field, winning easily by a score of 13-1.

Wednesday, Newton played her annual game with Dorchester on Clifton Field, Newtonville, losing, after nine straight victories, by a score of 3-1. Errors were largely responsible for Newton's defeat, a wild throw by Barry netting two runs. Hardy for Dorchester pitched a clever game, allowing only three hits. The bright feature of Newton's play was the catching and throwing of Jim Ryan.

Women's Clubs.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE MASSACHUSETTS STATE FEDERATION

The seventeenth annual meeting of the State Federation was held in Springfield on Wednesday and Thursday, May 19 and 20, the Springfield Women's Club being the hostess.

Special rates having been secured upon the railroad allowing delegates to reach Springfield on Tuesday and remain until Friday, a large number of the clubwomen availed themselves of the opportunity of enjoying the many beautiful trolley trips of the region. In spite of the fact that the sun scarcely shone during the four days, the country was at its finest as regards green fields, foliage and blossoms laden apple trees, perfuming the air. The rain kindly held off and there was no grumbling over the weather. All considered themselves thankful to have escaped the heat which was experienced at Great Barrington two years ago.

The opening session in the hall of the Central High School on Wednesday afternoon was called to order at three o'clock by the president, Miss George A. Bacon of Worcester, after a half-hour of music by the Philharmonic Orchestra. Mrs. Annie Laurie Brooks, first vice-president of the Springfield Women's Club, welcomed the guests to Springfield. She referred to the last time the Federation met in Springfield, 12 years ago, when the local club had no club-house. She said that they were all proud of Springfield and that the club husbands would be here to join in our welcome—if they dared—and she was sure that she almost saw a smile on Dea. Samuel Chapin's bronze face as she passed his pedestal in the morning. "It is not simply for self-advancement," she said; "it is not only for the joy of the moment; it is to further the uplift of humanity, the broadening of narrow lives, the bringing in of order and strength and beauty. In union there is strength."

If it be true, as has been said, that this country is governed by public opinion, and that public opinion is largely influenced, if not formed, by the women of the country, what an opportunity is ours! But we must remember that opportunity is power, and that opportunity and responsibility go hand in hand.

May each report to which we are to listen make a long step forward on the pathway to the goal. "And so we look to you you today for help and inspiration," she said, "and in the name of the Springfield Women's Club I bid you each one a most sincere and cordial welcome."

Miss Bacon in her response said that they all remembered the hospitality of Springfield 12 years ago and they were all glad to be here again. This is an ordinary year with no especially important matters to be discussed. It is a splendid opportunity to strengthen the bonds of fellowship between the different clubs of the state. She paid a compliment to Springfield for its schools, parks, civic pride and all that goes to make a city clean, progressive and wholesome. Springfield is to be congratulated upon the plans for river-front improvement and the new civic center that has lately been authorized by the city fathers. It all shows what can be accomplished in a city when the citizens work together for a common end.

After the reading of various invitations extending hospitality to the visiting clubwomen there followed the annual reports of the various officers. The Federation now comprises 244 clubs with an aggregate membership of more than 37,000. Eight new clubs have joined this year, while five old ones have withdrawn. The treasurer's report showed a substantial balance on hand both in the general treasury and in the bazaar fund.

Mrs. Sarah T. S. Leighton, General Federation Secretary, reported as follows:

Last year, the Biennial year, 44 clubs united with the General Federation.

tion. Two of these clubs have withdrawn—The Monday Club of Needham, many of whose members have become members of the large new club formed in their town; and the Current Events Club of Hyde Park. Four new clubs have this year joined the General Federation: The Round Table of Attleboro, the Hannah Dustin Club of Haverhill, the Maine Daughters of Boston, the Arlington Woman's Club. Massachusetts now has 89 clubs holding individual membership in the General Federation—a record of which we are very proud.

The rest of the afternoon was devoted to reports of special and standing committees and a brief outline of work being done by Miss Edith Reeves, holder of the fellowship of the Federation, at Radcliffe. A resume of the reports is given below.

In the evening the women gathered once more in the High School Hall when reports from the remaining committees were submitted. The hostess club was most generous in its provision of music for the enjoyment of its guests. The Philharmonic Orchestra played again at the hall and afterwards during the reception at the club-house, but best of all were the solos by Miss Julia B. Dickinson, professor of vocal music at Mount Holyoke College, all her selections being by New England composers.

A telegram of greetings came from the New Hampshire Federation then in session at Nashua. Many letters of greeting were read, including one from a director of the General Federation, who is chairman of the Tenth Biennial committee. In it—May 11, 1910, was announced as the date of the next Biennial to be held at Cincinnati. Among the guests present were Mrs. W. H. Phipps, state president of Connecticut, and Mrs. H. F. Ashton, state president of Vermont. Both were presented to the delegates and brought greetings from their federations.

The delegates then adjourned to the Springfield Women's club house for the delightful reception arranged by the hostess club. The club house, which is a little gem, was decorated with birch boughs and other green from the woods, palms and cut flowers. Mrs. Brooks, Miss Bacon, Mrs. Phipps, Mrs. Ashton and officers of the hostess club received the guests, while a large committee served them most hospitably. The occasion was unusually pleasant, giving, as it did, an opportunity for the delegates to meet one another which many otherwise would have been unable to do, since they were scattered so widely over the city.

The closing session came on Thursday morning at the Church of the Unity. During the half-hour from 9 to 9:30, Mr. Arthur H. Turner, organist of the church, gave an organ recital. Promptly at the appointed time the meeting was called to order by the president and the report of the nominating committee announced as the first business. Mrs. G. W. Pfeiffer of Hyde Park presented the following ballot which was elected almost unanimously:

President, Miss George A. Bacon, Worcester; vice-presidents, Mrs. Caroline S. Atherton, Roxbury, Mrs. Florence L. Breed, Lynn, Mrs. Marian A. Crocker, Fitchburg, Mrs. Maria D. Whitteer, Dorchester; clerk, Mrs. Effie S. Nowers, Winthrop; assistant clerk, Mrs. Daisy C. Porter, Boston; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Grace V. Hibbard, Milton; treasurer, Mrs. Katherine E. Flagg, Brockton; directors (term expires 1912), Mrs. Caroline Dennett, Arlington, Mrs. Therese Goulston, Boston, Mrs. Mary E. Howe, Waltham, Mrs. Harriette J. Macdon-

A word of praise is also due the presiding officer for the promptness of the sessions and the splendid manner in which the business was dispatched. Much time was necessarily consumed in discussion of the business, but all went away with a feeling of satisfaction, all sides had been heard and the matters had at length been settled as they should.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

Committee on Meetings

The duties of the Committee on Meetings, first appointed at the beginning of the present club year, are—to arrange for transportation, reception of speakers and guests, care of platform, and other details relating to Federation meetings.

The committee has secured special train service and reduced rates for the regular Federation meetings, and for the Conference at Reading. Details have been arranged with each hostess club through its president, who is always a member of this committee, and the railroads have co-operated most heartily for the transportation of delegates.

The luncheon is always the hardest problem with which the committee has to deal, but it will become a very simple one as the clubs learn to co-operate with the committee and help the hostess to cater to a definite, rather than an indefinite number.

If every club would assume the expenses of two delegates and authorize the treasurer to send immediately for luncheon tickets upon their appointment, the committee feels not only that the problem of entertaining would be greatly minimized, but that the clubs would find an increased interest in and profit from the Federation meetings, resulting from such a plan. Mrs. Carrie F. Wheeler, Chairman.

Press Committee

With the desire to secure increased interest in the work of the State Federation, the Press committee listed—at the beginning of the present season—the leading newspapers in each county of Massachusetts containing Women's Clubs affiliated with the Federation. To these newspapers, abstracts of addresses and programs of meetings have been sent—a few days before each open meeting of the Federation.

In accordance with the thought of the president that each working committee should present its subject in the pages of the Federation Bulletin at least once during the season—the Press committee has made all arrangements necessary for the orderly presentation of these reports. Mrs. Harriet E. Bean, Chairman.

Reciprocity Committee

The State committee has developed the past year into more of a General Directory and Bureau of Local Information, whereas in former years it has acted as a medium through which papers were borrowed and loaned to the library under its charge.

The clubs have been coming into closer touch with one another, and the reciprocal feeling of good will and readiness to assist in every way possible seems to be the basic principle upon which the organizations making up the State Federation are working. While each is endeavoring to raise its own standard, it is more than willing to lend what aid it can, and not presume to fret because "it's little."

Pure Food Committee

Intense interest has been aroused the past year relative to the working of the Pure Food Act, which went into effect Jan. 1907. Under this law 13,000 samples of food and drugs have been examined by inspectors, scattered throughout varied centers of our country, 800 prosecutions have been brought and in many instances goodly fines imposed. Dr. Wiley, Chief of Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, has been overruled in his decisions relative to use of any preservatives in food also relative to vegetables greened with sulphate of copper or with copper salts. Both these decisions were not signed by Dr. Wiley.

A very general interest has been noted the past year by clubs of your State Federation. 92 clubs have reported. 30 have definite Pure Food

under our Massachusetts heading all circulars, notes and general helps for club work, for the special benefit of club members and committees? #### Library Extension Committee

Most of the clubs throughout the state keep in touch with the libraries of their towns in various helpful ways. Two large boxes of books have been sent to the committee by several clubs for distribution. Four clubs have contributed regular traveling libraries in cases. These have been sent to North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Mississippi. A juvenile library has been sent to Georgia. The committee has also prepared a Massachusetts State Federation Reference Library. Any member of any club may borrow any book by applying to Mrs. Carrie Prince Cushman, 17 White Street, East Boston. The list of books is published in the May number of the Federation Bulletin. Presidents of clubs may obtain a copy of this list by writing to Mrs. Cushman.

Mrs. Sarah T. S. Leighton, Chairman.

Settlement Work

The Tennessee Settlement work for the summer of 1908, began June 8, in Happy Valley, with an enrollment of sixty and continued until September. The new school house was finished and school began at once. The work continued for three months, both workers visiting much in the homes and helping the people in every possible way. Three of our Happy Valley children are now at Maryville at school. The Dorchester Woman's Club has given a scholarship so that a fourth one of the children may go away to school next year. The work will open again in the Valley, July 1909. Home Club of East Boston has given a much needed bell.

Mrs. Sarah T. S. Leighton, Chairman.

Household Economics

The difficulties which confront the present day home-maker seem to be largely due to the fact that she finds herself in a transition period. Previous duties often no longer present themselves, but new ones are constantly arising. While not as much manual work may be so necessary as formerly, more brain work is certainly demanded.

The present day home-maker is realizing this change and is reaching out for a larger vocational knowledge. This desire is shown by the fact that while the call at the beginning of the season was for a speaker to arouse interest, the demand now is for practical instructors.

One hundred and fifteen clubs report that one afternoon, at least, during the season has been given to some division of home economics. One club engaged an instructor from Simmons College, and looking upon the work as philanthropic, opened the class to non-members as well as to members. Three hundred women availed themselves of this privilege. Two clubs have provided a luncheon plant for their local high schools, where hot food is served at two and three cents. Another club distributed cookery receipts among the children of a vacation school; the two prizes for best results were carried off by two boys.

The chairman of this committee, after observing the work of the year, and after visiting some dozen clubs, is strongly inclined to recommend that first year class work be limited to the study of "Food and Nutrition" which includes marketing, etc. Household Economics covers so much ground that some definite division must be chosen for study else effort may be wasted, and confused ideas the result. The chairman suggests "Food and Its Nutritive Values" because this subject occupies an important place in the public mind at present and because good instructors from several schools and colleges are available.

Mrs. Eliza J. Bates, Chairman.

Forestry Committee

One hundred and six clubs responded to the list of questions sent from this department. Many report something done in the way of work or study. The most usual accomplishment is a lecture or lectures upon one or more of the subjects, or papers by members. Several clubs have offered prizes to high school pupils for essays on forestry, or to elementary schools for collections of leaves with ability to name them. Considerable tree planting has been done, both on school Arbor Day and at other times, under direction of tree officials, and some clubs have furnished trees for plantations in street or park. School gardening is reported from many places. Little co-operation is reported with Tree Wardens and other tree officials, and the Reforestation Act of 1908, and the office of Forest Warden, appear for the most part unknown to club women. Few clubs express interest in the question of Christmas trees or mountain laurel, more in forest fires and destruction of birds. A number of clubs have joined the Massachusetts Forestry Association or American Forestry Association or both, through one or two members, thus helping the cause and obtaining the publications for use of the whole club. Perhaps the most encouraging feature of the replies is the interest shown by future work. Many clubs have just formed, or are about to form, forestry committees, while a majority of those not already active express an earnest purpose to accomplish something next year, and many are the questions asked of the Forestry Department as to the best work and the best methods.

Mrs. Mary L. Tucker, Chairman.

Committee on Education

From the reports received from the clubs it appears that the most popular speakers on educational subjects this season have been Miss Jane Brownlee and Professor Charles Zuehlke. Five clubs send reports of meetings devoted to the subject of Industrial Training, six have taken up Moral Training, and seven have considered both subjects. For a long time clubs have been supporting scholarships in colleges for girls. This year the same idea has been extended farther and we hear that they are supporting girls in Normal Schools, and are raising loan funds which can be used to assist those who are pursuing any sort of an education. The two subjects recommended for next season are Moral Training in Schools and the Relation of Home and School.

Mrs. Mary L. Sheldon, Chairman.

Civics Committee

The civics committee is divided into six departments, each directed by a chairman: Medical Inspection in Schools, Cure and Prevention of Tuberculosis, Travelling Health Library, Stamp Savings, Town and Village Improvement, Juvenile Courts. Forty-nine clubs report Medical Inspection in Schools and of these almost all are working for proper examination of nose, eye and ear. Forty-nine clubs are interested in the Cure and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Thirty-five clubs are either supporting a visiting nurse or co-operating with other societies for this purpose. The Tuberculosis Exhibit has been held by fifteen clubs, while others report clinics and classes for tuberculosis patients. Fifty clubs have established Stamp Savings Stations or are co-operating with them, thus teaching thousands of children the wisdom of saving. With the co-operation of the clubs, Massachusetts now has playgrounds. By using this same energy to save the children from lives of crime, we soon shall have taught the world how to abolish the need for children's reformatories and penal institutions. Much of our work has been suggested by organizations composed of public-spirited men and women, who have given of their time and energy to the highest advancement of the state. By co-operating with them, by creating public sentiment, by personal service and material aid, we are giving to future generations the best heritage—good citizens for a good state.

Mrs. Esther M. Andrews, Chairman.

Mrs. Esther M. Andrews, Chairman.

Miss Edith Reeves, the holder of the fellowship of the Federation at Radcliffe college, read the report of Mrs. Mary L. Kew of Dorchester, the chairman of the committee on industrial conditions of women and children.

To become an accepted authority on industrial conditions of women and children, to interpret these conditions judicially, to promote by progressive and co-ordinated legislation better conditions, social and economic, for women in industry, is the "reason for being" of the Federation's committee on industrial conditions of women and children. It is worthy of note that its club women for initiative in organizing a woman's committee on savings bank insurance, a committee on unfettering public education, and for promoting the organization of a Massachusetts child labor committee. Your committee is largely represented on these committees and the active co-operation of its representatives has been a substantial contribution toward the successful establishment of these new factors for educational, social and industrial betterment.

Miss Reeves then told of her own work in investigating conditions in the slums of Boston. She told of the work of the consumers' league and of the plans that are being made to co-operate with it the coming year. As holder of the scholarship of the Federation she has taken up two courses in economics at Radcliffe college. One of them is the economic history of the United States, and the other is methods of social reform. She then reviewed the work which she has done since last October. She showed what was the sum total of knowledge of labor legislation in this state. She spoke of a new volume to be probably known as "Massachusetts Labor Legislation, Its History and Its Administration." This work is a complete study of the history of labor legislation in this state and of the present status of the labor laws.

The two objects for which she is working are, "First, to get a hearing for facts and ideas which people might learn for themselves from existing official sources; second, to produce a scientific piece of study which shall contribute something to the knowledge of the subject." In closing she said: "We hope that the work may have something of scientific value and through an independent and unbiased estimate of conditions and systems of administration a clearer light may be thrown on the industrial conditions in one of America's greatest manufacturing centers. In accomplishing both ends the Federation and the women's educational and industrial union would be playing the part of social educators to the people of the commonwealth, a part for which it has long been distinguished."

Mrs. Louise M. Wood of Hyde Park reported for the committee on civil-service reform. She began by asking what is civil-service reform? She then quoted President Charles Eliot of Harvard, the newly elected head of the national civil-service reform association, who said in answer to this question, "Civil-service reform is part of a movement in America toward having a government administration regarded as a place of business. Public work must not be regarded as public charity, nor as play, but as a place of noble-minded business, which needs to be done with perfect honesty and more than usual ability." Mrs. Wood then showed how the local women's clubs can help on the work of improving our cities and towns morally and intellectually by supporting civil-service reform in all its branches. She said a great deal of good can be done in this way.

Mrs. Alice Parker Lesser, of Boston, reported for the legislative committee, of which she is chairman. She spoke of the bill for a national child-labor bureau, which has been pending for several years before Congress. It has not yet come to a vote. She showed that all but eight clubs in the Federation are taking an active interest in legislation. She then enumerated the various bills before the state Legislature which have been supported by the clubs. In some places the clubs are taking part in local matters, urging the adoption of better laws for the protection of children and the like. She spoke of the fact that in the most progressive towns the women's clubs are doing a great deal. She referred to the example of Springfield in the matter of a model Fourth of July celebration.

Mrs. Harriet B. Corcoran of Springfield gave the report for the art committee in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Annie L. Cox of Wakefield. She showed how the clubs could help foster and create a public love of art.

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL
SONS OF VETERANS

Dear Brothers:—The day draws near that has been set aside to debedeck the graves of the fallen soldiers of the Civil War and to honor their surviving comrades. This is a service in which every citizen, and especially those in whose veins there flows the blood of soldier-fathers should participate. Who will enter upon the obligation of such an anniversary with appreciation of its significance if not we who are sons of veterans? The day is sacred for this service to which we are summoned, not only by the G. A. R., but also and even more effectively by our love for our fathers,
many of whom have entered upon the eternal bivouac.

Will you not join us in aiding the veterans in their morning decorations,
and later in their afternoon procession? Let us show that we are proud of our heritage and worthy sons of worthy sires!

All who will take part in this observance should send their names to me at 238 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands, or report at G. A. R. hall, Newtonville, at eight o'clock on Memorial Day morning.

Fraternal yours,

MOTHERS' REST

The regular May meeting of the Mothers' Rest Association of Newton Centre was held in the parlors of the Methodist church on Thursday afternoon, May 20th, where an appreciative audience of members and friends met to hear a prospectus of the plans for the ensuing season as embodied in a few short reports from the chairmen of respective committees and to listen to a talk by Mr. Alfred B.
Kershaw of the Allen School of West
Newton and to a series of vocal selections by Miss Ernestine Harding of the Baptist church choir of Newton Centre.

Mr. Kershaw, who has had seven years' experience in connection with the work of the Country Week Society, gave an interesting account of its origin and methods and the problems with which it has to deal and showed a number of photographs of the children (taken in their country homes) whose happy faces proved the good results of the work undertaken by this broad charity. Miss Harding sang delightfully and was accompanied by Mrs. C. H. Bennett. Her selections included Blossom Land by Elliott, the Japanese Dolly, and Jerusalem by Jessie Taylor, a song of Mc-Dowell's and "In the Month of May."

BRILLIANT RECEPTION

house on Wednesday afternoon from four to six o'clock, at which Mrs. William M. Flanders of Newton Centre, presented her daughters, Miss Maudie
and Miss Marguerite Flanders, was a brilliant and charming affair. The clubhouse was attractively decorated with cut flowers and palms, a birch fog, filled with moss and orchids on the dining table, being the special subject of favorable comment. Mrs.
Flanders and her daughters received about 200 of their friends in the ladies' parlor. Mrs. Flanders was gowned in white net over white satin, elaborately trimmed with lace and carried a bouquet of orchids. Miss Maudie Flanders was in blue tulle, with white sweet peas and orchids and Miss Marguerite wore pink tulle,
with pink sweet peas and orchids.
They were assisted by Mrs. E. M.

MR. EDMANDS DEAD

Mr. A. Lawrence Edmonds, a prominent and well known resident of Newton for the past 62 years, died last evening at his home, "Woodside," on Centre street, after an illness of about four years. Mr. Edmonds was born in Boston, the eldest son of the late Hon. J. Wiley Edmonds, and was 71 years of age. In early life he was connected with Israel Lombard & Co.
in the China trade, and afterwards with Wm. Hilton & Co. and Hilton,
Weston & Co. in the wool business.
He then entered the Suffolk National Bank as president and served for many years, until failing health compelled him to retire. He has also served as a director of the New England Trust Co., the American Waltham Watch Co., and the Suffolk Savings Bank. He took a deep interest in local affairs and was a trustee of the Newton Free Library from 1882
until his death and was a trustee and member of the finance committee of the Newton hospital.

Funeral services will be held from
his late residence, 790 Centre street, Newton, Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Burial private.

NEWTON MAY FESTIVAL

At the Elliot church the annual May festival was held yesterday afternoon and evening. Owing to the rain, the games and entertainment, which had been arranged for the children on the church lawn, were held in the chapel.
Following a supper at 6 o'clock in the vestry the older members of the church enjoyed a musical and literary entertainment.

Among the entertainers were Mrs.
Andrews, Dr. Styles, Miss Bertha
Stanton, Miss Nellie Linnell, Mrs.
Johnson, Mr. Herbert Fraser and Mr.
Roy Leach, all members of the church choir, who presented a one-act play entitled "Poor Pillicoddy."

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

At the May meeting of the School committee, Wednesday evening the following resolution was adopted:

Ordered that the School committee
place on record their deep appreciation of the long and eminently efficient service of Mrs. Mary E. Sherwood, as Secretary of this Board.
Prompt, courteous, accurate, posses-sessed of unusual executive and business ability, she filled her position most satisfactorily for nearly twenty years.
In her death we feel individually, and as a board, a deep personal and professional loss.

The chairman was authorized to engage a secretary pro tem.

The superintendent was authorized to run the vacation schools for one month.

Castle Square Theatre.—The second week of "The Gelsa" begins at the Castle Square on Monday. During the past week this musical comedy has aroused no little sensation by its brightness, its humor, its music, and its scenic spectacle, and it is having as fine a production as it has ever before received in Boston. The John Craig Stock Company, with the addition of a chorus of forty expert singers, is proving again its skill, and it is safe to say that thousands will want to listen to and laugh at "The Gelsa" over and over again, just as they enjoyed "The Circus Girl" and
"The Runaway Girl" many times more than once. Its manifold attractions
give it an appeal that is irresistible.

CITY OF NEWTON

HEARING

May 24th, 1909

To the Honorable Board of Aldermen

of the City of Newton:

The Newton & Boston Street Railway Company respectfully represents that public convenience and necessity require that it be granted a relocation
of its tracks on Walnut Street, Newton Centre, between Hillside Road and the Cochituate Aqueduct, in accordance with plan herewith filed.

Your petition also requests permission to make all necessary excavated,
surface and underground alterations
in connection with said relocation of tracks.

Respectfully submitted,

NEWTON & BOSTON ST. RY. CO.

By M. C. Brush,

Vice Pres. & Gen. Mgr.

In Board of Aldermen.

May 24, 1909.

Upon the foregoing petition it is ordered by the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton that a hearing be had thereon on Monday, the 11th day of June, 1909, at 7.45 o'clock P. M., before said Board in the City Hall, in that part of said Newton called West Newton, and that notice of the time and place of such hearing be given by publication of the foregoing petition and this order thereon fourteen days at least before the day of said hearing
in the following newspaper published in said City of Newton: Newton Graphic.

By order of the Board.

I. F. KINGSBURY, Clerk.

Mr. Property Owner

Are you satisfied with the man who at present has charge of your collecting of Rents and Repairs to your property?
Did you ever stop to think that the majority of Real Estate Men make the following list of trades pay them a commission for doing your work:—
Carpenters, Painters, Plumbers, Furnace men, Paper Hangers, Gardeners, Roofers, and last but not least the Serfwhoman. All these must anty up 10%
to the Real Estate Man.

This means that your bill for every one of these men is 10% larger than
it ought to be.
I am in a position after handling my own extensive properties for the past seven or eight years to save this commission for you. I believe, as a property owner, that this commission belongs to the owner, and that the Real Estate Man taking this 10% from the men is receiving double commission for his work for which he is paid by the owner entrusting his property to his care.
Any Collecting or Care of Property entrusted to me will meet with careful consideration and the same care and attention as my own.

—An interesting program was presented at the meeting of the Young People's Society at Central church last Sunday evening. The members considered Current Events with special reference to affairs in Turkey. The society will hold a picnic at Prospect Hill, Waltham, Saturday afternoon.

—The Newtonville Woman's Guild Flower Mission makes an appeal to all residents of Newtonville for generous donations of flowers, fruits and jellies for their summer's work which commences on June first. All gifts should be sent to the Newtonville railroad station on each Tuesday and Friday mornings, before nine o'clock. Wild flowers, shrub blossoms and foliage are acceptable as well as the garden flowers.

—Mrs. Caroline F. Emmes Baugher, wife of Edmund H. Baugher, died Tuesday at her home on Highland avenue. She was 71 years of age. Services were held this morning at 10 o'clock from the house, Rev. Richard T. Loring, rector of St. John's church officiating, and the remains were taken to Providence, R. I., for the funeral and burial in Swan Point cemetery.

—The many friends of Dr. Harold O. Hunt will regret to learn of his forced declination of the unanimous selection by the trustees of Boston university as Class Valedictorian. Standing at the head of his class each year, and graduating with the highest honors ever attained, the peremptory orders of Dr. Williams that his over taxed eyes must have absolute rest, come as a severe disappointment in the closing exercises.

—Mrs. Helena E. Heywood, widow of the late Marcus T. Heywood, died Friday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Dustin Lancy on Lowell avenue of troubles incident to old age. She was in her 83d year. One daughter survives her. Funeral services were held from the home of Mrs. Lancy Sunday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. James W. Campbell, pastor of the Methodist church. The old church quartet rendered favorite selections of the deceased. The burial was later in Newton cemetery.

—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sawyer of Highland avenue have moved to Newtonville.

—Miss M. F. Wallace of California is visiting Mrs. Hosea M. Knowlton of Hillsdale avenue.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Witherbee of Berkeley street entertained at whist on Monday evening.

—Mrs. Charles D. Mix of Otis street has returned from a visit to relatives in New York.

—Mr. George T. Lincoln of Otis street sails on the 15th of June for an auto tour in Europe.

—The Misses Kate and Rosalie Carroll sailed Saturday on the Romanic for Gibraltar and Naples.

Ellis and Mrs. Anne Claflin Keyes, wife of Frederick H. Keyes, both of whom live in Newtonville. Mrs. Ellis was a member of the Newtonville Women's Guild and also of the Central Congregational church.

Funeral services were held from the chapel of Newton cemetery Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. J. T. Stocking of Central church, the deceased's pastor. The chapel was well filled with relatives and friends and there were many floral tributes. The burial was in the family lot.

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary was a very enjoyable affair. The meeting was held in the Grace church parish house, which was kindly placed at the disposal of the Auxiliary on the evening of May 19th. A large number were in attendance.

Mrs. Kenway, in the absence of Mrs. Peterson, the secretary, read the report of the year's work. The report showed that a splendid type of work had been done and great credit is due Mrs. Trowbridge, the president, and the officers and members of committees associated with her. Among other things the Auxiliary has given $300 toward the current expenses of the Association, helped in many social affairs, and placed $125 in the Savings Bank to help furnish the new building. Mrs. Butters and MacLure assisted in the opening exercises. Rev. E. M. Noyes of Newton Centre made the address of the evening, speaking of the work done by the Association and kindred organizations for the boys and young men of our city.

The officers for the new year were elected as follows:—

President, Mrs. J. E. Trowbridge; vice-presidents, Mrs. L. E. Moore, Mrs. Margaret Mulholland; secretary, Miss Florence Sumner; assistant secretary, Miss Julia Tarbox; treasurer, Miss Bertha Moore; chairman of devotion committee, Mrs. H. E. Barker; chairman of social committee, Mrs. F. W. Gans; chairman of rooms committee, Mrs. Annie Norris; chairman of visiting and flower committees, Mrs. Virginia Emery; chairman of pantry committee, Mrs. E. A. Whitney; board of managers, Mrs. C. H. Peterson, Mrs. Sidney Harwood, Mrs. C. D. Kepner, Mrs. H. G. Reid; finance committee, Mrs. H. E. Barker, Mrs. J. H. Robinson.

The Twilight League has met with a good response from men of all ages. If you should chance to pass by Cabot Park you would see, about 5 o'clock, a father and a son playing base ball on opposite teams, you would see bankers and brokers, wool merchants, clerks, and high school boys all playing the greatest American game and playing with all the enthusiasm of youth, even if some of the ability of bygone days is not always shown.

There are four teams, the Married Men, the Seniors, the Old Timers, and the Intermediates. The games are played on Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week at 5 o'clock. Any one can join a team by paying the small fee to pay the expenses of balls and bats and by taking out a $2 membership in the Association.

In the game last Tuesday between the Married Men and the Seniors the Seniors won by the score of 6 to 4. Mr. Emery made his first appearance on the diamond for the Married Men and succeeded in getting two hits off Longan, the Senior pitcher. This should encourage others to try.

The Senior team will play the Stanleys May 31st in the morning at Cabot Park.

Through the kindness of friends and the contributions of men interested in billiards at the Association a new set of billiard balls has been purchased. In the tournament the three highest men are H. Nolen, who has lost only two games and Newcomb and Norris who have lost three each. There is a possibility of a triple tie if Nolen loses one of the five remaining games he has to play.

THEATRES

Park Theatre—"The Traveling Salesman," James Forbes' worthy successor to "The Chorus Lady," is now in the second month of his Boston engagement at the Park Theatre, where capacity business has been the rule at every performance. The success of this play, the large audiences that have already seen it and the equally large audiences still clamoring for tickets are facts of common knowledge and its reception thus far has been of a kind to warrant the expectation that many weeks will pass before a successor is needed. Whatever doubt may have existed as to the lack of managerial wisdom in failing to bring Frank McIntyre, Arthur Shaw and Elsie Ferguson to fill the roles they created, has been dissipated by the success of Mark Smith, James O'Neill, Jr., Rosalind Coghlan and the other members of an exceptionally capable cast. The great charm of the play is in its crisp dialogue, the fetching slang and the sharply drawn characters. One may give hearty laughter without humiliation and what is perhaps more remarkable, the spectator can carry away pleasant memories of what they have seen and heard. There will be the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees during the entire engagement.

Tremont Theatre—"A Broken Idol," which has just terminated its long and successful engagement in Chicago, will open its Boston engagement with a special Decoration Day matinee, May 31st. "A Broken Idol" is the laughing song success by Hal Stephens, Williams and Van Alstyne. The company, headed by Otis Harlan, will be brought here in its entirety; the production down to the smallest detail is said to be typical of B. C. Whitney and to be the best effort of Gus Sohle from a spectacular standpoint. It has a consistent and interesting plot, abounds in unique and ludicrous situations, and withal has a strong touch of melodrama. There are a dozen songs in it, and every song is a popular hit. Among them are: "In Politics," "Love Makes the World Go Round," "China Doll," "Springtime," "Happy Days," and "Al-Adam."

Kelth's Theatre—Bert Leslie will be the principal attraction at Kelth's Theatre the week of May 31st. Mr. Leslie in his "Hogan" sketches, with his outlandish slang, has always been a prime favorite in vaudeville. Another popular favorite will be Stuart Barnes, the monologist. An acrobatic feature of interest will be that of the Willy Panzer Troupe, the midge acrobats who do some astounding feats. Charles and Fanny Van, who proved great favorites this week, will remain for another. Others on the bill are the Five Salvagis with their sensational dances; the Big City Four, one of the best male quartettes now on the stage; Paul Kleist; Jennings and Renfrew, the comedians; the Daleys in a rolling skating act and others.

Orpheum Theatre—Billy Clifford, fresh from his starring triumph in "The Girl At The Helm" will come to the Orpheum Theatre next week bringing with him an entire new repertoire of songs and stories. There is absolutely no better known monologist on the stage than Mr. Clifford. The European sensation, Lind? will be another pleasing number. Lind? has for some time had the theatre-going people guessing as to his or her sex. Dancing divinely and singing in a clear soprano voice it is difficult to believe that he is a man. Maude Lambert, known as the girl with the velvet voice because of the beautiful quality of her tones, is one of the most delightful personages on the stage. Coates and Grundy's Watermelon Trust has been called America's favorite colored act. Lee Kohlmar will make his debut in vaudeville, presenting "A Lesson in German." We are all familiar with Mr. Kohlmar as the original "August Poonis" in the "Music Master." Ed Latell, the unique comedian, the Kohler Trio, operatic soloists and several other big acts make up the balance of the bill.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
The Gill Insecticide Company has done work in Newton the past year and passed our inspection, being very satisfactory. We recommend them to anyone wishing tree work performed.
CHARLES I. BUCKNAM,
Forest Commissioner.

DEAR SIR:
The matter of spraying your trees and shrubs at this season of the year should vitally concern you. The Gill Insecticide Company earnestly solicits a chance to figure on your work. We guarantee by our process to rid all foliage eating insects and bark lice that our solution comes in contact with, and it is highly recommended by the State Board of Forestry.
We employ only the most experienced men and we can quote you a figure which we think will be far below any ever offered to you for this work.
You are simply having your trees insured by having them sprayed.
Estimates cheerfully furnished.

NEW BANK BUILDING

The Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co. has begun the erection of the latest handsome addition to Boston's splendid bank buildings and three Boston building records, it is claimed, are being smashed in its construction.

First, the largest single-piece steel girders ever used in building construction in Boston are being used. There are 9 of these girders, each weighing 25 tons and measuring 63 feet in length. They are 7 feet 10 inches deep in the center. The hauling of the girders across town from the South station is in itself a large-sized job. A 12-horse team is required for each girder. The management of the 12 horses and steering of the 63-foot beam through Boston's narrow and busy streets necessitates consummate driving ability and skilful piloting. An interested crowd invariably attends the journey and waits to see the gigantic steel beam hoisted into place.

The girders are swung from the ground into position with a boom derrick, and herein another building record is smashed for they are the largest and weightiest ever erected in this way. Three of the girders are then clamped and riveted together to make one girder. The three huge 75-ton girders thus formed span the banking room of the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company on the ground floor of the building. They support the weight of the nine upper floors and obviate the use of parallel rows of columns in the banking room, and an open, unobstructed public space 50x40 feet is thus made possible.

A record for cellar excavation has also been made in the new building. To make room for the additional vaults and safe deposit rooms demanded by the increasing business of the company, it was necessary to dig 50 feet below the street level. The retaining walls are made with steel I beams and concrete.

A unique feature called for in the plans of the building is a system of mirrors placed in the four corners of the safe deposit vault room. These mirrors enable the watchman standing on the stairway to see all the way round the vaults without leaving his position.

The building will be ready for occupancy Jan. 1. The Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company will move into its new quarters about March 1. The accompanying illustration gives some idea of the massive proportions and architectural beauty of the new structure, which will cover almost an entire block of land fronting on Franklin, Devonshire and Arch streets. Its total measurements being 110 by 127 feet and 10 stories high. The material will be Vermont marble.

The rapidly increasing business of the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Co. has necessitated this erection of larger quarters and the entire first floor and basement of the new building will be occupied by the bank. The upper stories will be rented for office purposes.

In every particular the new banking rooms will be modern and up to date, and will provide the best possible accommodations, both for the company and its customers.

The safe deposit vault will have a capacity of 10,000 safes, and will have every modern device known to vault engineering as a safeguard against burglary, fire or riot. In connection with the vaults there will be seventy rooms of various sizes, furnished with every convenience which modern conditions suggest, for the use of individuals, trustees and committees, special attention being paid to the needs of savings banks and other corporations. As has already been noted in these columns, the Boston Safe Deposit &

Trust Co. was one of the pioneer trust companies in this country and is equipped for the careful handling of estates as well as carrying out the other functions of a corporation of its kind.

The capital is $1,000,000, and the surplus and undivided profits $2,783,453.65, all of which has been earned. There have been paid in dividends since the company commenced business a sum amounting to $2,503,000.

An evidence of the feeling towards this company, held by those who know it, may be cited the fact that it holds an executor and trustee in its trust department over $12,500,000.

In the banking department it has deposits amounting to more than $12,000,000, and its capital of $1,000,000, its surplus and undivided profits of over $2,700,000, and its individual liability of stockholders of $1,000,000, offer a security of nearly $5,000,000 available for the protection of those who entrust their funds to its keeping.

In its bond and transfer department the company is trustee under corporate mortgages aggregating $300,000,000; it is transfer agent for twenty-nine corporations and agent to register transfers for seventeen corporations.

The officers are: Charles E. Rogers, president; James Longley, vice-president; William C. Williams, vice-president; George E. Goodspeed, treasurer; Edward E. Stevens, assistant treasurer; Henry A. Fenn, secretary, manager safe deposit department; Herbert D. Heathfield, assistant secretary; Francis J. Burrage, assistant secretary.

"Brown bread and the gospel" was considered good fare among the Puritans. Today, people want something more substantial. Stoves were formerly considered luxuries. Today a "WINCHESTER" heater with steam or hot water heat is demanded by the more progressive house owners.

Save doctors' bills by removing germs that have remained in your carpet ever since you bought it, and can only be removed by the Vacuum System, which literally sucks out all the dirt, grit, germs, moths and eggs of vermin. Using a Brush, Broom or Carpet Sweeper is only a mockery and a farce, because it scatters the dirt over a wide area TO BE REHANDLED AGAIN AND AGAIN.

Usually out of 10 FEET SQUARE of carpet that has just been "cleaned" with a broom we take as much as a QUART MEASURE FULL OF DIRT.

Saves grinding your carpets up by removing all grit. Have your rooms cleaned at least once a month by this low priced, highly efficient, indestructible dustless system.

Drop us a postal and we will gladly come and estimate on your work.

The Timbro Flexible Welt Shoe

This shoe is a genuine GOODYEAR WELT with heavy sole for street wear, made PLIABLE and perfectly Flexible by a secret process.

It combines the styles of the Goodyear with the flexibility of the Turn and is by far the most comfortable shoe ever made.

The stiffness of the GOODYEAR SHOE is the obstacle to its perfection, and the lack of style and wear of the TURN SHOE are the drawbacks to its popularity.

The Timbro Flexible Welt embodies the merits and qualities of both, and makes a shoe soft, neat, stylish, flexible and durable, and one that readily conforms to the foot and requires no breaking in.

A COMFORTABLE STREET BOOT FOR WOMEN

The ordinary shoe is rigid and holds the foot stiffly, prevents muscular action, lessens activity and in consequence impairs circulation and causes many foot troubles.

The Timbro Flexible Welt corrects these defects by allowing the joints perfect and natural freedom. This gives the proper exercise, strengthens the cords, prevents dropping arches and makes the foot strong and healthy.

The Timbro Flexible Welt restores to the foot its natural pliability and springiness, relieves soreness and tenderness, makes the tissues firm, the muscles supple, the step elastic, the carriage graceful and walking a pleasure.

We are selling agents for this shoe and recommend it to our customers. We will take great pleasure in showing you this unique shoe and demonstrating its absolute comfort, perfection and excellence.

We hope you will honor us with an early call.

HUTCHINSON-KNOWLTON.
The wedding of Miss Helen S. Knowlton, the daughter of Mrs. Hosea M. Knowlton and Mr. Maynard C. Hutchinson, son of Hon. and Mrs. George Hutchinson, both of West Newton, took place last Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at "Pawke-chatt," the summer home of the Knowlton family, at Marion, Mass. A large number went down to Marion for the ceremony, filling two special cars on the one o'clock train. The living room, where the ceremony took place was most attractively decorated with apple blossoms, the bridal couple standing under a bower of the same beautiful flowers, and white daisies were used with effect in the dining room.

The bride, who is a tall and beautiful blonde, looked charming in a white lace robe, with train, and wearing the conventional veil and orange blossoms. She carried lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern and was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Edward Knowlton. Her sister, Miss Sylvia P. Knowlton, Vassar '12, was the maid of honor and wore white over pink satin, a picture hat and carried a bouquet of roses. Another sister, Miss Abbie A. Knowlton and Miss Marianna A. Mathews of Berkeley, Cal., were the bridesmaids and wore pink chiffon over satin, with picture hats and bouquets of Killarney roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the West Newton Unitarian church. Mr. F. Rogers Thomas of West Newton was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. Benjamin A. Knowlton of West Newton, Frank W. Knowlton of Brookline, both brothers of the bride, Mr. J. Dana Thomas of West Newton and Thomas Talbot Clark of Boston.

A reception followed the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson being assisted in receiving by Mrs. H. M. Knowlton, who wore pearl gray satin, and Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, the latter wearing green satin. The bride is the second daughter of Mrs. H. M. Knowlton and graduated from Radcliffe last summer. Mr. Hutchinson, a graduate of Harvard, '08, is engaged in the wholesale shoe business with his father, and until recently has been connected with the New York office. He will now return to the Boston store and for the present with Mr. and Mrs. George Hutchinson at West Newton.

Among the Newton people present were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bullivant, the Misses Bullivant, Mr. and Mrs. Enoch C. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Meserve, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Norton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Leonard, Mrs. J. C. Jaynes, Mrs. A. C. Thomas, Mrs. H. M. Freeman, Miss Caroline Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hunting, Mrs. Chas. H. Ames, Miss Katherine Ames, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Newhall, the Misses Newhall, Mrs. George H. Talbot and Miss Talbot.

WESTON-LORING
The marriage of Mr. Thomas Weston, Jr., president of the Newton board of aldermen to Miss Elizabeth Loring, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton D. Loring, took place last Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of the bride, 120 Marlboro street, Boston. Owing to illness in the family, the wedding was attended only by relatives and a few intimate friends. The ceremony took place in the drawing room, which was decorated with apple blossoms. Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham of the Arlington street church officiated, assisted by Rev. Robert S. Loring of Iowa City, a brother of the bride. The bride was gown in white satin, embroidered with a design of orange blossoms and carried lilies of the valley. She was attended by two flower girls, Elizabeth B. Loring of Brookline, dressed in white over pink, and carrying a basket of pink sweet peas, and Elizabeth Watson of Paterson, N. J., in white over blue, and carrying a basket of forget-me-nots.

Mr. Charles S. Merrick of Springfield was the best man and Messrs. Homer Loring of Brookline, William Cushing Loring of Providence, R. I., Albert E. Kent of New York and W. A. Rollins of Boston were the ushers. Friends of the bride assisting at the ceremony were Miss Grace Weston of Newton, Miss Alice E. Leavens of Jamaica Plain, Miss Marguerite Fellows, Miss Mabel F. Melcher, Miss Margaret Loring, Miss Louise Plympton, Miss Susan Greene Johnson, Miss Edith, Miss Margaret and Miss Helen Pitkin, Miss Hope Thaxter Parks and Mrs. Joshua Loring. They wore gowns in different pastel colors.

Mr. and Mrs. Weston will reside at 15 Fountain street, West Newton, where they will be at home on October 21st and 28th.

CORRESPONDENCE.
To the Newton people and especially the former pupils whom it has been my privilege and pleasure to teach:

Now that you are examining the new high school catalogue and becoming familiar with the educational history of the teachers, I wish to ask your attention to this "codicil" to my history. After six years of unutilized service, I am dismissed from further connection with your schools, solely because, as I am informed, I am "not in harmony with the system" of the "Newton Educational Plant." This means, briefly, that after gladly co-operating in every other detail for the interests of the school, I have failed in one alone. When Dr. Spaulding made a fellow teacher of physics, (who had never even visited my classes, or showed an atom of interest in my work) the head of the science department, and the latter came in to assume charge of botany—I dared to beg that I might be allowed to plan my own work as I had always done everywhere. I acknowledged my perfect willingness to co-operate with the "head" of the department in every other detail.

For this rash act I am dismissed! I wish to add in extenuation of my deed, that it still seems to me that the years, and most of my income spent in fitting myself for my work, and the joy I have had in it here in Newton,—entitle it to a little consideration, as well as the "system of the Newton Educational Plant."

ELIZABETH E. BICKFORD.

SOCIAL EDUCATION

Author of the Human Limit

(Copyright 1909 by Edwin Chase Merrill)

When a man desires to build a house, it is safe to assume that he has formed some idea in his mind as to what he wants. He takes this idea to an architect who puts it into the form of a working model. Working plans are also furnished to guide the builder in giving proper instructions to the workmen according to certain specifications.

The idea back of the man's desire for a house is a social one. He wants a home for himself and dear ones. The home idea is three-fold in its ideal form:—the father, the mother, the child.

The builder of the home works upon a three-fold basis:—the working model, the working plan, the working force. From this absolute need has grown the architect, the contractor and the men who are associated and actually concerned in constructing the house.

As a man watches his home grow, he is becoming educated socially. If he is his own architect and builds it himself, he educates himself mentally, morally and physically.

This is a fair example of practical three-fold development.

In the wider field of human affairs, there are three great systems of social education, viz:—fiction, philosophy and religion, the working plans of which are represented by the Theatre, the University and the Church. They are the three most powerful educational institutions in the world. The underlying motives of these three great educational forces aim at the same three-fold result. They strive to teach the art of living. They are dealing with the principles of life.

That fiction appeals to the imaginative side of a man's three-fold nature needs no special emphasis. That philosophy appeals to the intellect is patent to all; but that religion has mainly to do with the creative side of man's personality is not generally accepted.

In a broad sense, the world's three teachers educate mentally, morally and physically, so far as intellectual pursuits, social functions and work are collectively concerned; but what is best for the group should be best for the individual.

Modern educators, as well as some brilliant pioneers in education like Pestalozzi, Froebel, Swedenborg and others of earlier note, agree upon the main points of ideal development in man. There is a wide divergence of opinion as to working plans, the model, or ultimate result being fairly well established. That man, himself has a right to be his own architect and builder as regards his own individuality, is given very little encouragement.

After a man is graduated from the University, he is thrown upon the world to shift for himself. He, alone, is directly responsible for his acts.

A self-educated man is also responsible for what he does. Here is where practice and theory meet upon equal ground, the arena of responsibility.

The contention is made here that University training should be made so practical, so self-active and so universal that there would be no room or need for the self-educated and self-made man. The University has thrust so far beyond his reach, and his thirst for knowledge so great, that by sheer force of necessity he has climbed the educational ladder step by step while fighting the practical affairs of life. He has learned in the greater university of Experience the art of living and the teaching of others how to live.

Under the three-fold development plan of education, the imaginative, intellectual and creative sides of human nature are provided for at every step. They are trained to act in harmony; they are trained equally and co-ordinated by the habit of co-operation.

The working plans, whether they begin with the concept, the percept or the receipt, all deal with the trinity of motive, thought and action.

By keeping these three individual forces constantly alive, the whole personality is developed and unified according to Nature's plan.

The personal results of practical education along these lines are, therefore, infinitely gratifying.

The first, and no less important result than knowledge, is good physical health, with the art of sustaining it. Beyond this, comes grace and rhythmic movement. Command of nervous energy means reserve force and executive ability, two important factors to success and happiness. Physical education is now recognized as so important that it is given equal rank with mental.

The second requisite to practical education is good moral health. The fact that good physical health and good moral health are inseparable, interdependent, and necessary to a sane intellect, helps wonderfully in the acquisition of the various branches in university training that are of practical value in life.

The third step in education from a practical standpoint is the assimilation of knowledge through its utility. The proper use of any department of knowledge is the chief agent in its acquisition.

The coming educational idea is learning by planning and doing, according to a clearly defined motive, that applies to some desired walk in life, or mode of living.

"Lives of poor men oft remind us,
Honest men won't stand a chance;
The more we work there grow behind us."

Bigger patches on our pants.
On our pants, once new and glossy,
Now are stripes of different hue;
All because subscribers linger,
And won't pay us what is due.
Then let's all be up and doing,
Send your mite, however small;
Or, when snow of winter strikes us,
We shall have no pants at all."

CHILDREN'S GARDENS.

By Mrs. C. E. Stevens

Member of Forestry Committee, Massachusetts State Federation.

"God planted a garden eastward in Eden, and there he put the man whom he had formed."

One of the greatest problems of the day is how to keep our boys and girls interested and busy when not in school. Could this problem be successfully solved, already might we see dawning for the next generation a purer and higher civic life. Parents who are indifferent to the development of the mind and character of their children, give little heed to the manner in which they spend their leisure time, but those who are striving to educate and train them to become useful men and women and good citizens, realize that provision for the proper employment of their time out of school should be made. Especially is this important when by a simple arithmetical computation we find that only about one-fifth of the child's waking hours is spent in the schoolroom.

The environment of the farm gave to the boys and girls of a generation ago, a certain kind of education that is not possible in our cities and towns today. Detractors of our present-day system of education have attributed to the little red school-house certain traits of character which really were developed by the country life on the farm. Education in the schools of today, is greatly superior to that of the little red school-house, but certain qualities of mind and heart were developed on the farm which are largely lacking in the children of the present, and which are essential to a complete and symmetrical education.

The Massachusetts Commission on Industrial Training has found that children who leave school for work early are of little value as wage-earners, because they lack that initiative and sense of responsibility that were developed amid the manifold duties of the farm home.

How best to meet this need has occupied the attention of educators for some time. The school and home garden help to solve this problem. Work in the garden takes the children off the streets in vacation time, and still gives pleasant out-of-doors occupation in which they are sure to be interested. It strengthens their powers of observation and gives practical training by eye and hand. It begets a sense of responsibility because of the care which they must give to tender, growing things. It develops honesty, since the child acquires through his own ownership a greater respect for the property rights of others. It fosters patriotism. He who beautifies and adorns his own home loves it and will defend it. "Peace bath her victories no less renowned than war," and he who defends his home and country from the evils of graft and political corruption is no less a patriot than he who shoulders a musket and marches to battle. But the crowded tenements of the cities are not so productive of that deep love of home and country as is the snug little suburban home with its yard and garden. The school and home garden, then, for the city boy will beget in his heart a love for living, growing things—a love that in later years may be strong enough to lure him from the smoky, crowded city, to make a home for himself outside her gates, where his children may partake of a sweeter, purer environment.

Whatever women's clubs are able to accomplish for school and home gardens will not be labor lost, but will be returned to them a hundredfold in their own community. If we are to teach civic righteousness, there is no better way to begin than by encouraging the children to be industrious and to beautify their own surroundings. If we desire more beautiful towns and cities, plant the love for these in the child's heart, and when he is grown, not even the lust for gold will be able to uproot it.
